

CRWU planner urges multi-use of Briardale land

EUCLID PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY CAROL GROSSMAN

"The accumulation of land for community development is a real problem today. And here you have 127 acres right in the middle of Euclid. That's fantastic!"

The comment was made by one of Cleveland's most prominent architects and city planners—Philmore Hart of Case Western Reserve University.

LAST SATURDAY morning, an unofficial group of local citizens met with Hart in his office for a two-hour rap session on what to do about Briardale, where low-cost housing currently undergoing demolition.

In general, the group agreed with Hart, who heads the Department of Architecture, that a development of only single family homes would provide the least use of land space, in terms both of meeting human needs and income to the city.

"Tell your city planners that single-family homes in Briardale would be ridiculous," said Hart. "It would be a foolish waste of space."

IT WAS ALSO generally agreed that the best use of land would involve cluster-type housing, and a plan of diversification that would invite into the area people of low, middle and upper-middle incomes—people with young families, people with grown families, and the elderly.

"The multipurpose use of land is going on all over the country," Hart told the gathering. "It is the way we are moving in our society. We no longer put all of our eggs into one basket."

A member of the Heights Citizens for Human Rights, which recently got approval for 200 units for the elderly, and designer of Beachwood's middle school which follows a concept of flexible education, Hart believes that diversity is the key to whole human growth.

HE IS ALSO on the board of directors of PATH (Plan of Action for Tomorrow's Housing) and PACE (Program of Action by Citizens in Education).

Attending the session were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Basler, Mrs. Douglas Carlile, Mrs. David Garland and Mr. Ron Leonard.

They are members of a new committee of concern for vitalization of the City of Euclid.

The committee, which has the support of the Euclid Federation of Resident Associations, Euclid League of Women Voters, the Briardale Association and the Euclid Ministerial Association, has been concerned about the effect of demolition on the rights of the current residents of Briardale.

THE CASE is being handled by lawyers of the American Civil Liberties Union. Meanwhile, the committee is preparing a plan for Briardale, in the event that the case is lost or dismissed.

"You have two courses open to you," Hart suggested—allow developers to bid on the land and do anything they want with it, or draw up a specification of community needs.

Roger Clark remarked, "The city administration is said not to be concerned about housing needs. Is this normal?"

"Yes," Hart replied, "Euclid is not unique. Most cities run on a status quo basis. They do all planning by exception. I live in Cleveland Heights and we have a sophisticated government, but it is still up to the people to make their needs known.

"YOU HAVE to have a feeling of flow between citizens and government, and city officials who are flexible enough to respond to plans based on sound value decisions.

"What do you have in Euclid," he asked, "and what do you want?"

"We have a homogeneous community and we want a heterogeneous community," said Gordon Taylor.

It was stated that Euclid has a blue collar image, and the group generally favored—as goals for Briardale—a better economic mix and housing that would provide for the full-life cycle, from birth to old age.

THE GROUP felt that Euclid has a social responsibility toward the people now living in Briardale, and that some of the housing or its equivalent should be retained.

They said results of a recent survey showed that 169 families out of a total of 800 in Briardale have incomes of $6000 or less.

Flag Collection

Mike Patrick Cooney went about celebrating Memorial Day in serious fashion. When he saw the Euclid Elks club distributing small flags, he decided to start a collection.

Mike, who lives at 526 East 238 st., was wearing or holding four miniature "Stars and Stripes" when photographer Kirt Babuder spotted him, standing at attention, while the high school bands played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the Veterans Monument.

FRIENDS NOW FOES

Voinovich challenges Perk for GOP pennant

As political friendships go, George V. Voinovich and Ralph J. Perk are close.

Voinovich has campaigned for Perk and once nominated him to run for mayor on the GOP ticket. Perk always has had good things to say about George.

But, come September, Voinovich and Perk will have at it on the ballot for the Republican nomination for mayor of Cleveland.

"I just think I can do a better job," says Voinovich, explaining why he decided to run against Perk, who announced his candidacy weeks ago.

Voinovich, in his third term as state representative from District 53, announced his intention to run on the GOP ticket at a press conference Sunday at his parents' home in Bratenhall.

His parents, his wife, Janet, and their four children were with him for the outdoor press conference.

In analyzing his decision to challenge Perk, Voinovich said, "I will be giving the people a choice between the old politics and someone with newer, more modern ideas."

"I think I can offer (Republicans) a better chance to win in November."

MEANWHILE, Perk is working to get the ballot a change that would, if passed, create a non-partisan primary in September. If that were passed, Perk, Voinovich and the third announced GOP candidate, Bill Mack, would be in a wide-open race with the four (so far) Democrats. The

Sewer work will affect Sims Park

Work was begun this week on a temporary roadway needed for construction of an outfall sewer through Sims Park, East 228 and Lake Shore Blvd.

Construction of the final link of the $14 million Moss Point storm sewer will destroy some of the natural beauty of the park. The News-Journal learned.

But, according to Euclid Serviced Director Tony Giunta, the effect will not be a disastrous one.

THE OUTFALL sewer will be tunneled from Briardale ave. to the rear of the park property, where it will emerge as a concrete box culvert, 15-foot square.

The concrete structure will span the Sims Park ravine and continue out 300 feet into the lake—creating a kind of pier.

According to Giunta, only the easterly portion of the ravine will be affected. About 300 feet or more than half of the ravine will remain, he said.

Some trees in the park will have to be removed—mostly in the ravine area.

"The big trees on the top will be saved," Giunta explained.

THE CONCRETE culvert will serve as a roadway across the ravine to the beach area for city maintenance trucks.

Giunta said this is necessary to provide access to the catch basin which will have to be cleaned periodically.

He noted that the concrete structure will act like a Jetty to accumulate sand and create a baccumule beach.

THREE MORE DECLARE Council races shape up

By JOHN SHERIDAN

The mayor's race remains a mystery, but a handful of Euclid City Council hopefuls have made their intentions public.

One veteran campaigner and two political newcomers joined the ranks of announced candidates at last week's Euclid Democratic "convention" at Recher Hall.

THE VETERAN is Terry McGovern, in his bid to bounce back after losing to George Voinovich in the race for state representative last November. He ran once before for City Council.

McGovern is seeking the Democratic endorsement for an at-large Council seat.

Also declaring for the at-large race was Gerri Boka, women's Democratic leader in Ward 4. Her husband Steve is men's ward leader in the ward.

THE BOKAS were recently involved in an internal political fight with incumbent councilman Frank Chukayne. Chukayne, reportedly, tried to get Steve Boka ousted as Ward 4 chief—but the move was quashed by downtown Democratic officials.

Clint Hanson, Democratic leader in Ward 2, announced his candidacy for the Ward 2 post, now held by Harry Burkhardt, one of two Coalition councilmen.

BOTH HANSON and Mrs. Boka said they were bidding only for the Democratic endorsement at this time—and would withdraw if they failed to get the nomination.

None of the incumbents declared their intentions at the meeting last Wednesday—much to the chagrin of the precinct committeemen who gathered at the Slovenian Home.

Several speakers criticized the incumbents for their silence, accusing them of wasting the committeemen's time.

Five people, none of them incumbents, have now tossed their hats into the councilmanic ring. Early announcements were made last week by school board member Mary K. King (Ward-2) and Mrs. Catherine Cavanaugh (at-large). They, too, are seeking Democratic support.

McGOVERN, in his address to the precinct workers, said the future councilman will have to "know his way around" the state capitol and the nation's capitol to win financial assistance for local projects.

"He will no longer be able to turn to the homeowner or wage earners for additional taxes," he said.

McGovern predicted taxation and finances would be key issues in the Euclid election campaign, primarily due to the county-wide property reappraisals.

"THERE IS also going to be a lot of screaming when the Moss Point sewer millage is added to the tax bills," he predicted.

McGovern, a 21-year employee at Addressograph-Multigraph, said he disagrees with Coalition councilman Mike Kosmetos, who last week accused the Democrats of "financial irresponsibility."

"I would call it righting the wrongs of three decades of neglect by the previous administration—which swept problems under the rug," he said.

MRS. BOKA, who helped organize the Ward 4 Democratic Club in 1968, said she feels a woman can be as effective as a man in city government.

"Women today are better educated and have more free time. They should have more to say," she said. "But I don't want to run as a woman. I want to run as a person."

She said she will not run at all if the Democrats decide not to back her.

"I'M NOT going after any incumbent's seat," she said, explaining that she would withdraw her name if the four Democratic at-large councilmen decide to seek the same office this year.

At least two of them, however, have figured in the political speculation on the mayoralty race—Edward Eckart and Frank Chukayne.

Mrs. Boka said she is interested in helping the elderly, protecting high-rise residents, development of Sims Park, pollution control and city finances.

