Stemming from a legendary venue widely known as “The World’s Most Famous Arena,” today MSG includes an unparalleled mix of renowned venues that span four of the nation’s largest entertainment markets. Individually, these venues are each premier showplaces, with a loyal following of fans, performers and events. Taken together, they represent an unmatched collection of venues that serve as extraordinary settings for unforgettable and defining moments. These venues are: New York’s Madison Square Garden, The Theater at Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall and Beacon Theatre; the Forum in Inglewood, California; The Chicago Theatre; and the Wang Theatre in Boston.

MSG also includes some of the most recognized brands in professional sports. With original franchises from the NBA, NHL and WNBA, MSG’s devoted and knowledgeable fans have a personal, passionate and generational relationship with its teams. These franchises are: the New York Knicks, the New York Rangers and the New York Liberty, along with two development league teams – the Westchester Knicks and the Hartford Wolf Pack. Another MSG sports property is Counter Logic Gaming, a leading North American esports organization with championship teams, including one of the original and most successful teams in the extremely popular game, League of Legends.

MSG also features a unique portfolio of entertainment brands that includes the Radio City Rockettes, the legendary New York dance company known for their rich history, unrivaled talent, precision and athleticism. This beloved group serves as the star of MSG’s Christmas Spectacular at Radio City Music Hall, which, for more than 80 years, has been a cherished holiday tradition for generations of families. MSG’s other entertainment offerings include Boston Calling Events, which produces outdoor music festivals, including New England’s premier Boston Calling Music Festival, and TAO Group, a world-class hospitality group with globally-recognized entertainment dining and nightlife brands: Tao, Marquee, Lavo, Avenue, The Stanton Social, Beauty & Essex and Vandal.

In addition to its exclusive sports and entertainment content, MSG promotes, produces and/or presents a range of other outstanding live entertainment and sports experiences in its venues. This includes a broad array of concerts, family shows and special events, perennially featuring some of the biggest names in music and entertainment. MSG also creates lasting memories for sports fans through eminent sporting events such as professional boxing, college basketball, professional bull riding, mixed martial arts, esports and tennis.

In 2006, MSG established the Garden of Dreams Foundation, to use its extraordinary assets to make dreams come true for kids facing obstacles. Since that time, working with MSG and 28 external partner organizations, including hospitals, wish organizations and community-based organizations, the Foundation has impacted more than 325,000 children and their families. Garden of Dreams conducts hundreds of unforgettable events and programs a year, including large-scale events such as the Garden of Dreams Talent Show at Radio City Music Hall and once-in-a-lifetime in-game experiences, as well as celebrations that bring the excitement of MSG to children where they live and play. Through its Giving program, the Foundation also provides significant financial resources for scholarships and tangible community projects that make a real and lasting difference in children’s lives.

James L. Dolan Executive Chairman, The Madison Square Garden Company

James L. Dolan is Executive Chairman of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), a leading sports and entertainment company renowned for its world-famous arena complex, professional sports teams, entertainment properties and historic showplaces. Mr. Dolan also serves as Executive Chairman of MSG Networks Inc., which includes two award-winning regional sports and entertainment networks.

In his role at MSG, Mr. Dolan is responsible for the Company's overall growth strategy and oversight of all of its operations. He also serves as governor to the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League on behalf of the New York Knicks and New York Rangers.

Throughout his tenure, Mr. Dolan has spearheaded a number of restoration projects to ensure the continued prominence of the Company's premier venues. Mr. Dolan was the catalyst for the restoration of the Company's cherished national landmark, Radio City Music Hall, in 1999, as well as the famed Beacon Theatre in early 2009. This was followed by the three-year, top-to-bottom transformation of the Madison Square Garden Arena, which was completed in October 2013. In January 2014, Mr. Dolan introduced a new strategy that centered on creating large-scale venues with a focus on music and entertainment – with the re-opening of the legendary Forum arena in Inglewood, California. In 2016, MSG announced an expansion of this strategy, with its plans for a brand new, state-of-the-art venue in Las Vegas. MSG's venues also include The Chicago Theatre, which was built in 1921 as one of the country's most opulent motion picture houses.

In addition to its portfolio of landmark venues, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks, Rangers and Liberty, as well as entertainment properties, including the Christmas Spectacular Starring the Radio City Rockettes. MSG has taken steps to expand its live offerings through investments in Boston Calling Events, which produces outdoor music festivals; TAO Group, a hospitality group with globally-recognized entertainment dining and nightlife brands; and Counter Logic Gaming, a leading North American esports organization. The company is also part of strategic partnerships, including Azoff MSG Entertainment and Tribeca Enterprises.

Mr. Dolan has led MSG's response to local and national tragedies. He played a principal role in organizing several extraordinary benefit concerts, including "12-12-12," which raised more than $50 million for the victims of Hurricane Sandy; "The Concert For New York City," which generated more than $35 million in aid for 9/11 victims and heroes; and "From The Big Apple to The Big Easy," which raised nearly $9 million for Hurricane Katrina relief. Mr. Dolan also supports both MSG's and MSG Networks Inc.'s ongoing commitment to the community, particularly through the Garden of Dreams Foundation, the non-profit charity that works with both companies to help children throughout the New York metropolitan area.

In addition to his oversight of MSG, Mr. Dolan also serves as Executive Chairman of MSG Networks Inc., which became a standalone media company following the 2015 spin-off of The Madison Square Garden Company. MSG Networks Inc. is comprised of MSG Network and MSG+, which together annually telecast approximately 500 live professional games, along with a comprehensive lineup of other sporting events, including college football and basketball, as well as critically-acclaimed original programming.

Mr. Dolan also served as Chief Executive Officer of Cablevision Systems Corporation from 1995 until June 2016, when the leading media and telecommunications company, which served as MSG's parent company until 2010, was sold to Altime. Prior to his role as Cablevision CEO, Mr. Dolan was chief executive officer of Rainbow Media Holdings, the former Cablevision programming subsidiary now known as AMC Networks Inc. Mr. Dolan began his career with Cablevision in the 1970s and held a variety of executive positions before overseeing Rainbow Media.

Mr. Dolan serves on the board of directors for MSG, MSG Networks Inc., and AMC Networks Inc., as well as 605, an advanced data and analytics company focused on the media and entertainment industries. He is also on the board of The Lustgarten Foundation, an organization he helped found in 1998, which today is the nation's largest private supporter of pancreatic cancer research. Since its inception, the Foundation has directed more than $125 million to research and assembled the best scientific minds with the hope that one day, a cure can be found.

President and Chief Executive Officer, The Madison Square Garden Company David O'Connor

David O'Connor is President and Chief Executive Officer of The Madison Square Garden Company (MSG), which includes renowned performance venues, entertainment properties, and professional sports teams. Mr. O'Connor is responsible for the Company's overall strategic vision, and for leading the Company's efforts to identify new initiatives that enhance MSG's existing brands and represent new opportunities for growth, including the formation of new strategic alliances and transactions.

The Company's signature assets consist of some of the nation's most dynamic and powerful sports and entertainment brands. This diverse collection of properties includes a portfolio of iconic venues: New York's Madison Square Garden, The Theater at Madison Square Garden, Radio City Music Hall and Beacon Theatre; the Forum in Inglewood, California; The Chicago Theatre; and the Wang Theatre in Boston. In addition, MSG owns and operates professional sports teams, the New York Knicks, Rangers and Liberty; and entertainment properties, including the Christmas Spectacular Starring the Radio City Rockettes; and is part of strategic partnerships – Azoff MSG Entertainment and Tribeca Enterprises.

Mr. O'Connor joined the Company in June 2015 and, as one of his first tasks, helped drive the successful spin-off of MSG from its predecessor company, now known as MSG Networks Inc. With the completion of this transaction, Mr. O'Connor laid out a plan to grow the new standalone sports and entertainment company. In addition to implementing an organizational structure that has readied the company for future growth, Mr. O'Connor has played a critical role in several new endeavors with a focus on expanding MSG's live experience offerings. These include the Company's plans to build a groundbreaking music and entertainment-focused venue in Las Vegas, as well as its investments in Boston Calling Events, which produces outdoor festivals; TAO Group, a hospitality group with globally-recognized entertainment dining and nightlife brands; and Counter Logic Gaming, a leading North American esports organization.

Prior to joining MSG, Mr. O'Connor spent more than 30 years at Creative Artists Agency (CAA), where he served as Managing Partner of the world-wide entertainment and sports agency his last 20 years. He began his career at CAA in 1983 in the mailroom and was soon promoted to agent in the Motion Picture department. In 1995, Mr. O'Connor took over day-to-day management and ownership of the agency along with his partners, helping to expand the agency's operations and services around the globe, while maintaining the company's reputation as a trusted agency.

Mr. O'Connor serves on the board of the Garden of Dreams Foundation, a non-profit organization that works closely with all areas of MSG to make dreams come true for children facing obstacles. Steve Mills President, New York Knickerbockers

Steve Mills was named president of the New York Knickerbockers on Jul. 14, 2017. He had returned to The Madison Square Garden Company on Sep. 26, 2013, and had served as general manager of the Knicks since Mar. 18, 2014.

Immediately upon his appointment as president, he charted a bold long-range course designed to restore the Knicks to elite status.

"What we do and how we proceed, even in the pressurized atmosphere of New York, must be grounded in a core philosophy and a guiding vision," says Mills. "As the organization's new president, that is my most important management role - to keep my eye on the big picture, to ensure that everything we do locks into our overall strategy."

A 30-plus-year veteran of the sports world, Mills' career has included 16 years with the National Basketball Association, where his talents led to a notable ascent from account executive to senior vice president of basketball and player development. This was followed by 10 years at

The Madison Square Garden Company, where Mills had a wide range of responsibilities that included overseeing business and basketball operations for the Knicks and Liberty, along with business operations for the Rangers and for all other sports-related activities at The Garden.

Now, in his second tenure at The Garden, he joins General Manager Scott Perry and Head Coach Jeff Hornacek as a top-level management team charged with the responsibility of bringing championship-caliber basketball back to The World's Most Famous Arena. The Knicks' commitment to youth was spearheaded with the Summer 2017 re-acquisition of Tim Hardaway Jr. and the drafting of French star Frank Ntilikina, to join the Knicks' heralded nucleus of All-Rookie selections Kristaps Porzingis and Willy Hernangomez.

"How can we build a Knicks team that possesses true unity of purpose, a group in which everyone so truly believes in one another that together we can create something unique, something special?" asks Mills. "As I said on the day we introduced Scott Perry as our new general manager, we are devoted to a bedrock principle - to restore the pride, work ethic and accountability that comes with playing in New York. Dogged defense. Crisp, unselfish ball movement. Scraping for loose balls. These will be our hallmarks.

"And our plan to become more youthful and athletic is underway with Kristaps Porzingis, the return of Tim Hardaway Jr., Willy Hernangomez, and with the debut of our first round draft pick, Frank Ntilikina, just 19."

Mills' decade-long career at The Madison Square Garden Company included his role as president of MSG Sports, during which he oversaw all business operations, including marketing and community relations, for the company's three professional sports teams and Sports Properties, which included college basketball, boxing, and track and field. Steve originally joined the Knicks as executive vice president of franchise operations in September 1999 and became president of sports teams operations for Madison Square Garden in 2001.

"This is a seductive city," says Mills. "Everybody wants to be the one to do it, to fix it all, but none of us are in it for the attention. We are not looking for celebrity. We are not fame hunters. We just want to pour ourselves into the process, one step at a time, and see the result.

"We just want to do it."

Prior to his move to The Garden, Mills played an integral role in the development of the National Basketball Association, where he held several positions with increasing responsibility, including his last role as senior vice president, basketball and player development. His responsibilities included managing the league's relationships with all domestic and international basketball organizations, including the NCAA and USA Basketball, as well as overseeing the NBA's developmental programs and player initiatives during one of the most critical periods in league history. Mills also played a key role in the creation of the Women's National Basketball Association and served on the team responsible for the negotiation of the NBA's Collective Bargaining Agreement. Mills started his career with the NBA in 1983 as an account executive in the corporate sponsorship department of NBA Properties.

Before returning to MSG, Mills most recently served as partner and CEO of Athletes & Entertainers Wealth Management Group, LLC, a company he created in 2010 that links sports and entertainment stars with investment and management leaders to create new business opportunities.

An accomplished collegiate basketball player, Mills started three seasons at guard for Hall of Fame Coach Pete Carril at Princeton University, where he helped lead the Tigers to two Ivy League first place finishes, including the league title and an NCAA berth in 1981. He also played professionally for one season in South America in 1981.

Mills earned a degree in sociology from Princeton in 1981, and has served on the Board of Trustees for the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame and the Board of Directors for USA Basketball. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Princeton Varsity Club and on the Advisory Board for Manhattan's Hospital for Special Surgery. In December 2015, Mills joined the board of Ariel Investment Trust as an independent director. Steve and his wife Beverly have two daughters.

General Manager Scott Perry

Bringing nearly two decades of NBA experience to the game's greatest stage, Scott Perry was named general manager of the New York Knickerbockers on Jul. 14, 2017.

Perry joined the Knicks after serving as executive vice president, basketball operations for the Sacramento Kings, helping to preside over that team's extensive Draft Night 2017 roster makeover. Prior to joining the Kings in April 2017, Perry enjoyed a five-year tenure with the Orlando Magic as vice president and assistant general manager (2012-13 through 2016-17). The 2017-18 campaign marks his 18th year as an NBA front office official.

"It's a very exciting, exhilarating opportunity for me to be given the chance to come to this franchise in an iconic city like New York," says Scott. "Growing up as a young man and playing a lot of basketball, the city of New York and the New York Knicks always held great prestige in my mind. To come to this environment is really a dream come true for me."

