STEVE BISCIOTTI

OWNER

COLLEGE: SALISBURY STATE UNIVERSITY
BORN: 4/10/60, PHILADELPHIA, PA
EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 26/26

STEVE BISCIOTTI wants consistency. His goal is to have the Ravens in the playoff hunt every season, avoiding dips that plague some franchises.

The Ravens are one of only four teams (Green Bay – 13, Baltimore – 12, Kansas City – 12 and New England – 12) to earn at least 12 postseason berths in the last 17 years (2008-24), with Baltimore winning at least one game in nine of those 12 playoff campaigns. Additionally, during this span, the Ravens have compiled the NFL's third-most postseason victories (13, tied with San Francisco), and they have advanced to four AFC Championship games (2023, 2012, 2011 and 2008), winning Super Bowl XLVII in 2012.

"We're proud of what we're giving to Baltimore," Bisciotti says. "You have to make the playoffs to have the opportunity to compete for championships, and championships are our goal. We want to be a consistent winner that avoids big lulls and not being in the playoffs for any length of time."

The Ravens are part of an elite group: They are one of 16 NFL teams with multiple Super Bowl victories. Four franchises have won one title. Eight others have earned a berth in the game and lost, while four teams have never advanced to the Super Bowl. More importantly, with their Super Bowl XLVII Championship during the 2012 season, the Ravens (two), Patriots (six), Chiefs (three) and Buccaneers, Eagles, Giants and Steelers (also two each) are the only teams that have won more than one NFL title since the turn of the century in 2000.

The passionate Bisciotti, who at 65 is the NFL's fourth-youngest majority owner (Kansas City's Clark Hunt, 60, Arizona's Michael Bidwill, 60 and Washington's Josh Harris, 60), bought a minority interest in the Ravens from Art Modell in 2000, completing the purchase of the franchise on April 9, 2004.

Steve's initial investment to the team provided funds to secure free agents for the 2000 Super Bowl XXXV Championship team. He later went on to serve the NFL for several years as a member of two important ownership committees: Broadcast and Digital Media.

When Bisciotti, now in his 26th year as an owner of the Ravens, hired Harbaugh as the team's head coach in January of 2008, some eyebrows were raised. Harbaugh had never been a head coach at any level. In fact, he had not been an NFL offensive or defensive coordinator. It was obviously the right choice. Along with the Super Bowl XLVII victory, Baltimore advanced to the playoffs in each of its first five years with Harbaugh. Now entering his 18th season in 2025, Harbaugh ties (Mike McCarthy) for the 12th-most total victories (185) by a head coach in NFL history. Additionally, Harbaugh's 13 playoff wins tie (Mike Holmgren) for the seventh most all time, while his .623 regular season winning percentage stands eighth best.

"We all saw something in John. And, you have to be willing to separate yourself from the masses – take some chances – to achieve great success," Bisciotti says of Harbaugh, who in 2019 was named NFL Coach of the Year after guiding Baltimore to a franchise-best 14-2 record. "There's probably a little bit more perception that we took a risk with John. We don't think we did."

Since taking over as the Ravens' full owner (2004), Bisciotti's teams have earned the playoffs a total of 13 times, including the AFC's No. 1 seed in both 2019 (14-2 record) and 2023 (13-4 record). His 2004 (9-7), 2013 (8-8), 2017 (9-7) and 2021 (8-9) teams were in playoff contention heading into the season's final week. Baltimore has also captured seven division crowns under Steve's leadership, and with Harbaugh at the helm (since 2008), has produced the league's third-most total victories (185, tied with Geen Bay).

Born in Philadelphia on April 10, 1960, Bisciotti moved with his family to Baltimore (Severna Park) in March of 1961 when

QUOTH THE RAVEN: STEVE BISCIOTTI

"My responsibilities are not only to my family and the people who work for the Ravens. There are over a million stakeholders in the Baltimore area who we have an obligation to. They're the fans who invest more than three hours on Sunday to watch, listen to or attend our games. That's a big difference from owning a non-sports company."
– Steve Bisciotti on owning the Ravens

"What really strikes me about Steve is his loyalty to the friends he's had forever. A lot of people, when they become very successful like Steve, they move on. His friends are the same ones he grew up with. That's one of his strengths."
– Longtime Maryland basketball coach Gary Williams

"[Steve] is a great leader. The players love him. They love when he's around. He's an inspiration to all of our guys, to me, to this organization. He sets the tone here. It's a great organization because of his vision."
– John Harbaugh on Steve Bisciotti

MOST SUPER BOWL TITLES SINCE 2000 SEASON

Titles	Team	Seasons
6	New England Patriots	2001,'03, '04,'14, '16, '18
3	Kansas City Chiefs	2019, 2022, 2023

2	New York Giants	2007, 2011
2	Philadelphia Eagles	2017, 2024
2	Pittsburgh Steelers	2005, 2008

Steve, the youngest of three children, was 11 months old. His father, Bernard, took the children to Orioles and Colts games. Sadly, Bernard died of leukemia when Steve was 8. His mother, Patricia, a huge Ravens fan, then raised the children.