ALPHABETICALLY SPEAKING... She's last in her class

By TOM BRAZAITIS

Meet Diane Alison Zuro, the girl at the bottom of the list of graduates at Euclid Senior High School this year.

She's 935th out of 935.

LAST PLACE runs in the family. With a name like Zuro, you're out of the pennant race before opening day.

You just automatically move to the back of the bus.

"I guess it used to upset me when I was little," says Diane, who also answers to the name of "Zoro." "But by now I'm used to it."

When Diane was in grade school at Thomas Jefferson, she always knew which seat was hers, even before the teacher made out a seating chart.

DIANE'S SEAT was the last one in the last row.

"I used to be very tiny," she says, punctuating the memory with a shy smile. "I would end up in a corner in the back of the room, which made it hard to see the teacher."

The seat is the same, but Diane says the view is better now that she has grown to be five feet, two inches tall.

END OF THE LINE. As usual, Diane Zuro finds herself last in line in gym class. "I guess it used to upset me when I was little," she says. "But now I'm used to it."

At Central Junior High she had trouble seeing the chalkboard from behind the broad back of Scott Wightman, who occupied the desk in front of her in most classes.

When she was a seventh grader, Diane went with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zuro of 24911 Fisher ave., to watch her brother David get his Euclid High diploma.

"I CAN remember, it was a long wait—awfully long," says Diane. "But when they called Dave's name, everybody clapped, because it was over then. He enjoyed that."

Diane has a younger sister, Donna, who sits in the back corner of her sixth grade class at Thomas Jefferson, and a brother, Kenny, who is in the last row of his first grade class.

Someday Diane might be an elementary school teacher. She will take education courses at Muskingum College next fall, where, like her brother before her, she received a scholarship.

If and when she's the teacher, she won't give homework on weekends, and she won't seat her pupils alphabetically.

DIANE HAS grown used to the view from the end of the line.

"Sometimes it's not so bad," she admits. "In gym class you can watch everybody else try an exercise before your turn comes up—if there's time for your turn."

"And you usually have more time to prepare for oral tests."

"But, just when you're not expecting it, a teacher will say, 'Let's turn things around today, Diane, you're first.'"

Diane has turned things around on her own. She gets mostly A's in a stepped-up program for advanced students.

AT LAST count, she ranked 13th in her class in scholastic achievement, which means she won't be graduating last after all. The top 21 seniors get their diplomas first.

The end of the line now belongs to Stephen Douglas Zagko.

"I don't think he'll mind," Diane smiles. "After all, he will get all that applause."

Education in the news

With school winding down for another year, education is very much in the news. On the scholastic beat in today's News-Journal:

Recycling project nets two tons of used glass

Hundreds of Euclid residents responded Saturday to the Euclid ACTION committee's glass-recycling drive. Project chairman George Jaroscak estimated that nearly two tons of glass were collected at the three drop-off centers—the bulk of it at Euclid Senior High.

CLEAR GLASS went into one large drum and colored glass into another. Among those who contributed were School Supt. Dr. Sparky DiBlassio and Euclid High Principal Walter Schwieger. "Many people said they wonder why the city doesn't pass an ordinance to require people to separate glass, cardboard and other rubbish—like they had to do during World War II," said Tony Burchard, who worked at the Euclid High drop-off site. Jaroscak seemed enthused with the results of the first time effort. "WE HAD adequate manpower—every group that promised to send workers came through," he said.

The glass recycling was a joint effort of the Jaycees, Euclid Lions Club, Euclid Elks, Conservation Association, Euclid High Kids for Earth and League of Women Voters. "The community response was good, too," Jaroscak added.

The glass was turned over to a company which will use it to make new glass, asphalt or other products. BEFORE being trucked away, the bottles and jars were smashed into small pieces in a churn-like device built by Gerome Wasil. Wasil, one of the Kids for Earth, lives at 310 East 222 st. "I never knew there were so many kinds of bottles," he said, preparing to attack the last glass-filled oil drum. The ACTION committee is now considering an expanded recycling project—for cans and cardboard as well as paper.

District scouts to collect litter

East Shore District Cub Scouts and Scouts will participate in an anti-litter pickup on Saturday, June 5 with shop centers. Plastic bags will be issued by McDonalds Restaurant, the spot for central pick-up. McDonalds is also donating free milk and juice to each car for the Scouts.

2 Mavec pools donated to city

Two swimming pools are being opened to the public by Mrs. Frank Mavec as a memorial to her late husband, who was a builder in Euclid.

THE POOLS, located near condominiums built by Mr. Mavec in the southeast section of the city, will be operated and maintained by the Euclid Recreation Department.

Identification tags issued by the Recreation Department will admit Euclid residents to Valley Pool, located at 1301 East 279 st., and Brush Pool, at 27590 Brush ave.

Starting June 18, the Recreation Department will operate eight swimming pools, including the two donated by Mrs. Mavec and the new indoor pool at Euclid High School, which will be open to adults only.

BOTH OF the Mavec pools have large sun-bathing areas.

Euclid police take drug abuse course

Sgt. James Fitzgerald and Patrolmen John Kushma and Robert Payne of the Euclid Police Department, have recently completed a 15-hour course in "Drug Abuse Control and Investigation" at John Carroll University.

Mrs. Mavec said she will pay for the installation of heaters, new diving boards and mercury vapor lamps at the pools.

In the past, residents of the condominiums had to pay an annual fee for the use of the pools. With the new arrangement, they will be admitted with an ID tag.

MEMORIAL DAY IN EUCLID—When the parade was over, the crowd gathered at the monument in Memorial Park to hear former U.S. Senator Frank J. Lausche.

Memorial Day — a time for picnicking and remembering

BY JOHN SHERIDAN
 What is a Memorial Day? Is it a solemn tribute to the men who lost their lives in combat—or a time for gaiety and picnics?
 Is it a time to acknowledge a belief in the principles of this country's founding fathers—or a time to stage a "backlash" protest against the anti-war factions?
 Perhaps it is all of this and more. Perhaps Memorial Day means different things to different people.

THAT SEEMED to be the case in Euclid Monday, as thousands of people turned out to watch the annual parade and ceremonies at the Veterans Monument next to city hall.
 To the youngsters not marching in the parade—and a few who did march—it was a time to be boisterous.
 During the address by Sen. Frank Lausche, some of the kids raced around shouting and creating a minor disturbance.

Once, Lausche interrupted his remarks to shoot a quizzical glance in their direction.
BUT AT THE most solemn point in the proceedings, when the Euclid High bugle corps played "Taps", even the youngsters were silent. Perhaps, for a brief moment, they too sensed that there is something special about this holiday.
 The size of the crowd at the monument grew larger as the marching bands, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, baton twirlers,

Indian Guides, bicycle riders and other parade groups turned the corner into the city hall driveway.
 A young man, old enough to be a war veteran, watched the proceedings intently.
 "I'M KIND OF surprised to see so many people," he said. "The papers have led me to believe there aren't many Americans left."
 Sen. Lausche, who flew to Euclid from his retirement home in Bethesda, Md., marched the entire parade route on foot.
 Mayor Harry Knuth introduced him as "a gentleman and a statesman."
 Lausche looked out at the people, many of whom were carrying small flags distributed by the Euclid Elks Club.