"Scott comes to us a seasoned pro and knows how to build winning programs," says Knicks president Steve Mills. "He will refine basketball operations, from developing players in the G League to assembling the right pieces on The Garden floor.

"Today's game demands nearly constant recruiting in one way or another, of college players and free agents. With Scott's breadth of experience, from his college coaching days to the front office of the Pistons, Magic and Kings, he knows how to build strong relationships, attract great athletes and transform cultures. He has a directness about him. That's the complete package."

Well-versed in roster construction and owning a championship pedigree earned with the fabled Detroit Pistons of the early 2000s, Perry is fully aware of the challenge that awaits him in New York as he embarks on building a young, athletic Knicks squad.

"I want my team to be highly competitive each and every night," says Scott, 53. "I want that team to exhibit toughness, a unity and togetherness, wanting to play together, a team that's going to defend each and every night. I want a team that will play for one another. I think basketball is the ultimate team game. It's a great game to watch when the game is played the right way, when guys are really working together and sacrificing, playing hard, giving 100 percent effort on the court. Those are the qualities I aspire to in putting this team together."

In his five years with the Magic, Perry was responsible for the day-to-day operations of the basketball operations department, player personnel matters and roster management and development, building on his reputation as a skilled communicator among players, coaches, executives and agents.

"While I will continue to draw upon my relationships around the league, Scott will spearhead conversations with other general managers," says Mills. "He'll manage the roster and decide who best fits into the overall strategy. Meantime, I will be challenging him to ensure the thought process is on the mark, with the big picture in mind. I will trust his judgment. His people skills give me full confidence he will be a perceptive recruiter and cement the Knicks as a free agent destination."

Perry's NBA career began with seven seasons (2000-01 through 2006-07) with the Detroit Pistons, first as a college scout for one season and then one year as director of college scouting. For five years (2002-03 through 2006-07), he served as Detroit's director of player personnel. During his first stint in Detroit, Scott was instrumental in building a Piston team that reached the Eastern Conference Finals six straight years (2003-2008), advanced to back-to-back NBA Finals in 2004 and 2005, and won the NBA Championship in 2004.

"So many tremendous, great memories," says Perry of his Detroit years. "To know that you were part of an organization that went to six straight Conference Finals. It's a heck of an accomplishment, being part of a World Championship team. That's the ultimate goal, that's why I got into the business, to be part of competitive athletics. I learned a ton during that journey, what works and what doesn't work.

"There's no way to replicate that team. They were a unique group of personalities that came together in a special way. I think the underlying goal and theme for that group was that they played for one another. They said, 'We're not going to be outworked, we're going to defend, we're going to do the things that winning basketball teams do.' I think that's what allowed us to eventually become champions."

In 2007-08, Perry was assistant general manager of the Seattle SuperSonics in their final season in the Northwest, and was a key member of the personnel team that drafted future All-Star and 2014 League MVP Kevin Durant with the second overall pick in the 2007 NBA Draft. Following one season in Seattle, he returned to the Pistons for four years (2008-09 through 2011-12) as vice president of basketball operations under Hall of Famer Joe Dumars, with whom he had worked in his first Detroit stint. He joined the Magic in June 2012.

Prior to joining the Pistons, Perry spent nine seasons as an assistant coach at Detroit Mercy, the University of California and the University of Michigan. As a college mentor, he coached future NBA stars Jason Kidd, Jalen Rose and Juwan Howard. He also logged three seasons (1997-98 through 1999-2000) as head coach at Eastern Kentucky University.

A Detroit native, Perry graduated from Wayne State University in 1986 with a bachelor's degree in marketing. He was a captain and all-conference player in his senior year. Recruited to play at the University of Oregon by future Knicks coaches Stu Jackson and Jim O'Brien, Scott spent his freshman year with the Ducks prior to transferring.

Scott and his wife Kim have one daughter, Chelsea (23), a 2017 Michigan graduate. His late father Lowell - a 1989 inductee into the University of Michigan Athletic Hall of Honor - was a standout end at Michigan, the first African-American NFL assistant coach of the modern era (with the 1957 Pittsburgh Steelers, after his career was shortened by injury) and later a prominent government and labor official, businessman and broadcaster.

Jeff Hornacek Head Coach

After a baptism of fire in his debut as Knicks head coach, Jeff Hornacek knows how hungry the city is for the brighter days that lay ahead. And he's ready to deliver.

"It's such an exciting place to be a part of, the Knicks and the iconic Madison Square Garden," says Jeff. "The excitement's there every time you show up. As a player and coach, that's really what you like. The difficulties that come along with it, (last year) little things turned into big things and that added a layer of difficulty. But you learn. Guys learn. And the great thing (is) that it's a new year, and we move forward."

One of the game's rising young coaching talents following a standout playing career, Hornacek was named the 28th head coach in Knickerbockers franchise history on Jun. 2, 2016. He is in his second year at the Knicks helm after leading the squad to a 31-51 (.378) mark in 2016-17.

"People know their sports here," says Hornacek, 54. "It's a big city so you're always going to find people who recognize you, seeing you walk around. It's been great. It's always, 'Good luck on the game,' or it's 'Tough loss, get the next one.' From the fans here, it's always been positive with the way they approach games, so that's been great, too."

Hornacek arrived in New York following three seasons (2013-14 through 2015-16) at the helm of the Phoenix Suns. In 2013-14, his first year in Phoenix, he guided the Suns to a 48-34 record, representing a League-high 23-win improvement over the prior season. He was runner-up to San Antonio's Gregg Popovich for the NBA's Coach of the Year award, and is one of only four individuals in League history to be named both Player and Coach of the Month over the course of their career (December 1991, December 2013), joining Larry Bird, Larry Drew and Jason Kidd.

In four years as an NBA head coach, Hornacek owns a career record of 132-163 (.447). The 2017-18 campaign marks his eighth year on an NBA coaching bench, and he looks forward to piloting a young Knicks squad and its promising new talent.

"I think the biggest thing when you're playing young guys is that they're going to have to battle against veterans who know all the little tricks," says Jeff. "Our coaching staff has a ton of experience, they're guys who have won championships. It's going to be about teaching the game, but also all the little tricks that you need to learn as a rookie or as a young player."

"But their enthusiasm is really what gets you going as a coach. When you see they've picked up on something, when they get that look in their eye of, 'Ah, I get it.' Stuff like that is what coaching is about. It's trying to get these guys to play to the best of their capability. It's tough to worry about wins and losses. We just have to try to get them to play the best they can possibly be, and the wins will come out of that."

Hornacek served as a part-time player development and shooting coach for the Utah Jazz starting with the 2007 Playoffs and then running for three seasons (2007-08 through 2009-10). When Tyrone Corbin succeeded Jerry Sloan as head coach in February 2011, Hornacek was named a Jazz assistant coach and held that post for three seasons (2010-11 through 2012-13).

Hornacek's coaching career follows an honor-laden playing tenure that spanned 14 seasons (1986-87 through 1999-2000) with three teams, over which he averaged 14.5 points, 4.9 assists and .496 shooting over 1,077 career games (910 starts). Originally drafted by the Suns in the second round (46th overall) of the 1986 NBA Draft, he spent the first six years of his career in Phoenix, earning NBA All-Star honors in 1991-92 when he averaged a career-high 20.1 points in his final Suns season.

On Jun. 17, 1992, Jeff was traded to Philadelphia as part of the blockbuster deal that landed future Hall of Famer Charles Barkley in Phoenix. After a season-and-a-half with the 76ers, he was traded to Utah in February 1994 in a deal that turned out to be a major turning point for both Jeff and the Jazz.

In seven seasons with the Jazz (1993-94 through 1999-2000), Hornacek averaged 14.4 points and teamed with future Hall of Famer John Stockton to form the backcourt that helped lead Utah to back-to-back Western Conference Championships in 1997 and 1998. With the Jazz, he won the AT&T Three-Point Shootout twice (1998 at the Garden, 2000 at Oakland). Helping to lead the Jazz to the NBA Playoffs in each of his seven years in Utah, Jeff was accorded the ultimate honor when the Jazz retired his No. 14 on Nov. 19, 2002. Jeff and Knicks assistant coach Howard Eisley were among the players honored by the Jazz at the 20th Anniversary reunion of the 1997 West Champions at the Knicks-Jazz game on Mar. 22, 2017.

One of the greatest shooters in the game's history, Hornacek ranks 16th on the all-time NBA career list with an .877 career free throw percentage, leading the League with .950 from the stripe in his final season (1999-2000). On the Jazz' all-time career lists, Jeff is the all-time franchise leader in FT percentage (.897) and three-point percentage (.428), ranking sixth in assists (1,895) and seventh in three-pointers made (439).

Hornacek played for some of the most fabled coaches in the game's history, including John MacLeod and Cotton Fitzsimmons in Phoenix, Doug Moe in Philadelphia, Sloan in Utah, and Johnny Orr in college.

"With my background, I played for Cotton Fitzsimmons, and in the pros my influences began with John MacLeod," he remembers. "We had a lot of sets. Cotton just kind of let us play. With Jerry Sloan, it was you're going to buckle down and play defense. I try to use all of that in my coaching. I know how hard it is to get to The Finals; we got there twice but could never win. You have to be able to play defense. Maybe that's the Jerry Sloan influence of, look, you've got to take pride. I joke with the players when they'll ask me, 'Well, should we go over the pick this way or that way?' And I say, 'You know what? I can tell you one way or the other, but I'll give you the Jerry Sloan line. Just do it, just get over the pick any way you can.'"

At Iowa State, Jeff evolved from a walk-on to an All-Big Eight First Team selection as a senior, leading the Cyclones to the NCAA Sweet 16 in 1986. A career 10.7 scorer in college, his number 14 was retired by Iowa State in 1991.

A native of Elmhurst, IL, Jeff was born on May 3, 1963. Jeff and his wife Stacy have three grown children, for whom he developed his trademark gesture of touching the side of his face prior to each free throw. Ryan is a graduate of Notre Dame, Tyler is a graduate of the University of Southern California, and Abby is also a USC graduate and currently an on-air personality at Chicago-based Stadium digital sports network.

Kurt Rambis Associate Head Coach

Kurt Rambis earned a place in NBA history as a central figure in one of the greatest success stories in League annals, one that played out thousands of miles removed from Broadway. But now, the senior member of the Knickerbockers' coaching staff has become a fixture in the Big Apple.

"Any time you move to a new city, a new environment, it's an adjustment," says Kurt. "But it didn't take me long to get adjusted and adapted to New York life. I like it here. Obviously, there's tremendous seasonal changes that we don't get out West, but the people have all been great. Restaurants and shopping, I like it here."

Long established as one of the game's veteran mentors, Rambis is in his fourth season as the first associate head coach in Knicks franchise history. He joined the Knicks - his first NBA team nearly four decades ago - on Jul. 7, 2014. Kurt guided the Knicks to a 9-19 mark over the second half of the 2015-16 season, following his appointment as interim head coach on Feb. 8, 2016.

Celebrating his 20th season as an NBA coach, Rambis was a fixture with the Los Angeles Lakers during both the Showtime era of the 1980s and the championship years of the early 2000s. Kurt owns a total of eight NBA Championship rings, all as a Laker (four as a player, four as a coach/executive).

"All of our coaches have many years of experience. Kurt's been around basketball for 40 years," says head coach Jeff Hornacek, who played alongside Rambis with the Phoenix Suns in the early 1990s. "Offensively and defensively, he's got great ideas. He's a big guy who lends great knowledge to our bigger players, like KP and Willy Hernangomez, who will definitely benefit from his teachings as a big man. Sometimes those of us who were guards can tell them something we've seen, but it's different when they hear it from another big guy. So Kurt lends that."

Rambis recognizes the challenges of coaching a team such as the 2017-18 Knicks, a young squad with a multitude of new faces.

"Teams that have had their players together for several years start at a much higher level of basketball growth than we do," says Kurt, 59. "We have to start over again to make sure everybody's on the same page offensively and how we want to execute, how we want to run and play, and the same thing defensively. You've got young guys learning about NBA life, with the travel and the fatigue, how to eat and how to manage themselves. All that takes time, it's a growth process for everybody. Hopefully we can do all that sooner rather than later, but the reality is that it takes time."

Rambis logged a total of 14 seasons as a Lakers assistant coach: from 1994-95 through 1998-99, from 2001-02 through 2008-09, and again in 2013-14. He also served as Lakers head coach for the second half of the 1998-99 season (winning his first nine games and leading the Forum Blue and Gold to a 24-13 mark and a trip to the Western Conference Semis), as advisor to the president in 1999-2000 and as assistant general manager in 2000-01. During his coaching/executive career with the Lakers, the team won four championships under Head Coach Phil Jackson (2000, 2001, 2002, 2009).

In addition to his long-standing Laker tenure, Rambis also served for two seasons (2009-10 through 2010-11) as head coach of the Minnesota Timberwolves. Including his tenure as Knicks interim head coach in 2015-16, he owns an overall NBA head coaching mark of 65-164 (.284).

A player who epitomized the blue collar work ethic, Rambis had a 14-year NBA career (1981-82 through 1994-95) over which he averaged 5.2 points and 5.6 rebounds over 880 career games. He spent the bulk of his playing career with the Lakers, emerging as a Forum fan favorite and a key member of four NBA Championship teams (1982, 1985, 1987, 1988). He ranks fourth on the all-time NBA Playoff list with a .574 career post-season field goal percentage (minimum 150 FGM), and fifth on the all-time Lakers list in career FG pct. (.550). Kurt's final season as a player was 1994-95, when he began the year as a special assistant coach and wound up appearing in 26 games in an emergency role as the Lakers were hit with the wave of injuries.

During his NBA career, Rambis has played or coached under some of the greatest figures in the game's history, including Jackson, Pat Riley, Del Harris, Dick Harter, Cotton Fitzsimmons, Paul Westphal and - in his brief time in New York - Red Holzman.