After graduating from Salisbury (Md.) State University in 1982 with a degree in liberal arts, Bisciotti worked in the temporary help industry. In 1983 (at age 23), he started Aerotek with his cousin, Jim Davis. They offered aerospace and technology companies access to skilled temporary employees.

Aerotek is part of Allegis Group, the largest staffing firm in the United States and the largest privately held talent management firm in the world. The company, headquartered just outside Baltimore, has offices throughout North America, Europe and Asia Pacific. Allegis Group has over 15,000 internal employees and 110,000 employees assigned to client engagements. These include engineers, scientists, IT professionals, accountants, attorneys and industrial workers.

Before purchasing the Ravens, Bisciotti's business success was not well known to the public on a national level, or even notable in the Baltimore area, where he and his partners kept a low profile. "I'm OK if I'm one of the least known owners in pro sports," Bisciotti says.

Steve, an energetic visionary, is quietly dedicated to several important causes and projects, some associated with his deep Catholic faith. He is a board member for Catholic Charities and created The Stephen and Renee Bisciotti Foundation. Much of Bisciotti's extensive charity work and generous giving are done without public notice, although, in 2020, it was announced that the foundation and the Ravens combined to donate $5 million to assist vital programs supported by Catholic Charities from more than 200 locations in Baltimore City and nine Maryland counties. In August of 2020, the foundation and the Ravens also jointly distributed $1 million to support social justice reform in Baltimore, with a committee of current and former Ravens players determining the 28 programs chosen to receive funds from the contribution.

Additionally, at the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, Steve and Renee's foundation and the Ravens combined to donate $1 million to support four nonprofit organizations – the Fund for Educational Excellence, the United Way of Central Maryland, the Baltimore Community Foundation and the Maryland Food Bank – in their efforts to combat the public health crisis.

In June of 2021, Steve and Renee honored Ozzie Newsome – the Ravens' longtime personnel executive and Pro Football Hall of Famer – by making a $4 million gift in his name to Maryland's Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). Through their foundation, the $4 million donation created the Ozzie Newsome Scholars Program, which funds scholarships for Baltimore City Public Schools graduates who attend an HBCU in Maryland.

In January of 2023, The Stephen and Renee Bisciotti Foundation and the Ravens made a $20 million commitment to the Boys & Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Baltimore to create the Baltimore Ravens Boys & Girls Club at Hilton Recreation Center. The previously-closed center has undergone a comprehensive renovation resulting in a space where hundreds of children ages 6-18 will participate daily in youth development programs, beginning in the winter of 2025.

In April of 2024, Steve and Renee's foundation and the Ravens announced a $30 million donation to help form the Ravens College Access program, which benefits three organizations – CollegeBound, Bridges Baltimore and College Track – dedicated to providing access to higher education.

In the spring of 2025, the foundation and Ravens provided a $20 million grant for four Baltimore-area hospitals to grow the nursing workforce and provide support for nurses. This investment came shortly after a separate $3.75 million Bisciotti Foundation/Ravens partnership announcement that supports Baltimore's Healthy Harbor Initiative.

Bisciotti enjoys golfing and boating. He and his wife, Renee (Foote), are the parents of two sons: Jason and Jack, both of whom reside with their families in the Baltimore area.

QUOTH THE RAVEN: STEVE BISCIOTTI

"I remember going to a couple of Colts games every season with my dad or mom and brother (Mike) and sister (Cathy Thomas). We were on the 10-yard line, lower deck. We'd go to O's games, too. My favorite player was Paul Blair, because my brother already claimed Brooks Robinson and would not let me take the same guy. We'd also go to Westminster for Colts training camp. We have pictures with various players, and I have one with me wearing Johnny Unitas' helmet. I would always ask the Colts players if I could wear their helmets."

ERIC DECOSTA

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER

COLLEGE: COLBY
BORN: 4/10/71, TAUNTON, MA
EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 30/30

ERIC DECOSTA's loyalty, love and pride for the Baltimore Ravens are unmatched. A pillar of the organization's well-laid foundation, DeCosta has been with the franchise since Day One, first beginning as an intern during the inaugural 1996 season and then ascending to the personnel department's chief decision-maker in 2019.

Prior to being named executive vice president and general manager – succeeding the legendary Ozzie Newsome – DeCosta, 54, received GM interview offers annually from multiple teams over the years. Yet, he never seriously considered leaving Baltimore, because Eric's respect for – and thorough understanding of – the Ravens' culture aligned perfectly with his dream job.