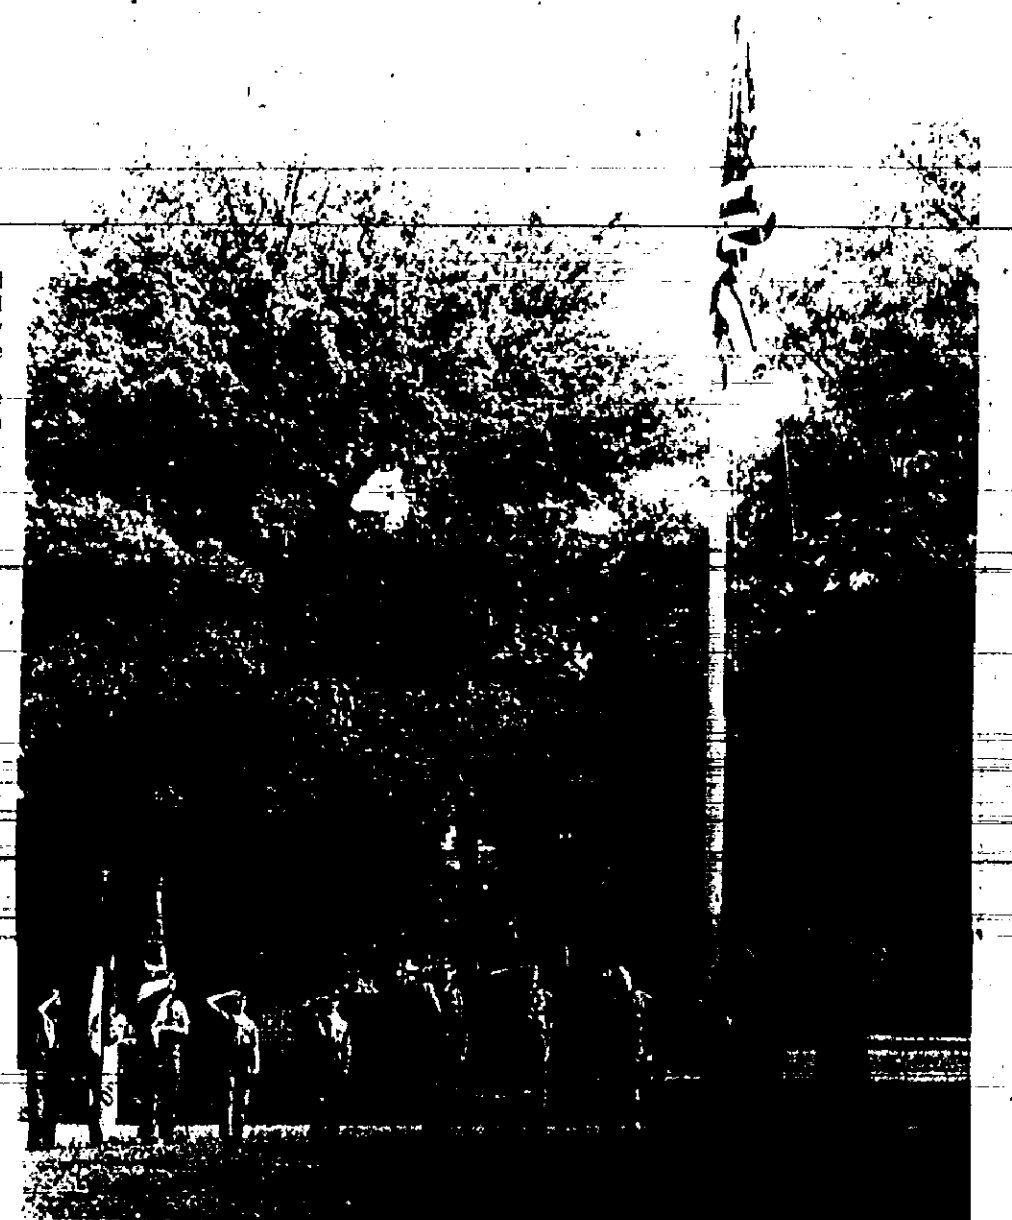

Indian Guides, bicycle riders and other parade groups turned the corner into the city hall driveway.
 A young man, old enough to be a war veteran, watched the proceedings intently.
 "I'M KIND OF surprised to see so many people," he said. "The papers have led me to believe there aren't many Americans left."
 Sen. Lausche, who flew to Euclid from his retirement home in Bethesda, Md., marched the entire parade route on foot.
 Mayor Harry Knuth introduced him as "a gentleman and a statesman."
 Lausche looked out at the people, many of whom were carrying small flags distributed by the Euclid Elks Club.

STARS AND STRIPES—With her flagstick in her pocket, Nancy Nungesser waits for the parade to start.

"THIS IS TRULY America," said the three-time Mayor of Cleveland, five-time Governor of Ohio and two-time U.S. Senator.
 "The true spirit of America wasn't reflected in Washington last month. It isn't reflected in the civic dissent in our country.
 "But it is here today. This is America."
 "Patriotism," Lausche told the crowd, "is never old-fashioned."
HE RECALLED his own military service during World War I. "Of all the offices I have occupied," he said, "my service as a soldier was the most honorable."
 He spoke of the men whose memory is honored each Memorial Day.
 "They lie under a blanket of grass in the summer and under a blanket of snow in the winter. . . . They were patriots."
 Lausche spoke of "those who dishonor patriotism and desecrate the flag."
 "THEY MUST BE repudiated everywhere," he said, greeted by a round of applause.
 "My country, your country—it is the finest system of government in all the world. We must stand by our flag. And we must stand by the soul of America."
 It wasn't the kind of speech that makes headlines. But it was what the people—many of them, at least—had come to hear.
 Lausche helped place a wreath at the monument in memory of Cpl. James Menart, killed in Vietnam.
AFTER a crackling rifle salute, the buglers played "Taps" as the flag was hoisted back to full mast.
 The ceremony was over. It was time for picnicking.

Prize winners
 Their float was decorated with a teepee and a tribe of authentic-looking Indian braves, squaws and papooses.
 The Mohican Tribe of the Euclid YMCA Indian Guides earned the $100 first prize for best float in the Euclid Memorial Day parade.
 The St. Joseph High Marching Band received a $50 prize as best marching unit. Second place and a check for $25 went to the Shore Junior High Admiralties.

A way of remembering
 A shaft of sun broke through the chill of Memorial Day morning in Sims Park.
 On the boulevard, marchers were lining up for the parade. They could see at the far end of the park a flag rise to full staff, then sink to half mast. A line of scouts stood at attention and saluted. The flag, which will fly from now on at Sims Park, was Troop 144's way of remembering Assistant Scoutmaster Joseph Koskovic, who died May 22 during a weekend camp out.
 With Mr. Koskovic's family and friends, the scouts sang "Cum-bay-a."
 From the boulevard, where the parade was forming, it was impossible to hear.

PEANUT GALLERY—Growing restless waiting for the parade to march their way up, youngsters along the parade route received flags from the Elks Club and peanuts from the Indian Guides.

PRIZE WINNER—Chief Buck Wood of the Mohican Tribe of Indian Guides accepts the trophy and $100 check for the best float in the parade.

"There are a lot of questions I would like answered," she said.

HANSON, a construction foreman for the County Engineering Department, likewise said he would not run against a party candidate.

"We've worked hard to achieve party unity," he said, "and I have no intention of splitting the (Democratic) vote. If someone else is endorsed, then I will support that person."

A one-time professional baseball player in the Philadelphia Phillies farm system, Hanson said he feels there has been "a lack of communication" in Ward 2.

"THE WARD councilman should get out and see the people," he said. "He has to be interested in their problems—and follow up on them. He should see that the people get an answer, one way or the other."

Hanson said his technical background would be helpful in dealing with city sewer projects.

"I think Council has done a good job in getting sewer improvements under way," he acknowledged.

Hanson, 40, graduated from Brush High and attended Kent State and Western Reserve University. He has been active in the Jaycees and served as a member of the Bethel Baptist Church board of trustees.

HE AND HIS wife Patricia live at 24770 Zeman ave. They have two children—Randy, 13, and Holly, 12.

Mrs. Boka has been active in many civic groups, serving as vice president of the Euclid High PTA, eight years as a Girl Scout leader and as past trustee of the Euclid Villas Association. A native of Pennsylvania, she attended business college in Washington, Pa.

She and her husband live at 1785 Pontiac dr. They have a 16-year-old daughter, Lee, a sophomore at Euclid High.

McGOVERN, 46, said he did not know whether he would run without party support.

"I'll have to decide that when the time comes," he said. McGOVERN is active in the Knights of Columbus and American Legion Post 343. He has attended classes at Western Reserve and took Ohio State extension courses in political science.

He and his wife Olga live at 25770 Benton ave. They have two sons—Terry Jr. and Brian.

SAYS VOINOVICH

Budget bill is 'irresponsible'

Euclid schools will receive about $80,000 more in state financial support next year, if the budget passed by the Ohio House last week is approved by the Senate.

Still, District 53 State Rep. George Voinovich is not happy with the measure as it stands. He was one of the few state representatives who joined with Democrats in voting against it.

"I WASN'T voting for Governor Gilligan's budget—I was voting against the almost $1 billion Republican appropriation bill," Voinovich explains.

He said the bill, while calling for new taxes, would not fulfill the state's responsibility toward increased taxes, I want to make sure we get our fair share," he said.

"I can't support almost a billion dollars in new taxes unless we get a piece of the action."

VOINOVICH termed the GOP bill "irresponsible" in that it authorized expenditures without authorizing the means to provide the revenue.

Gov. John Gilligan's original budget request, which was slashed somewhat, was coupled with a proposed state income tax and an automatic property tax rollback.

The tax bill is still in committee.

"It is the subject of a big Republican fight," Voinovich

A MILLION GOODIES—Mary Pesec, Euclid High School baker for the last 15 years, is retiring at the end of this school year. In that time she has created over a million servings of favorite pies, cakes and baked goods for hungry students and teachers.

MARY PESEC IS RETIRING

Dessert isn't going to be the same anymore

By TED THEODORE

When a dedicated school employee retires, it is often difficult to fill his shoes.