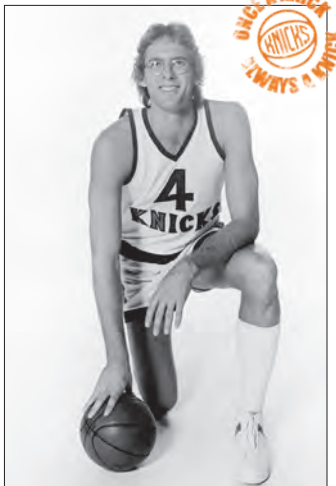

Rambis' NBA journey began when the Knicks selected him in the third round (58th overall) of the 1980 NBA Draft. Although he came to training camp and later returned to the Knicks via a 10-day contract in January 1981, he never appeared in a regular season game for New York, instead playing professionally in Greece during the 1980-81 season.

"I had an opportunity in [1980] training camp to play overseas in Greece," remembers Kurt. "I went down the Knicks roster. It's an 11-man roster at that time, and I'm counting up 13 guaranteed contracts and I'm not one of them. So I go and talk to Red before the morning practice session, and I explained to him that I had this opportunity to go overseas and play in Greece...Red said, 'No, no, no. You're doing a great job. We love everything you're doing.' He was a class act, very much so."

"So I come back for the evening session thinking everything's going to be status quo. Red pulls me into his little office and says, 'Kurt, we've decided to let you take advantage of that other opportunity.' And the funny part of the story is that he said, 'But if you don't mind, can you stick around for the evening session and practice?' I said yeah, I had nothing else to do."

Born on Feb. 25, 1958 in Terre Haute, IN, Rambis earned a B.S. degree in psychology from Santa Clara, where he became the school's all-time leading scorer (1,736 points, since broken). In addition to his playing and coaching career, Kurt has served as a hoop analyst for ESPN, Fox Sports West and, in 2012-13, for the newly-formed Time Warner Cable SportsNet. In 2017, he was part of the contingent of coaches and players who participated in the NBA's Basketball Without Borders Israel program.

Kurt and his wife Linda make their home in Manhattan Beach, CA, and have three adult children: Jesse, Jordan and Ali.

Assistant Coach Howard Easley

The professionalism and unflappable demeanor that marked Howard Easley's distinguished playing career are now emerging as the trademarks of his impressive coaching resume.

"I'm looking to try to build on some of the things we started last year," says Easley, who returned to his former team when he rejoined the Knickerbockers as an assistant coach on Aug. 19, 2016. "We basically have a new team with some of the personnel being different. Just to be with these guys and have an opportunity to work with them. Every year brings in a new team, so I'm very hopeful and really looking forward that we can try to get off to a good start this year."

Easley is in his second season with the Knicks, and in his fifth season overall as an NBA coach. He joined the Knicks following two seasons as an assistant coach for the Washington Wizards under Randy Wittman.

"Howard's been around, he knows the League," says head coach Jeff Hornacek. "Howard is a guy who can really relate to having to execute plays on both sides of the ball. I played with him in Utah, and he controlled the offense. His calmness kind of lends itself to our players. Sometimes we get on a player, but Howard has that calm voice that ends up being able to make his point in a different way. He's very knowledgeable about the game and he's been on some great teams. He's seen it all."

Prior to joining the Wizards in 2014-15, Howard served three seasons (2010-11 through 2012-13) as player development assistant for the Los Angeles Clippers, then was promoted by the Clippers to assistant player skills coach in 2013-14. An active player as recently as 2006, he has adapted seamlessly to his new career.

"As a coach, you have to look at the game from a different lens as opposed to playing, when mostly you're thinking yourself and about your game," says Easley, 44. "As a coach, you have to look at the whole team. As far as the individuals on the team, you have to gage and monitor their development and their personal feelings, so you're more concentrated on the whole as opposed to just one guy."

Originally drafted by Minnesota in the second round (30th overall) of the 1994 NBA Draft, Howard played 12 NBA seasons with eight teams, averaging 6.5 points and 3.5 assists over 786 games. He went a career 516-1,474 (.350) from three-point range with two 100+ home run seasons. One of the League's most durable performers, Easley played the entire 82-game schedule five times, and played in 443 consecutive games from Dec. 7, 1995 through the end of the 2000-01 season. During his career, he played for the likes of Jerry Sloan, Don Nelson, Jeff Van Gundy, Don Chaney, Lenny Wilkens, Mike D'Antoni, George Karl and Mike Dunleavy Sr. He also played in the CBA in 1995-96.

Easley played the bulk of his career (435 games) with the Utah Jazz, where he was a teammate of Head Coach Jeff Hornacek on the Jazz' back-to-back Western Conference Championship teams of 1996-97 and 1997-98. He and Hornacek were among the players honored by the Jazz at the 20th Anniversary reunion of the 1997 West Champions at the Knicks-Jazz game on Mar. 22, 2017.

Following five years in Utah, Easley played three seasons as a Knick (2001-02 through 2003-04), averaging 7.4 points in 154 career games (99 starts) in orange and blue. He averaged a career-high 9.1 points as a Knick in 2002-03 (fourth-best on the team), scoring a career-high 30 points at Memphis on Jan. 31, 2003.

Howard was acquired by the Knicks from Dallas on Aug. 10, 2001 in a three-way deal with Houston that also involved Glen Rice, Muggsy Bogues and Shandon Anderson. After the Knicks failed to make the post-season in 2002 and 2003, he was traded to Phoenix as part of the Jan. 5, 2004 megadeal that brought Stephon Marbury to New York.

"It was great; you had the opportunity to play on the biggest stage," remembers Howard of his Knicks playing career. "Unfortunately, I feel like we were never able to get our whole team on the floor. We had setbacks, injury-wise, that hurt us and prevented us from reaching our potential. I think we had a pretty talented team, a cohesive team that could have done well. It just didn't work out because of the setbacks we had."

Easley averaged 12.9 points in a standout, four-year career at Boston College, earning All-Big East Second Team honors as a junior and senior. He graduated from Boston College with a degree in communications.

Born on Dec. 4, 1972 in Detroit, Easley was the Jazz' nominee for the NBA Sportsmanship Award in both 1997-98 and 1998-99. Howard and his wife Tiyyesh have two children, Kennedy (16) and Howard Jr. (13).

Corey Gaines Assistant Coach

As player and coach, Corey Gaines knows that special obligation, that added incentive, that comes with performing on the game's greatest stage.

"I'm going to sum it up in a quick quote, and I've heard it many times," he says with his trademark enthusiasm. "Pressure is a privilege. It's a privilege to have pressure on you. I think it means that if you have that privilege to have that pressure on you, and you're in a good spot, then you do the best you can with it. Some people never get that pressure. You think of The Garden, and New York, and the fact that we haven't won in a while, and the way the city wants us to win...that's why I say that pressure is a privilege."

In the latest chapter in a basketball life that has literally taken him around the world and back, Corey is in his second season as a Knicks assistant coach, his eighth year overall as an NBA coach.

Gaines rejoined the Knickerbockers as an assistant coach on Aug. 1, 2016. He arrived in the Big Apple following six years on the staff of the Phoenix Suns. After five years (2010-11 through 2014-15) as the Suns' player development coach, he was promoted to assistant coach in 2015-16. Gaines worked alongside Knicks mentor Jeff Hornacek in his last three seasons with the Suns.

"Corey's a relentless worker," says Hornacek. "He loves to be out there with the guys, taking them through drills. I think the thing with Corey that he can relate to our guys is that he played with multiple teams in different roles. Not everyone can be a starter, not everybody can be the guy who shoots the ball all the time. You need guys who can play their role, whether that's coming in for five minutes here or there to bring energy, or cheer from the bench. Corey's been through all that. So when he talks to guys about, 'Hey, we need this or that...'; they're not going, 'Yeah, what do you know?' He's lived it, he's been through it, he understands it. So that's a great thing, and another dynamic that we can mix into our coaching staff."

"As a coach, you should always bring enthusiasm and energy, regardless," adds Gaines, 52. "Now, maybe there's a little more teaching both on and off the court to get the culture the way that you want it to be. To where you see that, when anybody writes about the team, you'll hear the same thing each time. You'll hear that they're playing hard, that the energy level is high. We have to make sure that's something that comes across automatically, that it's a given. From there, you just keep on building."

Gaines served eight seasons (2006 through 2013) with the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury and helped lead the team to two WNBA Championships. After two years (2006 and 2007) as an assistant coach under Paul Westhead (for whom he had played in college and the NBA), Corey compiled a 90-101 (.471) mark as Mercury head coach from 2008 through 2013. An assistant coach on the 2007 WNBA Championship team, he piloted the Mercury to the 2009 League title with a 23-11 mark keyed by a regular season and Finals MVP performance by Diana Taurasi. The winningest head coach in Mercury franchise history (90), Gaines served in the dual role of Mercury head coach/general manager for two seasons (2012-13). Corey's coaching career began in 2003 with the Long Beach Jam of the minor league ABA, as both a player-coach and assistant coach under Westhead.

"One thing I have learned in basketball, which I learned at an early time because of Paul Westhead and Mike D'Antoni, is that basketball is always evolving," says Gaines. "You have to evolve with it. I'm not saying you should lose what you did in the past, but you just add to it, and it evolves. Like everything else evolves in life."

Drafted by Seattle in the third round (65th overall) of the 1988 NBA Draft, Gaines played five NBA seasons with four teams, posting 3.1 points over 80 career games. His professional playing career spanned from 1988 through 2004, and included stops with the CBA and ABA along with overseas stints in Italy, Israel and Japan. In addition to Westhead, he also numbered the likes of Pat Riley and Willis Reed among his head coaches.

Corey was a member of the Knicks' fabled 1994 Eastern Conference Championship team, signing as a free agent on Dec. 19, 1993, in the wake of Doc Rivers' season-ending knee injury. In his lone Knicks season, he averaged 1.8 points over 4.3 minutes in 18 games off the bench, then appeared in four post-season games (his only career NBA Playoff action) during the team's unforgettable Playoff run that fell one game short of the ultimate goal.

Gaines averaged 3.9 points in a four-year college career at UCLA (three years) and Loyola Marymount (one year). He scored a career-high 8.7 points in 1987-88 as a senior at Loyola Marymount, playing in Westhead's famed up-tempo offense alongside the late Hank Gathers and future Knick Bo Kimble.

Born on Jun. 1, 1965 in Los Angeles, Corey is one of a handful of NBA players of Japanese descent (on his mother's side). In addition to his Knicks duties, he serves as a consultant to the Japanese Women's National Team, which won the 2017 FIBA Asia Cup in August. Corey became a grandfather on Jul. 5, 2016 when his daughter Megan gave birth to his grandson Kenzo.

Assistant Coach Jerry Sichting

As one of the NBA's most respected veteran coaches, Jerry Sichting brought a championship pedigree and a distinguished resume to New York when he joined the Knickerbockers as an assistant coach on Jul. 20, 2016.

Currently in his second season with the Knicks, Sichting came to New York after having served three years (2013-14 through 2015-16) as an assistant coach for the Phoenix Suns.

"The thing that I love about being here is all the interest," says Sichting, 60. "The market is huge, obviously, and there are so many people that pay attention to the Knicks. When you're in one of the bigger markets, I think it should motivate people to do their very best and really try to put the best product you can out on the floor. There's a lot of passion here for basketball, there always has been and there always will be. You really want to do your best there because this is a huge place where people are always paying attention."

The 2017-18 season marks Jerry's 19th year as an NBA assistant coach. New York is the latest stop on his long and varied career as a coach, player - during which he earned a championship ring with the fabled 1986 Celtics - and in the front office. His arrival in New York reunited him with Head Coach Jeff Hornacek, with whom he also worked alongside in Phoenix.

"All of our coaches were guys who played hard and played tough, scrapped and clawed and did all that stuff to help their teams win," says Hornacek. "Jerry coaches the same way. He's very knowledgeable on both sides of the ball. His focus will be on the offensive side, I had him doing that with me in Phoenix, too. The experiences he's had, playing with the likes of Larry Bird and Dennis Johnson. Dennis and Jerry were both point guards, so Jerry can really focus on a guy like Frank (Ntilikina) and the young guys to help teach them. What do you see, what do you look for when you come down the court? Again, with the knowledge of experienced coaches and what they went through; Jerry can definitely do that with our young point guards."

"The younger players you have, the more teaching there is," adds Sichting. "You like to have some veterans who will help lead the way and do a lot of whispering in the guys' ears and give them little secrets and such. But as a coach, you know that you really have to pay attention to detail when you have a young team. When you have a veteran team that's been together for three or four years, you have a lot of continuity and you can skip a lot of things early on. But when you have a lot of young players who haven't been in your organization, there's a lot of teaching to do. You have to be very positive so they don't get down."

Sichting's NBA coaching career began with a 10-year stint (1995-96 through 2004-05) as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves under the late Flip Saunders. He returned to the Minnesota bench for an additional two years (2007-08 and 2008-09) under Randy Wittman and Kevin McHale. For eight years in Minnesota (1996-97 through 2003-04), he served as the Wolves' director of scouting and player development in addition to his coaching duties, and was the Wolves' director of pro personnel in 2009-10. Jerry was also an assistant coach for Golden State in 2010-11 and Washington in 2012-13.

In 2006-07, Jerry served as an assistant coach under Tom Crean at Marquette University. In 2011-12, he left the NBA temporarily to take the head coaching reins at his alma mater, Martinsville (IN) HS. Sichting's post-playing hoop career began with four years (1991-92 through 1994-95) as radio color analyst for the Boston Celtics alongside Glenn Ordway.

