Spotlight

Turning Pages, Building Community: Dark Hearts Books

This month, the Elko Area Chamber is proud to spotlight Dark Hearts Books, a locally owned independent bookstore that joined the Chamber this past Spring. Owned by Shelby & Chris Edwards, the business has been serving the community for the past year and is quickly becoming a unique gathering place for readers, book lovers, and those seeking connection within the Elko area.

Building Community Through Books

Their motivation for opening Dark Hearts Books comes from a desire to connect with the local community and provide a service that was not previously available in the area. The bookstore was created to be more than just a mobile retail space; it is a place where people can gather, explore new ideas, and build connections through a shared love of books.

A Personal Journey of Growth

One interesting fact about Dark Hearts Books is that Shelby originally built the business as a way to challenge herself personally. Having always been more reserved, opening a bookstore provided an opportunity to step outside of her comfort zone and become more involved in the community.

Looking to the future, Shelby hopes to expand the business by offering book clubs and self-help groups that encourage learning, growth, and meaningful conversation.

The Value of Chamber Membership

As business owners in Elko, Shelby & Chris appreciate the exposure and opportunities that Chamber membership provides. Through networking, events, and community connections, the Chamber helps introduce Dark Hearts Books to new customers and strengthens relationships within the local business community.

Supporting Local Through Chamber Checks

Dark Hearts Books proudly accepts Chamber Checks. By participating in the program, the bookstore helps encourage residents to shop locally and support fellow Chamber businesses.

Programs like Chamber Checks help keep dollars circulating within the community, benefiting both local businesses and the local economy.

Advice for New Business Owners

Their advice for aspiring entrepreneurs is simple: "Just do it!"

They encourage others to take the leap, trust their instincts, and pursue the ideas they are passionate about. If you believe in your vision, don't let others discourage you from giving it a chance.

Looking Ahead

In its first year of business, Dark Hearts Books has already established itself as a unique addition to the local business community. With a focus on connection, community, and personal growth, Shelby continues to build a welcoming space for readers throughout Elko.

The Elko Area Chamber is proud to have Dark Hearts Books as a member and looks forward to supporting their continued success.