With Mary Pesec, baker in the Euclid High School Cafeteria, retiring at the end of this year, everyone at the school realizes it will not only be difficult to fill her shoes but the appetites that she has created over the past 15 years.

MARY, THE head baker since September, 1956, has become a specialist at baking pies and cakes that have "destroyed" the willpower of many students and teachers.

When she first started Mary felt that baking two or three pies a day was a chore. Today she averages 55 pies daily and anywhere from 15-20 layer cakes.

All this, in addition to dozens of hot muffins, biscuits, cookies, brownies, and assorted goodies that she prepares for the daily menus.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman, cafeteria supervisor of the Euclid Schools, estimates that Mary has baked approximately 9900 pies each year, a total of 148,500 over the last 15 years, with well over a millionservings in that span-of-time.

SHE HAS GONE through 54,000 pounds of flour and over 43,000 pounds of shortening. She used 120 pounds of frozen cherries and 250 pounds of frozen apples in meeting the baking-needs-of Euclid High students alone.

Her two children, Mitzel and Eddie, are EUCLID High graduates. Mitzel graduated with honors and is currently teaching in Minneapolis and Eddie, who was an outstanding football player here and at Capital University, is now associated with Society National Bank.

HER FAME FOR making taste-tempting desserts has spread far and wide. Often Mrs. Zimmerman will get calls or letters requesting recipes from Euclid High graduates throughout the country.

Mary Pesec is one of those gals you just can't duplicate. In addition to the normal ingredients, she has spiced her desserts with a little bit of love and pride.

Mr. and Mrs. James Vobornik, 1588 East 230 st., will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 6. After family attendance at the morning worship service of the Fellowship Congregational Church, Wickliffe, where both are active members, an open house will be held at their home. Planning the event are their daughters, Mrs. Donald (Audrey) Jameson of Euclid and Mrs. Michael (Corrine) Ranallo of Mayfield Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Vobornik also have six grandchildren.

Married June 9, 1921, when both were employed at the Collinwood yards of the New York Central Railroad, Mr. Vobornik retired in 1959 after 48 years of service. Mrs. Vobornik (Emma) returned to the railroad after rearing her family and worked as a clerk with the NYCOLL Credit Union until her retirement several years later.

Two Euclid High School woodshop students have been visiting the intermediate class at Memorial School twice a week lately. The boys, senior Rich Gusky and junior Frank Sizurza, volunteered to help Mrs. Cheryl Popstein and her students make special wood and craft projects.

Rich and Frank were originally asked to come and work with her boys, but the girls have become very interested in the projects also. At first they helped them to make wood frames which were used to stretch burlap for stitchery designs.

Recently they brought over some thin wood struts and helped her students make their own kites which have been decorated and are to be flown soon.

Next they plan to use coping saws to make attractive napkin holders as a special gift for moms.

Rich and Frank were asked by teacher Ron Chambers, who sought volunteers after home and school counselor Robert McLaughlin indicated there was a need. The venture has proved very successful.

"The boys have helped to create a very friendly atmosphere," Mrs. Popstein said. "Everyone knows them on a first-name basis and they have become especially close with the children. I am very happy to see them working together."

Frank is already planning to return next year and wants to bring a classmate or two. The relationship of young people working together in projects such as this brings great satisfaction to adults who witness it and quell any doubts about the present generation caring for anyone else.

NEW COUNSELOR—Mrs. Jean Cox, presently a girls' counselor at Euclid High, has been appointed a college counselor. She will fill the vacancy left by the death of Mrs. Harriet Sheats. Mrs. Cox has been at Euclid High since 1959, first as an English teacher and has served as a counselor since 1965.

She will assume her new duties in September and will work closely with students, parents, and college officials to assist Euclid students in making proper college selections. Many of the achievements and scholarship exams will be handled through her office and her secretary, Mrs. Jane Boyer.

SUMMER SCIENCE—Mr. Al Judge, Euclid High chemistry teacher, says a number of his students will be participating in special summer science programs at various colleges and universities. The students have been selected for their interest and achievements and are supplementing their classroom work at Euclid High with these additional experiences.

The students, their grade in school, and participating college are: Richard Vesel, 11, Ohio State University; Eric Imm, 11, DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana; Mike Forgas, 11, the Lumis Institute, Windsor, Connecticut; Susan Nash, 11, Michigan State University; and Janice Baskovic and Leilin Iisu, both 10th graders, Notre Dame College in South Euclid.

The students will be in a variety of courses that include study in engineering, chemistry, physics, computers, biochemistry, and mathematics.

Launch 20th Pony season here Sunday

Pony League baseball players have been kicking up dust on the Euclid sandlots for quite a few years. Matter of fact, it's entirely possible that some of the youngsters in uniform for the 1971 season opener this Sunday, June 6, might be sons of the first crop of Pony Leaguers here. This season, Euclid Pony League celebrates its 20th birthday.

THE CUSTOMARY pageantry will add a festive touch to the opening day ceremonies, scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Memorial diamond No. 3. City officials will be on hand, along with a color guard from the Euclid Veterans Club and American Legion Post 343. And, of course, 120 of the finest 13 and 14-year-old ballplayers in town.

First game of a double header will pit E & W Services against Brock Jewelers at 2:45 p.m. Euclid Race Dairy will clash with defending champion Smith's Restaurant in the nightcap, starting about 4:15 p.m.

THE REST OF THE league swings into action Monday, June 7, in 6 p.m. contests. Tony Apple meets Beachland Glass and American Typewriter tests pre-season favorite Bill's Clothes.

Pony League teams will be playing three times a week—rather than just twice. Games are scheduled for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"They'll play the same number of games, but the season should end sooner—and allow more time for makeup games," says Commissioner Bud Davison.

"The new setup will help us develop more pitchers," Davison said he is hoping for a large turnout of parents—not only for opening day, but throughout the summer.

ANOTHER CHANGE this season is the elimination of the round-robin tournament. The first-half percentage champ will play the second-half winner in the World Series. Smith's staged an almost spectacular comeback in the 1970 "Series" to win the crown.

After dropping the opener to Bill's Clothes, 3-0, Manager Joe Barbis' team captured 2-1 and 6-5 thrillers.

All Keller's pitching and a home run by Ron Yaggie gave Bill's the first victory.

Smith evened things as Steve Lardion twirled a two-hitter, then took the rubber game with fine relief pitching by Jim Zolinski who had hurled only two innings all season.

NEW UNIFORMS—Backer Bill Lipman shows Commissioner Bud Davison a sample of the new Pony League uniforms.

Veteran backer in 20th season

Pony League ballplayers grow taller and older—and every two years a new crop of youngsters is running the basepaths. But some things don't change—like the men behind the scenes.

Take Commissioner Bud Davison, for instance. He's been directing the Euclid Pony League for 19 years.

AND BILL LIPMAN, for another. The proprietor of Bill's Clothes has been a steadfast supporter for two decades. Lipman has been with the league even longer than Davison. He has backed the Bill's Clothes team since the league was inaugurated 20 years ago.

While most of the backers have been with the organization for many years, Lipman is the only one of the original backers still with Pony League.

"I'VE NEVER refused," Lipman says. "In fact, we back five teams with a total of 120 boys in different leagues."

Lipman considers it a contribution to the youth of the community—although he no longer operates a store in Euclid. Bill's Clothes now has stores at Five Points in Collinwood, where the firm started 48 years ago, as well as Shoregate, Great Lakes Mall and Richmond Mall.

Every three years, the Euclid Pony League purchases new uniforms through Bill's Clothes.

A shipment of top-grade, nylon-knit uniforms was scheduled to be shipped by air freight this week—in time for the opening day ceremonies.

"THEY WILL BE the finest uniforms you can buy," says Davison, who insists he is not ready to retire as commissioner.

"Heck," he smiled, "I've got a grandson."

The little guy is Vincent, age 3½. Waiting for him to reach Pony League age should keep Bud in business at least another 10 years.

The new uniforms for the 120 ballplayers cost nearly $2,800, Davison notes.

That's one reason he's glad to have the enthusiastic support of his team of backers.

Tony Apple Construction Co., now owned by Joe Adams, has been with Pony League 19 years. Frank Race of Euclid-Race Dairy has been fielding a team for 11 seasons.

JOHN POLSON of Smith's Restaurant, Bill Delly of American Typewriter Co. and John Penkala of Beachland Glass are in their 10th year as backers.

Steve Opalich of E&W Services (six years) and Ted Brock of Brock's Jewelers (two years) are also firm believers in boosting boys through baseball.

Pony League Special

Thursday, June 3 Euclid News Journal Euclid, Ohio

FOR EASTERN U.S. TITLE

Euclid hosts divisional

By JOHN SHERIDAN
June 11—a week from tomorrow—will be contract time for Euclid Pony League Commissioner Edward L. (Bud) Davison.