Jerry's 10-year NBA playing career as a point guard (1980-81 through 1989-90) was marked by his hard-nosed, blue collar style of play, as he averaged 6.9 points and 3.3 assists over 598 games with five teams. Sichting played his first five NBA seasons with Indiana, scoring a career-high 11.5 points for the Pacers in 1983-84. He then played three seasons in Boston, posting 6.5 points over the full 82 games as a key member of the Celtics' 1986 NBA Championship squad, named one of the 10 Greatest Teams in NBA History during the League's 50th Anniversary celebration in 1996-97.

Sichting averaged 9.9 points over four years at Purdue University, and captained the 1978-79 Boilermaker squad that won the Big Ten Championship. He was originally drafted by Golden State in the fourth round (82nd overall) of the 1979 NBA Draft, playing one season in the CBA prior to starting his NBA career. Jerry is enshrined in both the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame (2002) and the Purdue Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame (2012).

A native of a Martinsville, IN, Sichting (pronounced CEASE-sting) and his wife Joni have four grown children: Jared, Jason, Jordan and Jenna. Jared played on Marquette's 2003 NCAA Final Four team. Jerry and Joni also have two grandchildren; Jason's daughter Lexi and son Warren.

Jerry was born on Nov. 29, 1956, sharing a birthday with Hall of Fame sportscasters Vin Scully (1927) and the late Bob Wolff (1920).

Allan Houston

General Manager/Westchester Knicks

Firmly established in his post-playing career, Allan Houston is currently in his 10th season as a member of the Knicks' front office, currently holding the title of general manager of the Westchester Knicks since the team's inception, overseeing all operations of New York's G League affiliate. He officially joined the Knicks front office on Nov. 7, 2008, first as assistant to the president and then assistant general manager.

Houston takes particular pride in the Westchester Knicks, New York's owned-and-operated affiliate which played its inaugural season in 2014-15 in nearby White Plains, providing ready access to the Knicks of the future for both team executives and fans.

"There were a lot of day-to-day things - operations, teaching and training experiences - that took place right in our own facility, with players that our coaches and staff are connecting with each day," says Houston about the Westchester Knicks. "That made it a better experience. I think the biggest factor still goes back to the system, back to the synergy with which the staff are implementing a certain way to play, a certain mindset that leads to winning. When you implement those things from the ground up, from Day One, your development system follows suit and it allows for much more synergy with what you're teaching every player, especially your younger players who are still learning how they're going to contribute."

A two-time NBA All-Star (in 2000 and 2001), Houston's front office career comes on the heels of a stellar 12-year playing tenure over which he averaged 17.3 points, including two 20-plus scoring seasons with the Knicks.

After three years in Detroit, Allan spent nine standout seasons (1996-97 through 2004-05) with the Knicks. He is fourth on the all-time Knicks career scoring list with 11,165 points, trailing only Hall of Famers Patrick Ewing (23,665), Walt Frazier (14,617) and Willis Reed (12,183). Houston is also second among all-time Knicks in three-point field goals (921, to John Starks' 982), third in free throw percentage (.872), and sixth in minutes (21,724).

A key member of the Knicks' 1999 Eastern Conference Championship team, Allan authored perhaps the single most-famous shot in franchise history, his unforgettable running one-hander with :00.8 left to give New York a series-clinching 78-77 win in Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami (May 16, 1999). Houston scored a career-high 53 points at Los Angeles against the Lakers on Feb. 16, 2003.

Allan announced his retirement from playing on Oct. 17, 2005, although he attempted comebacks (both injury-shortened) during training camp in 2007 and 2008. In 2011, he was honored as a Knicks Legend for the period from 2000-2010, and saw his No. 20 retired by the University of Tennessee. Allan was a key member of the gold medal-winning U.S. squad at the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney.

Houston's longstanding community efforts earned him recognition for six straight years (2000 through 2005) as one of The Sporting News' "Good Guys in Sports." He currently oversees the Allan Houston Legacy Foundation, which was founded in 2001 and has served thousands of families nationwide through original programs in fatherhood and entrepreneurship. The programs include the annual "Father Knows Best" Basketball Retreat, strategic partnerships, coaching clinics, fatherhood and family programs, the FISLL (Faith, Integrity, Sacrifice, Leadership and Legacy) education curriculum, and the Allan Houston Business Education and Development Program. Allan, who is heavily involved in the Garden of Dreams Foundation, was honored by the New York Press Photographers Association with its 1999 "Good Guy" award and by the Obama Administration with the President's Council on Service and Engagement Award in 2011. Houston made his directorial debut in the 2015 documentary "Legacy of My Father", which explores celebrity fatherhood and co-stars Clippers Coach Doc Rivers and film director Ron Howard.

"One thing I learned from my parents is that whatever you do, you have to have a vision and be humble, and treat everything with excellence," says Allan of his far-reaching career. "I just want to be the best I can at whatever I'm doing, and they always taught me to be a better person, more than anything. Life is built on relationships and dealing with people. One thing we as coaches talk about is that players who are listeners and are teachable and coachable, will always progress. Being a coach's son, I've always tried to take that approach; that sometimes you've just got to be quiet and watch and learn. I've been very, very blessed."

Born on Apr. 20, 1971 in Louisville, Allan and his wife Tamara are proud parents of seven children: daughter Remie (17; born on Jun. 12, 1999, one day after Allan's 32-point heroics in NY's Eastern Conference-clinching Game Six win over Indiana), sons Allan III (15) and Asher (4), and daughters Rowan (12), Jade (9), Jodi Jean (8) and Truth Grace (6). A graduate of the University of Tennessee (BA, African-American Studies), Allan played collegiately for his father Wade, then the Vols' head coach. Allan's father and mother, Wade and Alice, are partners in Louisville-based HJI Inc., a family-based transportation and logistics company.

Westchester Knicks

The Westchester Knicks are the NBA G League affiliate of the New York Knicks. The NBA G League is the NBA's official minor league, preparing players, coaches, officials, trainers, and front-office staff for the NBA while acting as the league's research and development laboratory.

The Westchester Knicks were founded in March 2014, and they tipped off their inaugural season that November. In doing so, they became the 18th franchise of what was then the NBA's Development League, as well as Westchester County's first-ever professional sports franchise. A name-the-team contest saw them adopt the Knickerbocker moniker of their NBA affiliate, as well as the classic orange, blue, and white color scheme that has become synonymous with New York basketball. In November 2016, Westchester revealed its newest teammate, a mascot name Hudson. Donning #914, Westchester County's area code, Hudson enhances the game experience through fan interactions, swift dance moves, and his ability to drain backwards half-court shots.

Affectionately nicknamed the 'Dub Knicks,' the team plays all 24 regular-season home games at the Westchester County Center in White Plains, only ten minutes from the Knicks Practice Facility in Greenburgh. The regular season runs November through March, with playoffs culminating in April. During games, fans can expect a fun, family-friendly environment, highlighted by dancers, entertainment squads, and off-the-court fun. They can also expect to see some of basketball's rising stars in high-level competition, looking to make an impact at the next level – the NBA.

The 2017-18 Westchester Knicks will be led once again by Mike Miller, who heads into his third season as the head coach. The team welcomes Craig Robinson, the newly appointed vice president of player development and G League operations, to the Knicks' leadership team this season while New York Knicks Legend Allan Houston returns for his fourth season as the Westchester Knicks' general manager. Under Houston's leadership, the team has had four players receive an NBA Call-Up (Langston Galloway, New York Knicks; Jimmer Fredette, New Orleans Pelicans and New York Knicks; Thanasis Antetokounmpo, New York Knicks; Chasson Randle, Philadelphia 76ers and New York Knicks).

"Whatever happens, we'll coach 'em to the best of our abilities. The veteran guys lend you a calmness, a knowledge of the game. The young guys add that enthusiasm. We have to get the right mix of those guys so that both sides can help each other. Attendance Notes

Knicks sold out 40 of their 41 regular season home dates in 2016-17...Only non-sellout came on Mar. 14 vs. Indiana (18,261), in the wake of Winter Storm Stella. That ended a streak of 269 consecutive home sellouts (regular season + Playoffs), and was the first non-sellout at the Garden (regular season or Playoffs) since Dec. 12, 2010 vs. Denver (19,387)... At the time it ended, Knicks' streak of 269 consecutive home sellouts was the fifth-longest active sellout streak in the NBA (Dallas, Miami, Chicago, Oklahoma City)...

On Dec. 20 vs. Indiana, Knicks reached the 40 million mark in all-time regular season attendance at MSG...On Dec. 22 vs. Orlando, Knicks played their 2,500th all-time regular season home game at MSG (combined Gardens III and IV).

Knicks ranked fifth in the NBA in total and average home attendance (41 dates, 810,741 total, 19,774 average, 40 sellouts) for the 2016-17 regular season...Knicks averaged better than 19,000+ in home attendance for the 23rd time in the last 25 seasons.

Youngest/Oldest Players

In 2004 and 2005, Trevor Ariza and Jackie Butler surpassed Carl Braun as the youngest man to have ever worn the orange and blue. Braun signed a baseball contract after his sophomore year at Colgate and forfeited his amateur status across the board in all sports. The Knicks signed him in the summer of '47, two years before his class graduated and he made his pro basketball debut on Nov. 13, 1947 against Washington.

The oldest player to appear in a game for the Knicks was Herb Williams, who was 41 years, four months and nine days when he made his final appearance in Game 5 of the 1999 NBA Finals against San Antonio on Jun. 25, 1999 to register one minute played. His last regular season appearance was on May 2, 1999 at Indiana at 41 years, two months and 16 days old.

Dick McGuire N.Y. Knickerbocker Legacy Award

In 2009, the New York Knicks created a special annual honor to be given to the individual who exudes the qualities of what it means to be a Knickerbocker: Pride, Tradition & Class. No one in the franchise's history exemplified this more than Dick McGuire, a man associated with the Knicks for over 53 years. At the first ceremony on Mar. 23, 2009, it was formally announced at center court that the award would be forever known as the "Dick McGuire New York Knickerbocker Legacy Award."

New York Knickerbockers

1973 NBA Champions

Knicks had the knack

What makes the New York Knicks so special in professional sports is they have polarized seven different playing styles into one.

They look for the open man, play the best switching defense in basketball and always have something extra. There were great individual efforts, but it was the team philosophy that was the key in the Knicks rise to their second National Basketball Association crown in four years.

Captain Willis Reed, the most valuable player of the playoffs, was instrumental in the four straight wins over the Los Angeles Lakers in the five game championship series. Dave DeBusschere pulled out two victories with clutch shooting. Earl Monroe was the hero of the 4-1 regional win over the Baltimore Bullets. Walt Frazier was the dominating force against the Boston Celtics; and super-sub Phil Jackson ignited many second half rallies in all the games.

"I think what makes this club the best is that we have seven players that take responsibility for what goes on while we play," Bill Bradley said. "It's tough to stop a club when it has more than one or two players to rely on. We just have too many players with the same winning attitude to be stopped."

Welcome to the 2017-18 Knickerbockers season, the 50th anniversary of the team's move into the current Madison Square Garden. Here are a few guidelines which we hope will assist you in your coverage this season:

Credentials: Three media credentials are honored for admission to the Garden: 1) Knicks 2017-18 season working media passes; 2) Knicks daily passes (good for that specific game only), and 3) 2017-18 NBA identification card. Knicks and/or NBA season working media passes must include the headshot of the bearer. Holders of daily passes may be asked to submit a valid government-issued photo ID. NO OTHER CREDENTIALS WILL BE HONORED.

Application for season or game credentials may be made by emailing knicks.credentials@msg.com and must be submitted by your outlet's editor. Requests for single game credentials must be made by e-mail to the Knicks' office at least 48 hours prior to game time. Day-of-game requests will likely not be honored. When applying for the first time, requests from magazines and weekly newspapers, websites, radio and TV stations must be made by an editor and must include copies of the publication and web analytics (if applicable). Applying for credentials does not guarantee confirmation. When in the Garden, media members must wear their credentials in clear sight at all times. All credentials are non-transferable. Please adhere to the above to avoid embarrassing situations for both yourself and for us.

Coaches Pre and Post-Game: Knicks Head Coach Jeff Hornacek will conduct his pre and post-game media sessions in the Press Conference Room, located down the hall from the visitors' lockerroom, on the fifth floor. A multi-box/amplification system will be set up. The pregame session will take place 105 minutes prior to tip-off (for example, 5:45 p.m. for a 7:30 game). During post-game coach's media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch.

Game-Day Interviews: Participating radio and TV stations/networks are strongly urged to conduct their game-day interviews at the morning shootaround, rather than at the arena prior to the game.

Locker Rooms: Both the Knicks and visitors' locker rooms are located at court level on the 33rd Street (player benches) side of the Garden. As per NBA regulations, the Knicks' locker room will be open for a 30-minute period, ending 45 minutes prior to game time (for example, the room will be open from 6:15 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. for a 7:30 start). The room will reopen within 15 minutes after the final buzzer. During post-game media sessions, priority must be given to those media on deadline (print and live broadcast), and interviews should be limited to game comments during the deadline crunch. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere in the locker rooms at all times. Any media members using their credentials for the purpose of obtaining autographs or taking photographs for personal use will have their credentials immediately revoked. Photos are not allowed to be taken in the locker room.

Notes: Game notes are available in the John F.X. Condon Press Room beginning two hours prior to game time. (For visiting media, game notes, credentials, media guide and recent news clips will be delivered to their hotel the night before, or the morning of, the game). Game notes, running sheets, quarter-by-quarter sheets and box scores are all available from the Knicks gamenight staff, as well as in the press workroom during and after the game. Post-game quotes, notes, practice information and boxscores of other NBA games will be available in the press workroom as soon as possible after the game.

Parking: There is no media parking area at Madison Square Garden. However, there are numerous pay indoor and outdoor parking areas in the immediate vicinity.