That's the day he'll meet with Eastern Division Director Joseph Luchansky to sign a contract of host for the 1971 Eastern U.S. Division tournament—final hurdle to the national Pony League World Series.

Luchansky will fly to Euclid from Bridgeport, Conn., to get Davison's signature.

DAVISON, WHO has been the driving force behind the Pony League here for 19 seasons, has been looking forward to the day when Euclid would host a major tournament.

And, except for the national championship, they don't come any bigger. The final four teams from 17 states will be battling in the divisional, August 12-15, for the right to play in the "Series" in Washington, Pa.

Euclid's All-Star team will be one of them. The host team automatically qualifies.

"This will be the biggest hardball tournament ever held in Euclid," said Davison, who has been spending a good deal of his time recruiting "angels."

IN ORDER TO GET the divisional tourney, Davison had to raise $4,500 in contributions to house the visiting teams and coaches, provide them with three meals a day, and pay for a portion of their transportation.

One or two of the teams may be coming from quite a distance. The East Division extends from Ohio to the Atlantic Coast, and from Maine to South Carolina.

Greensboro, N.C., was among the bidders for the tournament—but Euclid was given top priority because this is the 20th anniversary of Pony League here.

Euclid has appeared in three previous divisional tournaments. The local All-Stars won it in Washington, Pa., in 1965 to earn a trip to the World Series in National City, Calif.

They also played in the 1963 event in Kankakee, Ill., and took runner-up honors in 1969 in Marion, O.

KEN WOHLEGMUTH will manage the 1971 Euclid All-Stars. Euclid was ousted by Massillon in the sectional last year.

Euclid had beaten Massillon the day before, 9-8, as John Duffin hit back-to-back home runs.

They lost to arch-rival Ashland, 14-5, and then to Massillon, 10-6, in double-elimination play.

They lost to arch-rival Ashland, 14-5, and then to Massillon, 10-6, in double-elimination play.

"We'll have more time to practice this year," Wohlegmuth says, "since we won't be competing in the early stages of the tournament."

"In the past, we only had a week or so to practice together before the tournament. This year, we'll have almost a month."

"It should be an exciting tournament—and a great experience for Euclid."

'Tag Days' June 3-5

Every year since 1953, Euclid residents have helped make Pony League baseball possible by contributing generously on "Tag Day."

This weekend, the players will again be going door-to-door to ask for donations to help defray the league's cost.

"Tag Days" will be today through Saturday, June 3-5. Tonight and Friday, the boys will be making the rounds in the evening. They'll climax the fund-raising effort by canvassing all day Saturday.

"The boys are determined," said Commissioner Bud Davison, "to make this the biggest Tag Day ever."

MANAGERS APPLAUD SCHEDULE CHANGE

Pitching depth becomes key factor

By PAT GALBINCEA
One new rule is going to change the whole complexion of the Euclid Pony League race this summer.

Instead of playing twice a week, as in previous years, the league will schedule three contests per team in the seven-day span.

ACCORDING TO most of the coaches, it's like manna from heaven.

"This new rule will even up a lot of teams," said Ray Fisher, the new manager of Smith's Restaurant.

"I like the new rule. You used to be able to win a championship with two pitchers, but now everybody will have to reach in the bag for that third game."

"As a result, some weaker teams are going to beat the good ones. It'll make for good competition and a better race."

No one was more pleased with the new setup than Ralph Roberts, manager of Bill's Clothes baseball line.

"NO LONGER CAN we so-called managers depend on one star, with a three-game week," said Roberts. "This is great. So many kids will get an opportunity to develop, where in the past they wouldn't."

"You'll have to throw somebody new in that third game."

"I like it," said Beachland Glass manager Stucki. "It'll show who can develop the ballplayers. It may even boil down to who the real managers are."

THE DEFENDING league champion is Smith's Restaurant. The 1970 round-robin champ was Bill's Clothes—and the team most of the Pony League managers feel is the one to beat.

"In all sincerity, I think we'll have a real balanced ball team," said Roberts. "But I firmly believe there is no one outstanding team in the league this year."

"That's what is going to make it such a great race this year. We've never had a race like this before."

"It's quite likely that a 10-4 or 9-5 record could win the title," affirmed Roberts. "I like our chances, plus those of Beachland Glass, American Typewriter and Euclid Race Dairy."

AMONG THE RETURNING 14-year-olds is pitcher Mark Shisla, whose older brothers Rich and Dan also starred in the Euclid Pony League.

Shisla is the No. 1 pitcher in the league, Roberts believes.

Other returnees that figure prominently are shortstop John Urankar, second baseman Jeff Wilson, third baseman pitcher Tommy Taylor, pitcher John Delahanty and catcher Pete Jelenic.

"I also have Tim Perry," said Roberts, "who is the most underrated boy on the team, but he can play anywhere."

"Outfielder Tim Rowell might be small in stature, but he's big in heart."

TWO 13-YEAR-OLDS excite Roberts—Bob Ullom and Mike Gilmont.

"Before they leave the Pony League, they're going to be heard from—you'd better believe it," he said. Ullom's older brother Tom starred for the Euclid Panthers.

Fisher replaces Joe Barbis as manager of the defending champions. He was a coach on the Euclid Race Dairy squad for two years before moving to Smith's Restaurant. He also coaches at St. Williams.

"I don't know how well we'll do," said Fisher. "We suffer because we didn't draft high. If everybody plays up to potential, we'll have as good a chance as anybody."

"Our chances are as good as anybody else," said Stucki. "The infield is where I expect the biggest improvement."

"There aren't any real outstanding players, but we should have a good team."

Stucki is looking forward to good efforts from 14-year-olds Ken Vilcheck (pitcher), Jim Saywell (catcher), and Dave Kramer (outfielder-pitcher). He also has a good all-around player in 13-year-old handyman Rick Lovsin.

NICK STRANIERO, manager of Euclid Race Dairy, is keeping his fingers crossed.

"I'm hoping we're a pennant contender," said Straniero. "We have as good an infield as anybody. Hitting is the biggest question, but it's a question with everyone."

"I feel Bill's Clothes will be the team everyone is gunning for. I'm sure there will be some surprises this year, too. That third game is going to be the measuring stick."

Straniero has a potential "Big Three" staff of 14-year-olds Keith Waganek and Larry Straub, plus 13-year-old Handy Hanson Waganek's older brother Gary pitches for Benedictine.

CAPTAIN JEFF LYNN will be the shortstop, and Straniero says he holds the infield together. He's also hoping for a good year from catcher Karl Francetic. Both are 14.

American Typewriter coach Harold Haines is guarded in his comments as to who will win, or how his own squad will do.

"I don't know who'll win," said Haines. "Bill's Clothes is the team to beat. I know I'm not the favorite."

"But I've got a good team—much stronger than last year's. I've got a good group of 14-year-olds coming back," said Haines, who wouldn't single out any one player.

THREE OTHER teams also have high hopes, including E & W Services, managed by Ken Wohlegmuth, who will also manage the All-Star team this season. Earl Archibald will manage Brock's Jewelers, while Frank Bortnick will guide Tony Apple & Adams Sewer Company.

It remains to be seen who has the horses to win the 1971 Euclid Pony League title this summer.

FISHER IS BANKING on four 14-year-olds to carry the burden—infielder-pitcher Dan Marinelli, catcher-pitcher Doug Glavaec, pitcher Steve Tolbert and pitcher Bill Colt.

"Marinelli is as good as any player in the league," smiled Fisher. "But I'm still worried about our second and third games."

Among his new draftees are a trio of 13-year-olds with promise—third baseman Dan Brommer, outfielder Ernie Caputo and catcher Tom Rojeck, whose father Chet coaches football at Euclid High.

Fisher sees a close race this year.

"Euclid Race has some good 13-year-olds, plus a lot of returning 14-year-olds," he said. "They seem to have good balance."

"BILL'S CLOTHES will be tough, and American Typewriter could be a physical team. Beachland could be the darkhorse if their pitching holds up."

Beachland manager, Dan Stucki is hoping Fisher is right, but he isn't getting his hopes sky high.

'Angels' wanted

"A few wings have been flapping," reports Pony League Commissioner Bud Davison, who has been recruiting "angels" to underwrite the cost of the divisional tournament here this August.

But, at last report, Bud was still somewhat short of the goal of $4,500 needed to host the big event.

"The angels will be recognized in our souvenir program" and they'll have the heartfelt thanks of all the boys in Pony League," he said.

Prospective angels should contact Davison at 481-7064 in the evening.

GRIDDERS TRY TUG-O-WAR

'Psyched-up' Panthers win fitness meet

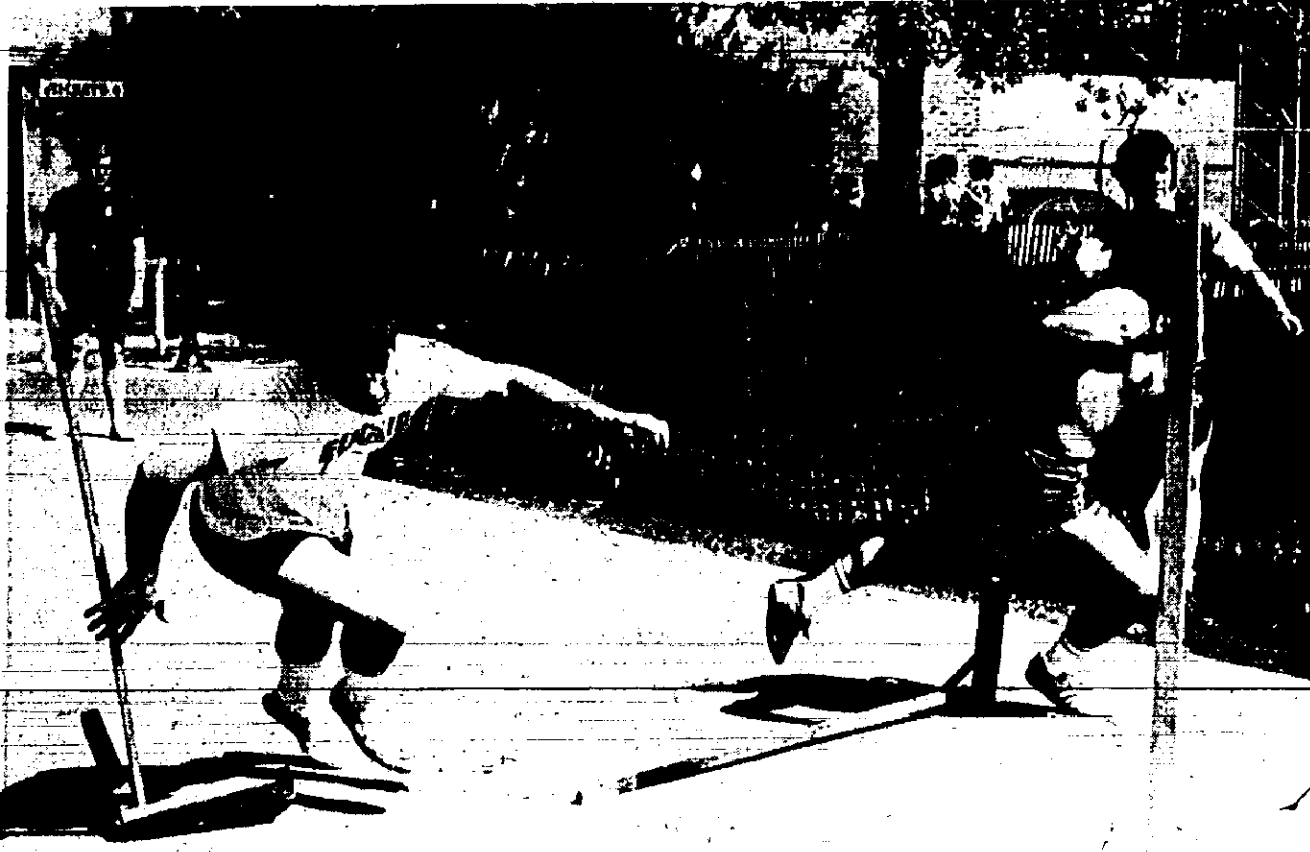

By PAT GALBINCEA
 Would you believe that Euclid beat Wickliffe by 84 points in the first class between gridiron competitors this year?
 There's only one catch: there was no football in use, or even direct physical contact.

1002-918, in the overall point total. The boys tried their hands in six different events, including the 50-yard dash, mile run, agility run, jump-and-reach, pullups and tug-of-war.
 The real winners were the players themselves. It was a competitive way to get into shape, but neither coach was going to put much emphasis in the score at first.

 "After you printed that we were supposed to have this meet, it got the guys all excited," said Panther coach Chet Rojeck. "We got psyched up to win this one."

 "THIS KIND of test is good for the players," noted Blue Devil coach Dave Sterlekar. "It sure was a lot of fun."

The lead after the one-third mark. His teammates offered all sorts of advice to help him along.
 "Don't look back!"
 "Run in the first lane!"
 "Keep pushing, Tom!"

The most heated event of all was the last — the tug-of-war. Euclid and Wickliffe musclemen went three rounds of one minute each.
 The Panthers won the first fall, but a spirited comeback by the Blue Devils in round two evened the count.

In the third and deciding round, the rope never budged more than a foot either way. The affair ended in a draw.

WICKLIFFE won the first event, involving total number of pullups. The Blue Devils, paced by Ron Glavan's 23, defeated Euclid, 212-198. Dave Ferris had the Panthers high of 17.

They were pullups only in the word. It was a rarity. Indeed, when a contestant came all the way up and down the bar, "I can do 17 pullups properly," said Glavan. "But what the heck... I did them the way everybody else did!"

THE MILE run, which Euclid won, 178-122, was also a sight to behold.
 Runners were split into three divisions: the heavyweights, middleweights and lightweights.

Among the heavyweights, Tom Rosnack of Wickliffe had Unfortunately, Rosnack died out like a fire without oxygen. He finished second last, coming in ahead of Glavan, who turned in a blistering time of 6:47.

"I CAN'T run," explained Glavan. "I don't look like a runner. I don't have any speed. But I wore my wrestling shoes. They make me feel more comfortable."
 "We've got some light heavyweights who should be going out for track," smiled Rojeck, who was particularly pleased with Chris Cairni, who ran a 5:09.

Euclid's biggest edge came in the 50-yard dash. The Panthers outscored Wickliffe, 162-138.

"WE WERE a step behind them in most cases," said Sterlekar. "We need to work on our quickness."

He then watched another of his sprinters at work and yelled, "Banks! Move! Don't you quit on me!"

And Archie Banks didn't quite live up to the hype. His time of 6.1 was the best of the Blue Devil lightweights.

Neither did Panther Middleweight John Orehek, who beat his Wickliffe opponent

BIG STRETCH: Euclid's Bill Nemeth tries his hand at the jump-and-reach.

with a 6.1. His teammates have given him the nickname "Crazy Jack."
 "HE'D BETTER win his heat," kidded one of the Panthers. "If he doesn't, he'll keep running after the kid who beat him."
 All in all, it was a most profitable day for the players and coaches. It beat the normal routine of pre-season practices.

If the players get this excited about a physical fitness meet, just think what will happen when the football and helmets are passed out.

JUNIOR HIGH TRIANGULAR MEET

It could be a record-breaking day

Several new track records are expected to be established in the seventh annual Euclid Junior High Triangular meet this afternoon at 3 at Panther Stadium.
 Seventy-five percent of the records were established last year, and half of those could be broken today.
 FOREST PARK thunders own eight of the 12 junior high marks, and the Rangers, who are 7-6 this season in dual meets, are favored again to beat out rivals Central and Shore.
 Two of the existing records might be rewritten by Terry Kingsmill of Forest Park.

In the discus, Kingsmill has already heaved the platter 134.6, which tops the record set by ex-Ranger Richard Mueller two years ago at 114.4.
 Kingsmill also is threatening the 120-yard low hurdles mark held by Dave Hollis of Central-Hollis-ran-a-14.9 last year, but Kingsmill has done 14.2 this season.
 IN THE SHOT put, Todd Groudie of the Rangers has a toss of 54.7, which is nearly three feet longer than the record set last year by Dave Clemence, an ex-Ranger.
 One of the best races should be the 880 yard run. Al Dole of the Admirals has the best pre-meet time of 2:11. But Mark Simon of the Lions has done 2:12, and Greg Casten of the Rangers 2:13. So things could be interesting.

 At any rate, the current record of 2:11.4 set by Bob Day should fall.
 THE OLDEST record still holding up is the 440-yard dash mark, and it should be shattered. Shore's Jim Kalamasz was timed in 56.1 back in 1967.
 However, Ken Peters of Forest Park has already been clocked in 55.8 and Richard Merrill of Central was done the quarter mile in 56 flat.
 The fastest time of all was turned in by Kevin Lewis of Shore (54.5) but a broken bone in his foot has sidelined him for this meet.
 Merrill also has a chance to crack the pole vault mark, as does Forest Park's Frank Roberts. Both have cleared 10 feet, and the record is 10-10 set by Lance Schieb in 1969.

- They say that athletes are stronger and faster these days, and getting more so every year. And who's to doubt it when you have statistical proof like this?
- The Euclid Junior High Triangular Meet is six years old, but only one record dates back as far as 1967 and nine of the 12 records were set last year.
- Look for some of these to fall again in this afternoon's seventh annual meet.