Phones: Media wishing to order a phone line for their exclusive use should call Paul Durante of Garden Telecommunications at (212) 465-6319, and must also inform Knicks PR so that a specific location can be assigned. Due to the quick changeover for other Garden events, all post-game stories should be filed from the press workroom and not from the press seats.

Photographers: Positions for credentialed photographers are numbered and located on the baselines at the Seventh Avenue and Eighth Avenue ends of the Garden, as well as in sections 108/109WC. There are no photo positions along the sidelines. Freelance photographers will not be credentialed unless they are on specific assignment from a magazine or daily newspaper. No "roving" passes are issued and photographers cannot shoot from anywhere outside their assigned spot. If you do not have a spot, you will have to work out of the press room.

Please Note The Following Photo Regulations:

- Please consult the posted photo charts for your assigned positions.
- Please do not move from your assigned photo positions during game action. Movement is permitted only during timeouts and quarter breaks.
- Please shoot only from your assigned positions unless cleared to move by a Knicks PR representative.
- Please do not move into any photo position marked "Reserved."
- Messengers are not permitted to sit at courtside.
- Please store all coats, jackets and extra equipment in the press room.
- Please keep your courtside equipment to a bare minimum.
- All still and TV photographers must observe the NBA's mandatory "Five-Foot Lane" rule.

Baseline photo positions are extremely limited. Due to frequent national TV coverage of Knicks home games, additional space must be reserved for hand-held TV cameras and will greatly reduce the available space for still photographers.

In addition to the "Five-Foot Lane" rule, please be aware of other NBA-enforced regulations: All still and TV cameras must have rubber-capped lenses. Cameras mounted on the basket stanchion must be set back at least four inches from the edge of the padding. Cameras mounted behind the backboard cannot be visible inside the target box from any angle. Tripods and remote cameras placed on the court surface are not permitted. Use of flash is not permitted.

Pre-Game Court Timing: The playing court and apron must be cleared of all credentialed media (other than courtside broadcast positions) with no more than thirty minutes (30:00) remaining on the pre-game clock. Only photographers with designated floor spots may remain on the baselines after the 30-minute pre-game mark.

The League Office may make exceptions to the above on a case-by-case basis for broadcasters doing stand-up live shots, which, if approved, must take place on the baselines inside the designated photographer boxes and may not interfere with other broadcasts or player warm-ups.

Mounted Camera Heights: In the continued interest of player safety, any camera mounted on a stanchion must be at least eight feet high and must be properly padded.

Photographer Vests: All local and national photographers and videographers shooting from the baselines must wear team-issued vests. Vests must be dark in color and marked with a team logo. Vests may be collected after games to be re-used throughout the season. Please note that no photographer will be provided a vest unless his or her camera has a rubber lens hood.

Practices: Knicks practice sessions are held at Madison Square Garden Training Center in Greenburgh, NY, located in Westchester County approximately 28 miles north of New York City.

Players will be available on the court for 15-30 minutes after practice. Player availability will be preceded by a media session with Coach Hornacek.

Knicks practices are always subject to last-minute change and/or cancellation. Media covering practice should always call the Knicks PR office to confirm times before trekking to Greenburgh.

The Road to Greenburgh: Here are the suggested routes to MSG Training Center:

Use the press elevator to enter the Garden arena. The locker rooms and court are located on level five, the John F.X. Condon Press Room on level six.

Press Room: Named in memory of the legendary public address voice of the Garden, the John F.X. Condon Press Room is located on the first promenade level of the Garden at 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue (behind the Knicks' bench, one level up). From the press entrance, take the elevator directly to level six.

The fifth floor dining area (hot and cold entrees) opens 90 minutes prior to game time. The press workroom is located above the dining area, with work stations for print, photo and broadcast media. The press workroom is for the exclusive use of working media filing on deadline. Please confine all social gatherings, arguments, debates and other such conversations to the dining area, so that a professional atmosphere can be maintained in the workroom. If you are not a working media member filing on deadline, please show a sense of professionalism and leave the work area for those who are.

Your $8 contribution to the press room will benefit "Garden of Dreams Foundation," the 501 C 3 non-profit charity that works closely with the Knicks and Rangers to make dreams come true for kids in crisis. Thank you for your support.

Your press room hosts are Joe Pinto, Tom Matthews, Anthony DiGiovanni, Jason Adamita, Melanie Jacknow, Nicole Aquila and Deb Van.

Television Regulations:

Live Shots: Stations intending to produce live shots from the Garden must inform Knicks PR and MSG Electricians at (212) 465-6194 for appropriate coverage. All in-arena taping and live shots must be concluded by one hour prior to game time.

Game Footage: With the exception of NBA Entertainment, TV crews are not permitted to shoot game footage. All requests for game footage must be made through NBA Entertainment.

Electricians: Any TV stations or organizations whose equipment is not battery-operated must use MSG Electricians for connection to power. Call (212) 465-6194 for more information.

When usually I came to visit him at dusk there was nothing to do. He stood in the shack, counting tickets and rubbing his belly. The radio was always on. "Man, have you dug that mad Marty Glickman announcing basketball games – up-to-midcourt-bounce-fake-set-shot, swish, two points. Absolutely the greatest announcer I ever heard." He was reduced to simple pleasures like these.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

The World's Most Famous Arena

BEGINNINGS

The current Garden - located between 31st and 33rd Streets and Seventh and Eighth Avenues on Manhattan's West Side - is the fourth building (third site) to be named Madison Square Garden.

Garden I was located at Madison Square: 26th Street and Madison Avenue. It was originally opened in 1874 (at a cost of $35,000) by the legendary P.T. Barnum as "Barnum's Monster Classical and Geological Hippodrome." However, it was soon renamed "Gilmore's Garden" when the lease was auctioned off to bandmaster Patrick S. Gilmore (the term "Garden" was used often during this period to denote a place of public gathering and entertainment).

The building, which had 28-foot walls without a roof, hosted a varied schedule of social and fraternal meetings, flower shows and commercial exhibitions. When Gilmore's lease expired in 1878, it was picked up - briefly - by W. M. Tileson. The following year, William Vanderbilt of the New York Central Railroad assumed control of the facility and officially renamed it "Madison Square Garden" on May 31, 1879. Featuring a sports and entertainment program that stressed such events as boxing and the National Horse Show, Garden I stood until its demolition in 1889.

Garden II was constructed on the site of Garden I, opening on Jun. 16, 1890 at a cost of $1.5 million. It contained an 8,000-seat main arena, 1,500-seat concert hall, 1,200-seat theatre and the world's largest indoor swimming pool. The Spanish Renaissance-style structure was topped by its most famous feature: a 32-story tower and roof garden atop which stood Augustus Saint-Gauden's gold statue of Diana, Goddess of the Hunt.

Stanford White, the renowned architect who designed Garden II, also figured in its most famous - and infamous - event. On the night of Jun. 25, 1906, White was gunned down in the Garden's rooftop garden by Pittsburgh millionaire Harry Thaw, allegedly in revenge for White's long-standing affair with Thaw's wife, showgirl Evelyn Nesbit. The White-Thaw-Nesbit love triangle was ultimately immortalized in the 1955 film The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing - starring Ray Milland as White and Joan Collins as Nesbit - and in the recent best-seller American Eve by Paula Ruburu (Riverhead Books, 2008). Nesbit died in obscurity in California at age 81 in 1967.

Garden II hosted a sporting card heavy with boxing, wrestling, six-day bicycle races and horse shows, along with national events such as the 1924 Democratic National Convention, a marathon that lasted through 16 days and 103 ballots. Movie buffs will recall that in Orson Welles' 1941 classic Citizen Kane, Charles Foster Kane's acceptance of the 1916 New York gubernatorial nomination takes place at Garden II (although, obviously, it wasn't actually filmed there).

Garden II closed with a boxing card on May 5, 1925, followed by a mournful eulogy by ring announcer Joe Humphreys: "Farewell to thee, o temple of fistiana, Farewell to thee, o sweet Miss Diana..." The New York Life Insurance Building (51 Madison Avenue) occupies the former site of Gardens I and II, while Diana found a new home at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Garden III - the "Old Garden" was built in just 249 days at 49th Street and Eighth Avenue under the watchful eyes of promoter Tex Rickard and architect Thomas Lamb. The fabled 18,000-seat arena, built at a cost of $5.6 million, opened with a six-day bicycle race on Nov. 24, 1925, and for 43 years was America's premier sports and entertainment showplace. Ironically, Rickard did not live to see the blossoming of Garden III, suffering a fatal appendicitis attack on Jan. 6, 1929.

Anyone who ever set foot in the Old Garden remembers its unforgettable atmosphere...the sky-high balcony...the haze from decades of cigarette smoke...the main lobby, a schmooser's paradise...the marquee...G.O. Cards...the organ (played first by Gladys Gooding, later by Virginia Thomas)...the unmistakable voice of John Condon...the Nedick's and Adam Hats stores that flanked the main entrance...

Sports - especially basketball, hockey, boxing and track - would be the lifeblood of the Old Garden. But it also hosted entertainment extravaganzas ranging from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus and the Gene Autry Rodeo to star-studded spectacles like Mike Todd's 1957 anniversary party for his film Around the World in 80 Days and President John F. Kennedy's May 19, 1962 birthday party which featured Marilyn Monroe's breathless version of "Happy Birthday." On the screen, the Garden provided the inspiration (and title) for the 1932 Paramount epic Madison Square Garden, starring Jack Oakie and ZaSu Pitts, as well as the on-location backdrop for the harrowing final reel of John Frankenheimer's 1962 classic The Manchurian Candidate.

The Knicks played their first game at Garden III on Nov. 11, 1946, losing to the Chicago Stags, 78-68, in overtime. In the 22 years the Knicks played on 49th Street, they would record just six sellouts, including the most famous of all - the long-awaited pro debut of Bill Bradley against Detroit before 18,499 fans and a worldwide media contingent on Dec. 9, 1967.

Garden III played host to three NBA All-Star Games: in 1954, 1955 and 1968. And although the Knicks made the NBA Finals three straight years in 1951-52-53, the Old Garden never hosted a Finals game. Due to circus scheduling conflicts, all Finals games in those three seasons were moved to the 69th Regiment Armory on Lexington Ave. The Garden didn't host an NBA Finals game until 1970, two years after the move to 33rd and Seventh.

The Knicks played their final game at the Old Garden on February 10, 1968, a 115-97 win over Philadelphia. The last event ever was the Westminster Dog Show, over Feb. 12-13, 1968. After the Old Garden was demolished, the site was used for years as a Kinney parking lot. The Worldwide Plaza office/apartment complex, which opened in 1989, now occupies the site.

1879-1889: 26th Street and Madison Avenue

1890-1925: 26th St. and Madison Ave.

1968 - Present: 33rd Street and Eighth Avenue

GARDEN IV

On Nov. 3, 1960, Garden president Irving Mitchell Felt announced plans for a new Madison Square Garden - Garden IV - to eventually be built at 33rd Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, atop Pennsylvania Station.

Prospective sites for a New Garden had been discussed throughout the mid- and late- '50s, especially the area at Columbus Circle which would eventually house the New York Coliseum and, ultimately, the Time Warner Center.

Then the Garden Corporation obtained the coveted "air rights" above Penn Station from the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1961. The Railroad had entertained the idea of selling Penn Station's air rights as far back as 1951, when faced with a $72 million deficit. In 1955, Railroad president James Symes and famed real estate developer William Zeckendorf signed an agreement to option the Station's air rights for an industrial-commercial "Palace of Progress," with a new, renovated Penn Station below street level. When the project fell through, the Railroad sold the air rights to the Garden Corporation. Above-ground demolition of Penn Station began on Oct. 28, 1963, with new concrete poured starting on May 1, 1964.

The effort was not without its critics, one of whom called the destruction of Penn Station "an act of irresponsible public vandalism." Ultimately, Penn Station's legacy was the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission, the guiding force behind a series of laws that today protect more than 1,000 individual city landmarks.

Garden IV opened as a glittering sports and entertainment showplace, with its distinctive circular, cable-suspended roof above the 19,000-seat arena, its 5,000-seat Felt Forum, 48-lane Bowling Center, 500-seat cinema, Hall of Fame Club, National Art Museum of Sport, 50,000-square foot Exposition Rotunda and 29-story office building (Two Penn Plaza) attached by a pedestrian mall.

The first element of the New Garden complex to open its doors was the Bowling Center, on Oct. 30, 1967. On Nov. 26, 1967, the Felt Forum opened with a performance of the Welsh and Scots Guards.

The "New Garden" itself officially opened on Feb. 11, 1968, when Bob Hope and Bing Crosby hosted "The Night of the Century," a star-studded salute to the USO. Three days later - Feb. 14, 1968 - the Knicks played their first game in their new home, a 114-102 victory over the San Diego Rockets in the nightcap of an NBA doubleheader.

INSIDE THE GARDEN

- Cost for design and construction of the present Garden was $43 million.
- Garden IV was built by Turner Construction and the Del E. Webb Corporation. The building was designed by Charles Luckman, the fabled entrepreneur and architect who died in 1999. Luckman also designed the Los Angeles Convention Center, CBS Television City, the Prudential Center in Boston, the Johnson Space Center in Houston, and perhaps fittingly, The Forum in Los Angeles...which The Madison Square Garden Company acquired in 2011 and reopened as a state-of-the-art entertainment showplace in 2014 following a massive renovation-transformation.
- The Garden arena is 425 feet in diameter, 13 stories high, and occupies 820,000-square feet of real estate.
- Each of the four entrance/exit towers is over 100 feet high and contains at least 10 escalators.
- Seating capacity for Knicks basketball is currently 19,812, the highest basketball capacity figure in Garden history. The current figure was established at the completion of the Garden Transformation in 2013-14; it had previously been 19,033 in 2012-13 and the familiar 19,763 since 1991-92 (concurrent with the first Garden renovation from 1989-91). When the building first opened in 1968, listed seating capacity was 19,500.