AVENGE LOSS TO ST. JOE

Panthers weren't surprised

By PAT GALBINCEA
 Euclid turned the tables on St. Joe, 3-1, in the season baseball finale last Friday—gaining revenge for that haunting tournament setback.
 The reversal of form may have startled some people, but the Panthers themselves weren't the least bit surprised.
 IN FACT, some Panther boosters took it for granted that Euclid was going to win the game.
 "When we got back to the locker room, there was a cake waiting for the players which read '26-4,'" said Euclid coach Bob Addis. "So someone was certainly optimistic."
 "It was a happy ending to a great season."
 The Panthers entered the game with a 25-4 overall record, including a 15-3 mark in the LEL, which tied them for first place with Brush.
 ON THE OTHER hand, the word didn't end for the St. Joe supporters because the Vikings lost, according to coach Terry Thomas.
 "I thought it was a well-played game," said Thomas. "Euclid has a real fine team."
 "It was a profitable season for us. We lost a lot of close games. We were involved in eight one-run losses."
 Overall, the Vikings finished with a 17-11 ledger, and were 7-5 in the Crown Conference, one game in back of Padua.
 EUCLID jumped on starting pitcher Mike Kitko, an ex-Panther jayvee, for all three runs in the bottom of the third.
 After Dennis Benvenuto walked and Mike Volpin singled, Tom Stupica drilled a single to score the first run. On the throw to the plate, Stupica moved to second.
 Baseball stars in stadium game
 The Northern Ohio High School All-Star baseball game will be held next Monday, June 7, at 3:30 p.m. at Cleveland Municipal Stadium.
 Afterwards, the Cincinnati Reds will oppose the Indians in the annual sandlot benefit exhibition. Proceeds will go to the Cleveland Baseball Federation.
 Among the local area stars playing in the high school game will be Mike Patrick of St. Joe, Mike Volpin and Bob Foster of Euclid, and George Kasunic of Collinwood.

Forest Park track team unbeaten 2d year in row

Forest Park completed its second straight undefeated track season last Thursday by edging Central, 55-45. The Rangers piled up points in the field events, 31-14, to offset the Lions advantage in the running events.
 TODD GROUDIE uncorked the best heave ever by a Euclid junior high shot putter with his record breaking 56-1 1/2.
 Ken Peters furnished the Rangers with another school record when he dashed around the 440 yard oval in 54.2. This time's believed to be the best effort by any junior high trackster in Euclid.
 Other near record performances were recorded by Mike English in the high jump (5-6), Frank Roberts in the pole vault (10-6) and Terry Kingsmill in the discus (125-1 1/2).
 ENGLISH captured another first place in the 120 yard low hurdles, turning in a time of 16.1. Kingsmill, came in second, and Terry Lewis third to complete the sweep.

SEASON OPENER SATURDAY

Brocks favored in Class E

By PAUL SERRA
 The eight-team Euclid Class "E" baseball league will hold its opening day ceremonies Saturday night at 7:45 p.m. on Memorial Park Diamond No. 1.
 League Commissioner Ted Brock has lined up another fine program, highlighted by the appearance of Euclid's own Bill Yancher, who will throw out the first ball.
 YANCHER, former Euclid High and Purdue University football star, is a candidate for a starting assignment with the Cleveland Browns.
 Bill, an All-Scholastic at Euclid High in 1966, attended Purdue on a football scholarship. He served as co-captain with Mike Phipps, the Browns' new quarterback, in his senior year with the Boiler-makers. He won All-Big Ten honors for two years and was named to the Academic All-American Team in his senior year.
 Bill spent the first part of last season on the Brown's "taxi squad" but was elevated to the varsity midway through the year.
 THE EIGHT teams that will make up the Class "E" league this year are: Brock Jeweters, Euclid Rebels, Euclid Junior Admirals, Molnar's Dairy Queen, Northeast, Palisades Bowl, Willowick, and Wickliffe. All eight teams are returnees from last year, but with many new faces.
 The Rebels will take on Dairy Queen in the opener Saturday night at 8 p.m., while the other teams will play their first games on Sunday at Memorial No. 1.
 Brock Jeweters, under manager Ken Wohlgemuth and coach Frank Smolinski, took like the team to beat this year as their roster includes six members of Euclid High's LEL, champions—plus St. Joseph star Mike Kitko. The six Euclid High players are Steve Sarka, Frank Smolinski, Mike Summerhill, Jim Graham, Jeff Harris, and Al Sustarsic.
 LAST SEASON Brock's won the Press Trophy in a tournament that included all the Greater Cleveland Class "E" teams—and this year they figure to be just as strong.
 The Rebels, managed by Andy Schwarzwald and coached by Bob McConnell, should field a much-improved team. Last season the Rebels finished strong and reached the finals of the Whitley Lewis Tournament.

Al McConnell and Pat George figure to handle most of the pitching while Don Kwasney will do the catching. Other top returnees include: Joe Thomas, Russ Schumaker, Bruce Rebe, and Larry Strell top newcomers are Bud Stenroos, Dave Novakovich, Wes Mulholland, Harvey Smith, Bill Schneider, Hank Gulich, and Sam Gilaberto.
 Last year's Class "E" runner-up, Dairy Queen, under manager Tom Warder, will field an almost entire new team. Only returnees are shortstop Tom Warder and catcher Fred Krnha, both members of the Euclid varsity. Key newcomers include John Lipstruer, Mark Snook, and Mike Theil.
 THE JUNIOR Admirals, under manager Chuck Rutkiewicz, will field an all-rookie team of 15-year-olds.
 All played in the Pony League last year and five were members of the All-Star team. Dale Engelking, Steve Langdon, Bob Barbis, Jim Duffin and Al Keller Palisades Bowl, last year's champion under the name of Rhyne Realty, will be again managed by Terry Thomas, the St. Joseph baseball coach. Thomas lists as his top returnees: Ron Genevese, Carl Spike, John Albert, and Dana Ardry.
 Northeast will return for the second year under manager Ed Sakenes. The team will be made up of boys from the Northeast Senior League program.
 Willowick, under manager Frank Zivkovic, will combine last year's two teams into one squad this year. They expect to be much stronger and should provide some real competition this summer.
 Wickliffe has yet to name a manager for its 1971 team. Jim O'Donnell, last year's manager, may again be forced to handle the reins this year.
 All in all, it looks like another fine summer of baseball in one of the top leagues in the Greater Cleveland area.
 There will be a Class "E" game on Memorial No. 1 every night of the week, except Sundays. An 8:15 p.m. game will be played Monday through Thursday with a 6 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. game on Friday and Saturday nights. On Sunday afternoons, there will be two games on Memorial No. 1 and 2 starting at 1 p.m.

Class E Boosters

Dave Schmid picks Wooster

Dave Schmid, a standout griddier at Euclid High, will enroll at the College of Wooster this fall.
 Schmid, 6-1 and 205, played both offensive and defensive tackle for the Panthers. He is one of Wooster's top recruits.
 "Dave has the reputation of being not only a hard hitting football player, but a gentleman on and off the field," praised Wooster mentor Pat O'Brien.
 Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmid, 1751 Buenvista Avenue, Euclid.

They totaled 712 pins and beat out 13 other schools representing eastern Cuyahoga, Lake, Geauga and Medina Counties. Approximately 200 students participated.

Major Slow sluggers hit barrage of homers

A triple play, three players hitting back-to-back homers twice, and a player hitting two grand-slam home runs highlighted Major Division Slow Pitch action Tuesday night.

Two Cro's Lounge set the pace for the night by blasting six home runs to whip ILA, 21-

Don Tropiano fielded a ground ball, tagged the runner coming from second, stepped on second himself for the second out, and threw to first to complete the triple play.

The evening's third game was rather mild as neither team managed to hit a home run. Dorset's Lounge scored six times in the sixth inning to take home a 12-7 victory over Riff Realty.

THE FIREWORKS started all over in the last game as E & W Services belted out seven home runs in an 11-4 victory over Webster Realty. Ray Whittaker, Tony Delmonti, and Tom Bryan hit back-to-back homers in the first inning and then put on a repeat performance in the fifth inning. The other homer was by Whitaker's third-four-bagger of the game in the 7th.

Hard-hitting John Durkett topped his division leading batting average to .824 with a single, a double, a triple, and two home runs to pace the Cro's attack. Also homering for Two Cro's were Doug Dolinar, Al Winton, Chuck Musgrave, and Dick Barbey while Andy Parker, Chauncey Baker, Doug Cereek, and Jerry Ferraro countered with homers for ILA.

LITTLE ITALY Merchants jumped on Molnar's Dairy Queen for 12 first-inning runs on their way to an easy, 20-5 victory in the night's second game. Gary Ferrone paced the attack as he belted two grand-slam home runs to account for 10 RBI's.

The Merchants also turned in the triple play as shortstop

Shore wins fourth track meet in row

Shore's thinclads, showing steady improvement, upset a tough Wickliffe squad, 64-36, last Thursday for their fourth straight victory after two losses.

Captain Ralph Delligatti led the Admirals with three in the long jump and hurdles, and his come-from-behind finish in the 440 relay also won that event for Shore.

BOB HAYES, Jim Stanfield and Mike Otasek round out the foursome, which has been beaten only once this year.

The top performance of the day was Al Dale's 2:08.7 in the half-mile, which, according to coach Hans Pesch, is the best junior high time in the area.

Other Shore firsts were taken by Stanfield (shot put), Chuck Booms (discus), Ed Hoccovar (440) and George Wehring (pole vault). Keith Carlin and Joe Magri helped Wehring sweep the pole vault.

POINTS were added by these second place finishers: Jeff Johnson (high jump), Gary Seifert (100), Bob Gilkerson (220) Stanfield (discus) and Booms (shot put).

Although Central lost to Forest Park, the Lions set four new school track and field records.

Kevin McDonough broke the old long jump mark with a leap of 18-8, and Richard Merrill set a new standard in the 440 dash, being timed in 55.7.

The 440 relay record was re-established with a 47.8 while the 880 relay, which beat the Ranger foursome, combined for 1:39.1.

Pitchers Jim Zollinski, Steve Tolbert and John Behm "ganged-up" on Wickliffe last Thursday as Shore won its ninth game of the season, 9-1.

The Admirals mound trio held the Blue Devils to only two hits, while Shore batters collected 13.

Steve Langdon and Warren Andrews both went three-for-four, while Dale Ergelking had a pair of safeties.

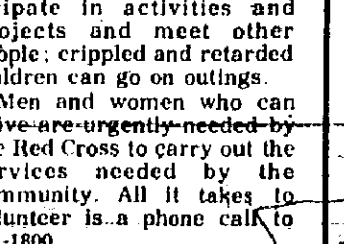

Red Cross needs volunteer drivers

Red Cross Transportation Service has several late-model buses and station wagons, needed to move people and things from one place to another. But those vehicles don't go any place without drivers.

Transportation service performs vital and unique services in the community. Because of transportation volunteers, blood is delivered to hospitals; veterans confined to V.A. hospitals can attend a ball game; golden agers are able to go from their homes or apartments to a golden age center to participate in activities and projects and meet other people; crippled and retarded children can go on outings.

Men and women who can drive are urgently needed by the Red Cross to carry out the services needed by the community. All it takes to volunteer is a phone call to 781-1800.

Jam session, picnic set at EHS June 11

Euclid High undergraduates will finish the school year to a rock 'n roll beat next Friday, June 11.

An all-day "jam session" and picnic, the brainchild of senior Tom McLaughlin, has been sanctioned by school authorities.

THE JAM session—featuring the Dave Griggs Blues Band, Production and 20 other musicians—will take place in the E-Room from 9:30 a.m. to about 6 p.m.

A bring-your-own-lunch picnic is planned for the grounds behind the school.

A 50-cent admission will be charged for the jam session. The picnic area is free.

McLAUGHLIN said any musicians who wish to take part in the jam session will be welcome—in addition to those already lined up. Microphones and other equipment will be available.

McLaughlin said he expects a crowd of more than 1,000 to enjoy the festivities—many of them EHS sophomores and juniors who will be finishing their final exams that day.

Flag day

Sounding Board

Two sets of rules?

As a home owner, I was under the impression that Euclid had strict housing codes and zoning laws as a matter of pride in our city. When putting in a driveway apron we were required to have a permit and a city inspector to make sure it was done properly.

If the home owners of our city must be under these codes, why not property owned by the city? Why can they let the Briardale area look and remain like the worst slum in any city in our nation?

There is absolutely no excuse for the City of Euclid. The residents who have paid the bills on this area, regardless of its being torn down, deserve a decent place to live until such time as it is torn down. Nobody wants or needs to live in such squalor and the home owners will not stand much longer for the neglect on the city's part.

As a resident of Briardale from 1954 to 1964, we couldn't have had a nicer place to live. The lawns were well kept by the residents, there were always flowers, and the homes were kept painted and repaired by the management. Every spring there was a clean up that was mandatory for all residents.

What happened to the rules since Euclid took over? Why are there no rules or regulations that demand the residents clean up? Does the city not care what this area looks like? Maybe some people don't care but they can be made to clean up or be removed as our lease read in 1964.

A clean up, fix up, paint up move is in dire need and right now. There is no excuse for such a mess in the middle of our city. And the people deserve a better shake than they are getting. It doesn't cost much to clean, mow and paint.

The 200th st. housing is an example of how the Briardale area could look with a little care and concern on the city's part. Why not now? As a home owner and taxpayer I demand that the city do something immediately. There is no reason for such neglect.

Mrs. Robert Phillips, 25525 Marsdon ave.

ON STAGE—John Slowey, Captain Cleveland of Channel 61, and his puppet, Private Clem, will be on stage for Euclid General Hospital's Baby Day. The ventriloquist first appeared at Baby Day in 1969.

Hospital 'Baby Day' is three-ring circus

Euclid General Hospital's 15th annual Baby Day party for four-year-olds will have the appearance of a three-ring circus this year. In order to provide continuous entertainment throughout the afternoon of June 23, three areas will be roped off on the lawn by Lake Erie.

THE CHILDREN and their mothers will be free to wander from circle to circle, watching a variety of performers. Featured in one will be Arnold, the organ-grinder, and his monkey, Sir Richard Burton. The pair made their first appearance at Baby Day last year, to the delight of the guests.

Another circle will be devoted to magic, provided by James Hagy and members of the Cleveland Magicians Club. The third circle will feature Dick Dugan, Plain Dealer artist, who will draw and give away his sketches to the children.

Performing on stage will be John Slowey, Captain Cleveland of Channel 61, and his puppet, Private Clem. The ventriloquist, who first appeared at Baby Day in 1969, is host of WKBF-TV's Luncheon Cartoon Theatre. The team has interviewed such dignitaries as Hubert H.

SEARESCUE

Percy Francis, 71, leapt into the sea to save his wife, also 71, from drowning at Folkestone, England. He suffered a broken leg during the rescue but still managed to drag his wife to the safety of a ledge in the sea wall.

Invitations were in the mail this week to all children who were born at Euclid General in 1967. Those who have moved in the past four years are urged to call the hospital's Public Relations Office, 531-9000, to report their new address.

The party starts with registration at 12:30 on Wednesday, June 23. There will be souvenirs, prizes, and free refreshments. A highlight of the afternoon will be the drawing for "Little Miss & Mister Euclid." Crowning the winners will be Lynn Alchin, Miss Super Sesqui of Cleveland.

Invitation ignored

For many of us in our world today, our concerns turn to pollution, peace in Southeast Asia, opening housing in the suburbs, welfare reforms, drugs within the youth culture and many more social problems keeping us from having the Utopian life we all yearn for. These are national problems and concerns that deserve all the support individuals can manage to work for.

But at this moment in time, I feel the need to voice my intense disappointment to all those public elected officials within Euclid's government complex.

The Euclid Boys League individually invited these persons to attend Opening Day ceremonies on Sunday, June 6, at Vets Field. This organization is entirely separate from the Euclid Recreation Department in its program and they never let us forget it. I have no way of knowing if this is the reason that all who were invited made no response one way or the other. (The one exception is Mayor Knuth, who quickly accepted the invitation.)

For over 20 years, Boys League has provided 9-to-12 year olds a summer of baseball in Euclid. This year there are over 400 boys playing on 28 teams, 26 managers, about 50 coaches, and 36 women in the Auxiliary. The parents of all these boys live in all wards throughout the city. The teams are backed by various industries, merchants, and service organizations, all in Euclid.

I wonder if the apathy towards Boys League might be less if election time were nearer.

Susan Lynn Allan (Mrs. H. Allan) 149 East 190th st.

Check Glenridge raceway

I would like to know why the speed limit is 35 miles per hour on Glenridge rd.

I think the speed limit should be reduced the short distance from Grand Blvd. to some point past Delaware rd. since so many small children walk Delaware rd. on their way to Indian Hills School.

Drivers pay no attention to the 35 mile speed limit and simply use Glenridge as a raceway. All one of these cars would have to do is hit one of the many bumps on this poorly maintained road and it would fly right up on the curb.

It is disgusting to watch these drivers fly by (sun, rain or snow) and not even slow down a little when they see small children walking to and from school.

I have never seen a radar car there to check the speed of the cars.