- From February 4, 1993 to November 2, 2002, the Knicks compiled a streak of 433 consecutive home sellouts (regular season plus Playoffs, all at 19,763), the sixth-longest sellout streak in NBA history. Later, the Knicks recorded a streak of 269 consecutive home sellouts (from December 15, 2010 to March 5, 2017). Overall, the Knicks have averaged 19,000+ in home attendance in 23 of the last 25 seasons.
- The 2017-18 campaign will mark the Knicks' 50th full season (51st season overall) in Garden IV. The Garden is currently the second-oldest arena in the NBA. Only Oakland's Oracle Arena (originally opened in 1966 as the Oakland Coliseum Arena) is older. The Garden and Oracle Arena have both undergone extensive renovations over the last three decades, and on January 17, 2017, the Golden State Warriors broke ground on their new state-of-the-art arena and entertainment center in San Francisco. .the Chase Center, tentatively scheduled to open for the 2019-20 season.

And even though the original Penn Station passed into history a half-century ago, several of its features survive. Sculptor Adolph Weinman's bronze statue of Pennsylvania Railroad President Samuel Rea, which once overlooked the main waiting room of Penn Station, now stands proudly at the Seventh Avenue entrance to Two Penn Plaza. Two of Weinman's 22 concrete eagles, which had adorned the Station's outside perimeter for 53 years, guard Seventh Avenue in front of Two Penn. And a vintage Penn Station four-sided clock now hangs over the 34th Street entrance to the LIRR.

THROUGH THE YEARS

A look at the improvements/enhancements at Garden IV over the years:

1972: Garden IV becomes the first New York sports venue to install luxury boxes, formally named "Hall of Fame Lounges." The original deck of 11 luxury suites - each measuring 23x15 feet and accommodating 10 people - is installed above the mezzanine level on the 33rd Street side...Due to the ongoing luxury suite construction, basketball broadcast locations are moved to courtside and directly above center-court exit tunnels. Previously, they had been located in a two-level booth suspended from the roof.

1977: Original end zone scoreboards replaced by new 36-foot long scoreboards in each end zone, and smaller auxiliary boards on the facing of the mezzanine at center court. New boards feature tenth-of-a-second timing capabilities and black-and-white animated matrix boards.

1983: To comply with NBA television regulations that require all telecast to "shoot the bench," the basketball team benches and scorers' table moved from 31st Street side to 33rd Street side, and have remained there ever since.

1989-91: Over a three-year span, the Garden complex undergoes an extensive renovation program. Initially announced on Jan. 26, 1989, it is a multi-million dollar effort in which

- Each of the original red, orange, yellow, green and blue seats is removed and replaced. Primary color scheme is now purple and teal.
- Existing scoreboards are replaced by a new computerized system that features the eight-sided Center Display Board (37 feet wide at the top, 34 feet wide at the bottom), complete with "GardenVision" color replay screens and multi-colored end zone boards, by White Way Company of Chicago. It is the first eight-sided scoreboard in a major U.S. arena. Original Garden sound system is also completely overhauled, including the replacement of the original center-hung "sound cluster" with an entirely new system of speaker clusters affixed to the arena ceiling.
- Original Hall of Fame Lounges (luxury boxes) are removed and replaced by a completely new deck of 89 Club Suites that encircles the entire arena, including a double-deck of suites on the Seventh Avenue end.
- The Paramount, a state-of-the-art, 5,600-seat theatre which quickly becomes a hub of Big Apple live entertainment, is constructed on the former site of the Felt Forum (renamed The Theatre in 1995, the WaMu Theatre in 2007, The Theatre at Madison Square Garden in 2009). Fronting the main entrance is the Garden Walk of Fame, which opens in 1992.
- Two major dining facilities - The Club Restaurant and the Play-By-Play sports bar and restaurant - are constructed on the former site of the Bowling Center and the Hall of Fame Club.

• Garden exterior completely renovated, including the installations of animated color matrix boards above the Seventh Avenue entrance to Penn Station and the Eighth Avenue facade.

• Dramatic upgrades and improvements in virtually all other facets of the Garden, especially concession stands (including all-new Food Courts), locker rooms, press room, box office, Garden Team Store and broadcast facilities.

1995: Knicks and Rangers locker room areas are further renovated and expanded, including increased player/locker space, expanded training and x-ray facilities and individual offices for all coaches.

2000-08: Ongoing improvement program in the new century featured "GardenVision" upgraded to HDTV format and continued expansion of locker rooms, coaches offices, arena sound system, video facilities and exterior advertising capability. Also added were fan amenities including an all-new Team Store at Gate 75, the Garden Pub at Gate 70, The Prime Rib at Gate 76, and the Live at the Garden music museum/pub at Gate 66. New courtside Club seating for Knicks basketball was established in 2006, with an entirely new LED and Matrix center scoreboard and side out-of-town boards installed the following year.

The improvements and upgrades that opened the 21st Century at the Garden served as the prelude to one of the most ambitious arena projects in American history, formally announced on April 3, 2008 and completed in the autumn of 2013.

"New York is not a city. It is a set of cities, dozens of them, divided by caste, class, taste and blood. Most of us are welcome in a few of these cities, barred from others by tradition, or fear, or indifference, or income. But all of us hold safe conduct passes to The Garden. It is a center of experience for the same reason New York is: nothing is out of place there. Walk through a neighborhood of New York and you will find people who would never dream of setting foot in Carnegie Hall, the Empire State Building, the Fillmore East, Sunnyside Gardens, The Four Seasons, or the Bronx Zoo. Madison Square Garden is alien to none of us."

- Jeff Greenfield, 1974

New York Liberty

On Oct. 30, 1996, New York was selected as one of eight charter members of the Women's Basketball Association (WNBA). Within four months, Carol Blazejowski, a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, was named Vice President and General Manager for the New York franchise. Rebecca Lobo and Teresa Weatherspoon joined as the team's first players and the franchise name and logo were introduced.

The Liberty's and WNBA's first game was played on Jun. 21, 1997 in Los Angeles. Led by Head Coach Nancy Darsch, the Liberty defeated the L.A. Sparks, 67-57, before a crowd of 14,284 at the Great Western Forum. On Jun. 29, 1997, in front of a crowd of 17,780, the Liberty scored their first win at home, defeating Phoenix, 65-57.

The 2017 season marked the 21st season for the Liberty and the WNBA. On May 5, 2015, Basketball Hall of Famer Isiah Thomas was named team president, with responsibility for basketball and business operations, and is committed to using his considerable expertise to help further develop the Liberty, both on and off the court.

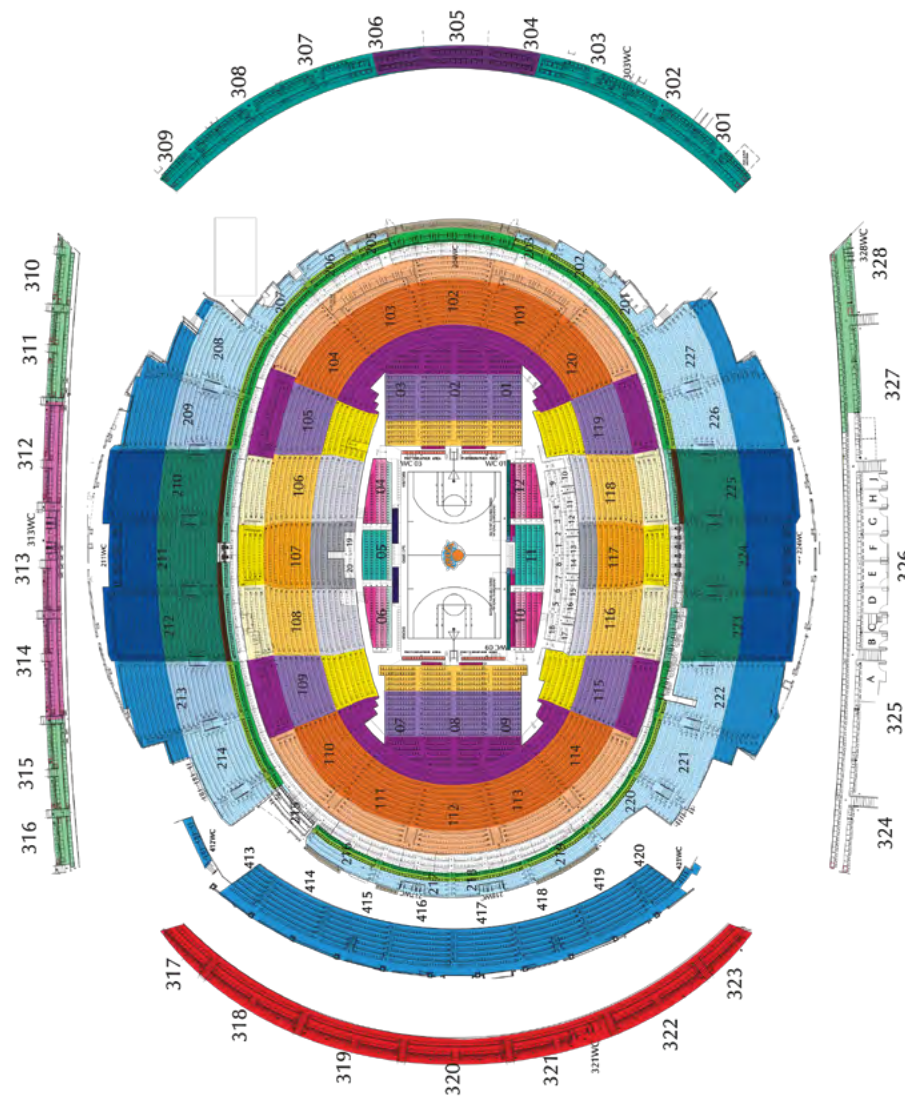

The team has finished first in the Eastern Conference six times and reached the WNBA Finals four times.

*It is a history that includes six of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History -
Patrick Ewing, Willis Reed, Walt Frazier,
Dave DeBusschere, Earl Monroe and Jerry Lucas.*

A tradition that embraces four of the 10 Greatest Coaches in League history, led by the legendary Red Holzman.

A legacy written across eight trips to the NBA Finals and two World Championships, with the fabled 1970 team cited as one of the 10 Greatest Teams in League annals.

THE BEGINNING

It all began on Jun. 6, 1946, when Madison Square Garden was granted a charter franchise in the newly-formed Basketball Association of America. The legendary Ned Irish, who would eventually be enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, was the Knicks' founding father and one of the infant circuit's pioneers.

The newly-christened Knickerbockers debuted on Nov. 1, 1946, edging the Toronto Huskies, 68-66, at famed Maple Leaf Gardens. Former Manhattan College mentor Neil Cohalan was the Knicks' first head coach, while Ossie Schectman, Stan Stutz, Jake Weber, Ralph Kaplowitz and Leo Gottlieb made up the inaugural starting lineup.

Ned Irish: The Founding Father

THIS NEARLY WAS MINE

New York was playoff-bound in each of its first 10 seasons, nine of those under the leadership of Joe Lapchick, the coaching genius whose 326 career wins helped him carve a niche in the Hall of Fame.

The Knicks made three consecutive trips to the NBA Finals, in 1951, 1952 and 1953. But they would be denied the summit all three times: first by Rochester, and then by the dynastic Minneapolis Lakers in 1952 and 1953.

Carl Braun was the club's premier scorer during those early days, averaging 14.1 points over a career that spanned 12 seasons and five All-Star selections. Braun's teammates included Harry Gallatin, the ferocious rebounder who still holds the club record of 610 consecutive games played; the great Dick McGuire, who set a playmaking standard by leading the club in assists for seven straight seasons (1950-56), popular Ernie Vandeweghe and pioneer pro Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton. The greatness of the early Knicks has been certified with the enshrinements of Gallatin, Clifton and McGuire into the Hall of Fame, joining Lapchick and Irish.

LEAN YEARS

New York made the playoffs only once in a 10-year span from the late '50s into the '60s, a period in which Iona's Richie Guerin earned a permanent place in Knicks lore - and, in 2013, long-overdue election to the Basketball Hall of Fame - with his sensational scoring and hard-nosed play. A six-time All-Star with New York, Guerin was the first Knick to score 50 points in a game when he poured in 57 on Dec. 11, 1959 against Syracuse, just one of 13 40-point performances during his career. Willie Naulls, Ray Felix, Jumpin' Johnny Green and Ken Sears were also major Knick heroes in those days.

The head coaching assignments during that era were handled by Vince Boryla, Fuzzy Levane, Braun, Eddie Donovan, Gallatin and McGuire. Boryla, who played on the three straight East titlists of 1951-52-53, holds a unique place in Knicks history as the only man to serve the franchise as player, head coach and general manager.

TAKE IT ALL!

Following a decade in the doldrums, the Knicks franchise would ultimately reach its zenith under William "Red" Holzman, the Hall of Fame coach who took over the reins in late 1967, just prior to the team's move from the venerable Old Garden on 49th Street to the gleaming New Garden above Penn Station. As Holzman assumed the helm, the team's "Golden Era" - which would include four 50-plus-win seasons, three Eastern Conference Championships and, of course, two NBA titles - was launched.

The Knicks climbed to basketball's pinnacle in 1969-70, riding a club record 18-game winning streak and a 60-22 regular season mark to the team's first NBA World Championship. Captain Willis Reed, the League's MVP, will forever be remembered for stepping onto the Garden court in spite of his severely injured leg, to the deafening roar of a capacity crowd...the impetus for a stirring and decisive seventh game triumph in the Finals against the Los Angeles Lakers. With Reed scoring the Knicks' first two baskets and Walt Frazier adding 36 points and 19 assists, New York nailed down its first NBA title with a 113-99 Game Seven win, forever stamping May 8, 1970 as the ultimate red-letter day in team history.

Along with Reed's contributions, the unprecedented success was keyed by fabled teammates such as Frazier, Bill Bradley, Dave DeBusschere and Dick Barnett, along with "Minutemen" Mike Riordan, Cazzie Russell and Dave Stallworth. Smart drafting and shrewd trades by Holzman and General Manager Eddie Donovan - especially the fabled December 1968 acquisition of DeBusschere from Detroit - laid the foundation for success.

Holzman's club led the NBA in team defense five times over a six-year span from 1968-69 to 1973-74. The team captured the citizenry of the world's greatest basketball city, selling out the New Garden 26 times in 1969-70 after recording just six regular season sellouts in 22 seasons at the Old Garden.

Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, a Knicks nemesis during his days with the Baltimore Bullets, joined the Knicks in 1971-72 and teamed with Frazier to form one of the greatest backcourts in NBA history. Also acquired to shore up the frontline was perennial All-Star Jerry Lucas.

In 1971-72, despite the season-long absence of Reed due to injury, the Knicks won the Eastern Conference title with Playoff wins over Baltimore and Boston. In 1972-73, Reed returned and a veteran Knick squad gutted its way to its second NBA Championship. They outlasted Boston in a classic Eastern Final series and then beat the Lakers in the Finals, becoming the first team in NBA history to defeat two 60-win teams en route to a title.

In tribute to the championship heroes, the retired numbers of Reed, Bradley, Frazier, Barnett, DeBusschere and Monroe hang from the Garden rafters. Reed, Bradley, Frazier, DeBusschere, Monroe and Lucas have all joined Holzman in the Springfield Hall of Fame.

JACKPOT!

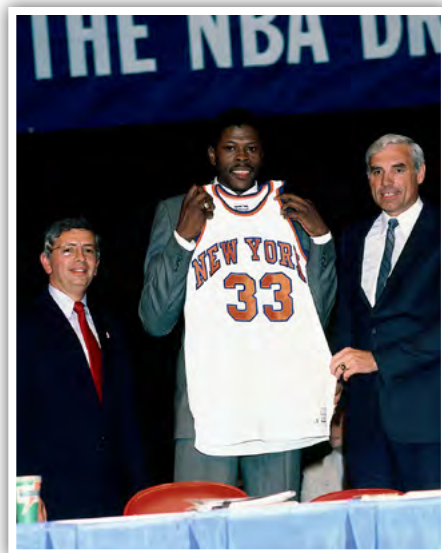

On Mother's Day 1985, the Knicks won the rights to Georgetown superstar Patrick Ewing in the first-ever NBA Draft Lottery. It would prove to be a major turning point in the club's history. Ewing authored 15 memorable years in New York, becoming an 11-time All-Star, the all-time club leader in virtually every category, and arguably, the greatest player to ever wear the orange and blue, a headline performer whose No. 33 would be hoisted to the Garden rafters in 2003. But a crippling 1985 knee injury to King set off a three-year dry spell in which the Knicks would win only 24, 23 and 24 games, missing the Playoffs all three years as Garden attendance plummeted.

But a decade-plus period in which the Knicks would again reign as one of the game's elite began in 1987-88. Under General Manager Al Bianchi and Hall of Fame-bound Head Coach Rick Pitino and buoyed by Rookie of the Year Mark Jackson, the Knicks gained a playoff spot in the season's final game. The next year, with newly-acquired Charles Oakley and Kiki VanDeWeghe on board, the Knicks won 52 games (including 26 straight at home) and the Atlantic Division title. In 1989-90, behind an

New York was a playoff force for nine straight seasons (1966-67 through 1974-75). But then a period of lean times befell the club as the '80s dawned, despite headline performances by future Hall of Famers Bob McAdoo and Spencer Haywood, along with Ray Williams and Micheal Ray Richardson. Holzman and Reed presided as coach as the Knicks made the Playoffs only twice in a seven-year span from 1976 to 1982.

Two dynamic and unforgettable personalities - both future Hall of Famers - played the central roles as the Knicks' fortunes turned in the early '80s... Head Coach Hubie Brown and scorer extraordinaire Bernard King. In 1984, Brown guided the Knicks to a memorable first-round playoff victory over Detroit. King developed into perhaps the greatest offensive force in club history, leading the NBA in scoring with a 32.9 average in 1984-85, becoming the Knicks' only League-leading scorer over the franchise's first 66 years.

MVP-caliber season by Ewing, the Knicks rose from an 0-2 hole and defeated the arch-rival Celtics in the first playoff round with an emotional Game Five triumph at Boston Garden.

IT'S ALL ABOUT SOUL

Club president Dave Checketts - named on Mar. 1, 1991 - and eventual President and General Manager Ernie Grunfeld then guided the Knicks into an unforgettable era by hiring future Hall of Fame coach Pat Riley and adding the likes of Xavier McDaniel, Rolando Blackman, Anthony Mason, Doc Rivers, Charles Smith and Derek Harper. The Riley Era - 1991-92 through 1994-95 - resulted in an unprecedented four consecutive 50-plus-win seasons, two Atlantic Division titles, two trips to the Eastern Conference Finals, and a series of electrifying Playoff runs that captivated the entire nation.

In 1992-93, the Knicks rewrote the club record book with a franchise-record-tying 60 wins, a club record 37 home victories and, ultimately, their first appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals in nearly two decades.

Then, keyed by one of the greatest defensive units in NBA history (91.5 points allowed) and All-Star seasons from Ewing, Oakley and John Starks, the 1993-94 Knicks ended the three-year championship reign of the Chicago Bulls with an emotional playoff triumph, then bested Indiana to earn their first Eastern Conference Championship in 21 years, only to be denied the ultimate prize in a seven-game nail-biter NBA Finals series against Houston. A 55-win season in 1994-95 and a heartbreaking seven-game Playoff loss to Indiana were followed soon after by Riley's resignation as head coach.

As a final, fitting postscript to the Riley Era, both Ewing and Riley earned first-ballot election to the Basketball Hall of Fame with the Class of 2008.

JEFF'S TIME

After seven years as an assistant coach, youthful Jeff Van Gundy succeeded future Hall of Famer Don Nelson as head coach on Mar. 8, 1996. Following the 1995-96 season, Grunfeld engineered an extensive off-season facelift that put Larry Johnson, Allan Houston, Chris Childs and Buck Williams in Knicks uniforms. The results were a 57-win season in 1996-97, followed by an emotional first-round Playoff triumph over Miami in 1997-98, a season marred by a wrist fracture suffered by Ewing that sidelined the All-Star center for the final two-thirds of the regular season.

Electrifying Latrell Sprewell and youthful Marcus Camby came aboard in 1998-99 to help write one of the most memorable chapters in the club's storied history. Following a 27-23 regular season, the Knicks stormed from the East's eighth seed to win the Eastern Conference title with thrilling Playoff triumphs over arch-rivals Miami and Indiana and a decisive four-game sweep of Atlanta, before the ultimate heartbreak of a five-game Finals loss to San Antonio.

In 2000, the Knicks made their second straight march to the East Finals, highlighted by their third straight Playoff triumph over Miami, as Ewing concluded his 15-year, Hall of Fame Knick career. Van Gundy, meanwhile, would ultimately log 248 career wins to become the third-winningest coach in franchise history, behind only the storied duo of Holzman and Lapchick.

THE KNICKS ARE BACK...

Following the end of both the Knicks' string of 14 consecutive Playoff appearances and their decade-long streak of 433 home sellouts, Hall of Famer Isiah Thomas was appointed president, basketball operations on Dec. 22, 2003. Over the next five seasons, Hall of Famers Lenny Wilkens, Larry Brown and ultimately Thomas would coach the Knicks, with Wilkens leading New York to a Playoff berth in 2004.

In spring 2008, New York native Donnie Walsh was named president, basketball operations and Mike D'Antoni was hired as head coach. In 2009-10, David Lee became the Knicks' first NBA All-Star since 2001 while Nate Robinson capped a span in which he won three NBA Slam Dunk Championships.

Meanwhile, Walsh presided over an extensive roster makeover climaxed by an eight-month period over 2010-11 in which the Knicks acquired perennial All-Stars Amar'e Stoudemire from Phoenix and Carmelo Anthony from Denver.

In 2010-11, the Knicks marched to their first winning record in a decade and their first Playoff berth since 2004. In 2011-12, newly-promoted general manager Glen Grunwald named Mike Woodson head coach on Mar. 14, 2012. The Knicks went 18-6 under Woodson and nailed down their second straight Playoff berth, lifted by Anthony, NBA Defensive Player of the Year Tyson Chandler and unheralded free agent signee Jeremy Lin.

The 2012-13 campaign turned out to be one of the most memorable in recent team history, as Woodson guided the Knicks to 54 wins and their first Atlantic Division title in nearly two decades. Anthony led the NBA with a 28.7 scoring average, joining newly-minted Hall of Famer Bernard King as the only Knicks ever to pace the League in scoring. J.R. Smith was named the League's Sixth Man of the Year, while Chandler earned NBA All-Star honors. In the Playoffs, the Knicks defeated the arch-rival Celtics to advance to the East Semis for the first time since 2000. The following season, Anthony poured in 62 points against Charlotte on Jan. 24, 2014, eclipsing King's fabled 60-pointer on Christmas Day 1984 as the greatest single-game scoring performance in franchise history, and further validating Stoudemire's original 2010 promise that, "The Knicks are back!"

THE FUTURE

Rana Faure, MSG Photos

After 3½ seasons with Hall of Famer Phil Jackson in the president's seat, the summer of 2017 marks the opening of the team's future under newly appointed President Steve Mills, newest hire General Manager Scott Perry and Head Coach Jeff Hornacek. At a press conference in July, the trio promised a new beginning of a cultural shift, focusing on length, motor and athleticism and a core of young players composed of Kristaps Porzingis, Willy Hernangomez, Tim Hardaway Jr. and Frank Ntilikina. With the World's Most Famous Arena and the world's greatest basketball city behind it, New York's Team faces the future with the promise of even greater heights.

WHAT IS A KNICKERBOCKER?

The term "Knickerbockers" traces its origin to the Dutch settlers who came to the New World—and especially to what is now New York—in the 1600s. Specifically, it refers to the style of pants the settlers wore... pants that rolled up just below the knee, which became known as "Knickerbockers", or "knickers".

In 1809, legendary author Washington Irving solidified the knickerbocker name in New York lore when he wrote the satiric A History of New York from the Beginning of the World to the End of the Dutch Dynasty under the pseudonym Diedrich Knickerbocker. Later known as Knickerbocker's History of New York, Irving's book introduced the word "knickerbocker" to signify a New Yorker who could trace his or her ancestry to the original Dutch settlers.

With the publication of Irving's book, the Dutch settler "Knickerbocker" character became synonymous with New York City. The city's most popular symbol of the late 19th and early 20th centuries was "Father Knickerbocker", complete with cotton wig, three-cornered hat, buckled shoes, and, of course, knickered pants.

(In Meredith Willson's 1957 The Music Man, Professor Harold Hill makes reference to "The kids in the knickerbockers" in the show-stopping song "Ya Got Trouble", then refers to the ultimate in adolescent rebellion by asking "The minute your son leaves the house, does he rebuckle his knickerbockers below the knee?")

At the same time, the term "Knickerbocker" became indelibly linked to anything and everything New York...from Jacob Ruppert's Knickerbocker Beer to the 1938 Broadway musical Knickerbocker Holiday (which starred Walter Huston and featured the haunting "September Song") to famed society gossip columnists Cholly Knickerbocker (the nom de plume used by Maury Paul and Igor Cassini) and Suzy Knickerbocker (the late Aileen Mehle, who passed away at age 98 in November 2016).

The Knickerbocker name had its first use in the sports world in 1845, when Alexander Cartwright's

General Research Division, The New York Public Library, Astor, Lenox and Tilden Foundations

Manhattan-based baseball team—the first organized team in baseball history—was named the "New York Knickerbockers" or the "Knickerbocker Nine". The Knickerbocker name stayed with the team even after it moved its base of operations to Elysian Fields at Hoboken, N.J. in 1846. (The baseball link may have prompted Casey Stengel to joyously exclaim, "It's great to be back as the manager of the Knickerbockers!" when he was named pilot of the newborn Mets in 1961).

Thus, the Knickerbocker name had been an integral part of the New York scene for more than a century when the Basketball Association of America granted a charter franchise to the city in the summer of 1946. As can best be determined, the final decision to call the team the "Knickerbockers" was made by the club's founder, the legendary Ned Irish.

The late Fred Podesta, the longtime Garden executive who passed away in 1999, once recalled, "The name came out of a hat. We were all sitting in the office one day -- Irish, (publicity man) Lester Scott and a few others on the staff. We each put a name in the hat, and when we pulled them out, most of them said Knickerbockers, after Father Knickerbocker, the symbol of

New York City. It soon was shortened to Knicks."

In keeping with another New York tradition, the team's colors have always (except for the years from 1979-80 through 1982-83) been orange, blue and white...the official colors of New York City.

So now you know.

THE LOGO

Including minor color and style alterations, the Knicks have used only three primary logos in their 72-year history.

FATHER KNICK

The original Knicks logo, used from the inaugural 1946-47 season through 1963-64, was that of a smiling Father Knickerbocker dribbling a basketball, the brainchild of famed sports cartoonist Willard Mullin of the New York World-Telegram. Aside from the original's frequent inclusion on "Throwback" and "Hardwood Classics" merchandise, a restyled Father Knick made a comeback in 2014-15 as the primary logo of the G League's Westchester Knicks.

OLD SCHOOL CLASSIC

For the 1964-65 season, the Knicks unveiled their "classic roundball" logo, created by artist Bud Freeman of the J.C. Bull advertising agency. It was the logo under which the Knicks won both of their NBA Championships, and, with minor color and style alterations, remained in use through 1991-92, a total of 28 seasons.

Alterations to the "classic roundball" logo included maroon lettering (1980-81 through 1982-83), and the "brown ball" (1983-84 through 1988-89) and "orange ball" (1989-90 through 1991-92) versions that were introduced to more closely conform to standard PMS colors.

During the late '60s and early '70s, the Knicks also used a secondary "ball-in-the-box" logo on game tickets and selected club merchandise.

THE TRIANGLE

On Jun. 17, 1992, the Knicks unveiled a unique, updated version of the club logo, featuring three-dimensional, modernized lettering newly framed in a triangle. The new logo was designed by NBA Marketing, an effort headed by creative director Tom O'Grady.

In 1995-96, the words "New York" were added at the top of the logo. In 2011-12, several subtle style changes were made, including bolder trim, a shade of silver and the elimination of the black dropshadow beneath the letters.

The "triangle" logo will be in use for its 26th season in 2017-18. Now one of the NBA's iconic symbols, the "triangle" is predated as an NBA primary logo in terms of continuous use only by those of the Celtics (Zang Auerbach), Bulls (Dean Wessel), Trail Blazers (original pinwheel design by Frank Glickman), Pacers, Lakers, Heat and Suns.

And a gentle reminder - While the Knicks logo has sometimes been depicted without the triangle, please note that the "triangle" version - and nothing else - is the definitive primary club symbol.

AND MORE

While the "triangle" logo remains the Knicks' primary trademark, the club has used several additional secondary logos, including the short-lived "Big Apple" logo in 1978-79, the Golden Anniversary logo in 1996-97, the "Knicks 2000" millennium logo in 1999-2000, the familiar "NYK Subway Token" logo, and - introduced in 2011-12 - a newly-designed "roundball" logo that updates the "ball-in-the-box" emblem of the late '60s and early '70s.

First introduced in 1995-96, the "NYK Subway Token" logo took on additional nostalgic value with the formal retirement of the subway token by the city's Transportation Authority in spring 2003. Several subtle changes, including a thinning of the letter font, were incorporated into the "Subway Token" logo in 2011-12. The "Subway Token" logo was added to the backs of the players' jerseys in 2002-03, then replaced by the new secondary "roundball" logo as part of a new uniform design unveiled on Sep. 6, 2012.

The latest secondary logo was the 70th Anniversary logo that was used throughout the 2016-17 season.

Hispanic communities. From the 2008-09 season through 2014-15, "Nueva York" was emblazoned on the season's home white uniforms, and on the season's road blue uniforms starting in 2015-16. In 2013-14, the Noche Latina jerseys featured sleeves.

DATEBOOK

A listing of some of the milestone dates in the Knickerbockers' 71-year history as a charter member of the NBA

Jun. 6, 1946: The Knicks are born at the first organizational meeting of the Basketball Association of America. New York is granted a charter franchise, along with Boston (Celtics), Philadelphia (Warriors), Providence (Steamrollers), Toronto (Huskies), Washington (Capitols), Chicago (Stags), Cleveland (Rebels), Detroit (Falcons), Pittsburgh (Ironmen) and St. Louis (Bombers)...Of the 11 original NBA franchises, only the Knicks, Celtics and Warriors remain, with the Knicks and Celtics the only two charter members still in their original cities.

Jul. 23, 1946: New York's BAA entry announces it will be known as the Knickerbockers and will wear the City's official colors of orange and blue.

Nov. 1, 1946: The First Game in team and League history is played. The Knicks defeat Toronto, 68-66, at fabled Maple Leaf Gardens. Leo Gottlieb leads the Knicks with 12 points.

Nov. 11, 1946: The Big Apple sees its team for the first time, as the Knicks make their home debut before a crowd of 17,205 at the Old Garden on 49th Street. The Knicks lose to Chicago, 78-68, in overtime. Former CCNY star Sonny Hertzberg, leads the Knicks with 14 points.

May 24, 1950: Knicks purchase the contract of future Hall of Famer Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton from the Harlem Globetrotters... On Nov. 5, 1950 at Tri-Cities, he becomes the first African-American player to appear in a regular season game for the Knicks.

Apr. 12, 1952: In the first game of the NBA Finals against the Lakers at St. Paul, the Knicks are victimized by a legendary non-call by officials Sid Borgia and Stan Stutz. Late in the first period, New York's Al McGuire hits a driving layup, and is fouled. However, McGuire is sent to the line for two free throws...Borgia and Stutz merely called the foul, and neither saw the ball go in the basket! Despite the protest of coach Joe Lapchick (including a personal appeal to NBA commissioner Maurice Podoloff, seated courtside), the call stands. McGuire goes to the line and hits one of two free throws. So, instead of a possible three points on the play, the Knicks get just one. Ultimately, it proves most costly as the Lakers win in overtime, 83-79, en route to a seven-game series triumph.

Jan. 21, 1954: The Old Garden hosts the NBA All-Star Game for the first time, and 16,487 see the East triumph in overtime, 98-93, behind Bob Cousy's 20 points. George Mikan's two (underhanded) free throws with no time left in regulation send the game into the extra session. It's the first of three NBA All-Star Games that will be played at the Old Garden.

Mar. 2, 1962: In the greatest single-game scoring performance in NBA history, Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain scores 100 points as the Warriors defeat the Knicks, 169-147, at Hersheypark Arena in front of 4,124 fans.

Dec. 9, 1967: Before a packed Garden house of 18,499, and a worldwide press contingent, Bill Bradley makes his long-awaited Knicks debut. Entering the game at the start of the second quarter, Dollar Bill nails his first pro shot, a left-side baseline jumper. Bradley winds up with eight points in 20 minutes, but it isn't enough as the Knicks lose to Detroit, 124-121.

Dec. 27, 1967: Minutes following a 114-105 matinee home loss to the 76ers, Red Holzman is named head coach, replacing Dick McGuire.

Jan. 23, 1968: Three weeks before closing its doors forever, the Old Garden plays host to its third and last NBA All-Star Game. Before a sellout crowd of 18,422, Philadelphia's Hal Greer scores 21 points to lead the East to a 144-124 win. Of the 27 players and coaches selected to participate in the 1968 Game, 76ers of them would be named among the NBA's 50 Greatest Players at the League's Golden Anniversary celebration in 1996-97. The '68 All-Star Game is the first NBA All-Star Game to be televised live from coast-to-coast on a major network (ABC) in prime time.

Feb. 10 and 14, 1968: Farewell to one home, hello to another. The Knicks play their last game at the Old Garden, and then, four days later, play their first game at the New Garden. The Knicks win both, taking the finale on 49th Street, 115-97, over the 76ers, then winning their first game at 33rd and 7th, 114-102, over San Diego.

Dec. 19, 1968: "The Trade" - General Manager Eddie Donovan acquires Dave DeBusschere from Detroit for Walt Bellamy and Howard Komives.

Nov. 28, 1969: "What a game! What a game!" shouts TV voice Bob Wolff. Knicks score six points in the final :16 to defeat Cincinnati, 106-105, and run their winning streak to a then-NBA record 18 straight games. The game against the Bob Cousy-coached Royals is played at the old Cleveland Arena, later the original home of the Cavs and immortal in rock 'n roll history as the site of Alan Freed's legendary 1952 Moondog Coronation Ball.

May 8, 1970: The greatest moment in franchise history and the Defining Moment in Madison Square Garden annals, the Knicks defeat the Lakers, 113-99, in Game Seven of the NBA Finals. Willis Reed's last-minute entrance ignites the Garden and provides the inspiration for the team's first NBA Championship. Walt Frazier provides the devastation with perhaps the greatest Finals performance in League history with 36 points and 19 assists.

Nov. 10, 1971: In a stunning trade engineered by Red Holzman, longtime nemesis Earl "The Pearl" Monroe is acquired from Baltimore, and the future Hall of Famer will team with Walt Frazier to form one of the deadliest backcourts in NBA history.

Nov. 18, 1972: Trailing Milwaukee, 86-68, late in the fourth quarter, Knicks run off 19 straight points in the game's final 5:11 to defeat the Bucks, 87-86, at MSG, in perhaps the most famous regular season game in club history.

Apr. 22, 1973: One of MSG's Defining Moments, roaring back from a 17-point second-half deficit, Knicks outlast Boston, 117-110, in a 2OT thriller in Game Four of the East Finals. Walt Frazier leads the way with 37 points, as Knicks take a 3-1 series lead over Boston.

Jan. 31-Feb. 1, 1984: Back-to-back 50-point games for Bernard King (at San Antonio and Dallas)

Apr. 29, 1973: After squandering a 3-1 series lead with losses in Games Five and Six, Knicks nail down the Eastern Conference title with a do-or-die 94-78 Game Seven triumph at Boston, becoming the first team ever to defeat the Celtics in Game Seven of a Playoff series.

May 10, 1973: CHAMPS AGAIN! Knicks 102, Lakers 93 in Game Five of the Finals at the LA Forum. Earl Monroe scores a game-high 23 points, while Willis Reed is named Finals MVP for the second time in four years.

Dec. 25, 1984: Bernard King pours in 60 points - a Knicks single-game record that would stand for nearly three decades - in a 120-114 Christmas Day loss to New Jersey at the Garden.

Mar. 23, 1985: On his way to becoming the first Knick to lead the League in scoring (32.9 ppg), Bernard King suffers a torn right anterior cruciate ligament in a game at Kansas City, an injury that will haunt the Knicks for years to come.

May 12, 1985: Knicks win the first-ever NBA Draft Lottery, enabling them to select Georgetown center Patrick Ewing in the upcoming NBA Draft.

Oct. 13, 1989: Cancer claims the life of John F.X. Condon, the beloved and legendary public address voice of the Knicks and the Garden, at age 75.

Jan. 15, 1990: Trent Tucker's three-point bomb off a Mark Jackson inbound (coming with the bare minimum of 0:00.1 showing on the clock) gives the Knicks a 109-106 Martin Luther King Day win over Chicago at the Garden and leads the following year to the institution of the 0.3-second "Trent Tucker Rule."

May 6, 1990: Knicks complete one of the most stunning turnarounds in Playoff history with a 121-114 Game Five victory at Boston, enabling them to snap an overall 26-game losing streak at Boston Garden and become just the third team in League history to rally from an 0-2 deficit to win a best-of-five series.

May 25, 1993: "The Dunk" - In the final minute of Game Two of the East Finals against Chicago, John Starks authors perhaps the single most famous play in Knicks history, splitting the Bulls defense for a driving, left-handed tomahawk slam that sends the Garden into a frenzy. Coming with :47.3 left, The Dunk gives the Knicks a five-point lead in their eventual 96-91 win. Famed NBA photographer Nathaniel S. Butler immortalizes the play with an amazing image.

Dec. 16, 1993: Patrick Ewing becomes the Knicks' all-time leading scorer with his 14,618th career point, passing Walt Frazier (14,617). Ewing's record-breaker is a 12-foot baseline jumper (Oakley assist) with 9:39 left in the third quarter of a 108-85 win over the Lakers at MSG.

Jun. 5, 1994: Knicks earn their first trip to the NBA Finals in 21 years, defeating Indiana, 94-90, in Game Seven of the East Finals at MSG. Ewing authors the game's key play, a follow-up, two-handed slam of Starks' missed layup, to give NY the lead for good with :26.9 left.

Mar. 28, 1995: The Double Nickel Game...Two weeks after returning to basketball, Chicago's Michael Jordan scores 55 points (21-37 FGA, 3-4 from Downtown, 10-11 FTA) to lead the Bulls to a 113-111 win over the Knicks at MSG.

Feb. 8, 1998: Garden IV hosts its first NBA All-Star Game, the first mid-season classic in New York in 30 years. An All-Star for the 12th time, Chicago's Michael Jordan earns MVP honors with 23 points in the East's 135-114 win.

Nov. 13, 1998: Leukemia claims the life of Hall of Fame Coach Red Holzman at age 78.

May 16, 1999: "The Shot" - Allan Houston's running one-hander hits off both the rim and the backboard, then drops through with :00.8 left, giving the Knicks a thrilling 78-77 win in the deciding Game Five of the first Playoff round at Miami. Knicks become just the second eighth-seeded team in Playoff history to defeat a first-seed, and knock the arch-rival Heat out of the Playoffs for the second of three straight years.

Jun. 5, 1999: "The Four-Point Play" - Larry Johnson's first career four-point play (3PT FGM, fouled by Antonio Davis, FTM), with :05.7 left, echoes throughout the basketball world and gives the Knicks a 92-91 win over Indiana in Game Three of the East Finals at MSG.

Sep. 20, 2000: An era ends, as future Hall of Famer Patrick Ewing - the all-time franchise leader in virtually every category and arguably the greatest Knick of all time - is traded to the Seattle SuperSonics in a four-team, 12-player trade, at the time, the largest single trade in NBA history.

Oct. 17, 2005: Allan Houston announces his retirement as an NBA player, finishing his career as the franchise's fourth-leading scorer with 11,165 points.

Dec. 20, 2006: David Lee's soaring tip-in of Jamal Crawford's inbound (coming with bare-minimum of 0:00.1 left) completes a modern-day Miracle on 33rd Street, and gives the Knicks a 111-109 double-overtime win over Bobcats at the Garden.

Feb. 15, 2015: Garden IV hosts the NBA All-Star Game for the second time, as Carmelo Anthony scores 14 points in the East's 163-158 loss to the West...Oklahoma City's Russell Westbrook earns MVP honors with a game-high 41 points.