"I'm the kind of person who appreciates people who stick with things," DeCosta admits. "Even when I think about athletes I've admired, people I've admired, they've had long tenures in different places. But I love this community. My family is from this community. I love the people I work with day to day. Anyone who knows me knows that."

In 2007, Ravens owner Steve Bisciotti first approached DeCosta about someday becoming general manager. Years later, they decided Eric would continue to serve as Newsome's top lieutenant through 2018, helping groom him for the GM role and setting up a seamless transition.

"Did I have chances [to leave]? Yes," DeCosta shares. "Did I have a lot? Yes. Did I ever really consider it? Not really, because every time I'd go to bed thinking that maybe I would consider something, I'd wake up and say, 'What are you, crazy? You know you're going to have the job someday that you've dreamed about, so just wait and make it perfect.'"

From an outside perspective, the imminent ascension might have spawned challenges in DeCosta's relationship with Newsome. That was never the case, however, because the duo has always had a remarkable connection – one that forged a rare professional partnership and an extraordinary friendship.

"He's an outside-the-box thinker, but his football beliefs are based on substance, history and collected wisdom. He can see the unintended consequences that come with certain big decisions. He'll push the envelope to make sure we're covering all possibilities."

– Ravens EVP Ozzie Newsome on Eric DeCosta

"Ozzie basically took a 25-year-old kid who had no experience in the NFL, who was so different from him, and gave me a chance and accepted me," DeCosta says fondly. "He and I have always been very different in a lot of ways, but so aligned. It's a special relationship in my life. I've learned a lot of football, but honestly, just a lot more about being a good person."

A graduate of the Ravens' "20/20 Club," which includes members of the personnel staff who started with the team as young assistants and grew into evaluators with more input, DeCosta quickly moved up the ranks. He was first a personnel intern (1996), then area scout (1997-2002), then director of college scouting (2003-08), then director of player personnel (2009-11) and then assistant GM (2012-18).

It became evident early in DeCosta's tenure that he was destined for NFL success. Brimming with passion, resourcefulness, a relentless attitude and an advanced aptitude, he quickly earned his co-workers' respect.

"When Ray Lewis walked into camp his first day, he never really was truly a rookie," former Ravens SVP of football operations Pat Moriarty recalls. "He was Ray Lewis, our starting linebacker. [That same year of 1996], I think Eric was never 'Eric the Intern.' He was more than a scout."

Raised in Taunton, MA, DeCosta set his sights on becoming an NFL GM from the age of 6. His interest first piqued in 1978, when, contrary to many of his friends who were Patriots and Broncos fans, he began to follow the Cowboys.

"I was fascinated by the Cowboys and Tom Landry, Gil Brandt, Tex Schramm – the whole notion of scouting and building a football team," DeCosta states. "Doing things differently than all the other teams did back then really appealed to me."

Throughout much of his upbringing, Eric would study the NFL – particularly the draft – in a detailed manner that continuously amazed friends and family members.

His passion for the game of football was also quite evident on the field. Though, admittedly, he was never the biggest, fastest, smartest or most talented athlete, DeCosta was undoubtedly the hardest worker – someone always seeking ways to make himself better and gain a competitive edge.

While attending Colby College in Maine, the undersized linebacker went on to become a three-year starter and senior captain. He knew every assignment on the gridiron, holding himself to the highest of standards, all while inspiring teammates to reach new levels.

After graduating from Colby in 1992, DeCosta took part in a graduate coaching fellowship for the football team at Trinity University, where he would also earn a master's in English. But as time passed, he became uncertain about where a coaching path would lead. Looking to maximize his options, Eric applied to law school and prepared to pursue a new career, rather than cling to his football passion.

However, a chance encounter reinvigorated DeCosta's football pursuits in 1995, when he met someone who had completed an internship with Washington's NFL team. Upon learning of such NFL opportunities, Eric immediately sent resumes and letters to all 32 clubs. In response, he received rejection notices from all but one team – Washington – which hired him to serve as a training camp intern.

Thanks to that experience, DeCosta had finally – and successfully – broken into the NFL. The following year (1996), he landed the Ravens' personnel internship during their first-ever season. Coincidentally, he accepted Baltimore's offer the same day he learned that he had been placed on the University of Connecticut Law School waitlist.

"I was willing to take a chance," DeCosta affirms, "because I knew that once I got to Baltimore, I'd do everything to make the most of my opportunity."

The rest, as they say, is history – something bolstered by loyalty, love and pride from a man who helped build an organization, just as much as the organization built him.

"Perhaps we should just change the name of the NFL Draft to the 'Ravens Invitational,' because nobody crushes this event – year-in and year-out – like Baltimore. Take a bow, Eric DeCosta – you continue to do the great Ozzie Newsome proud." – NFL.com's Adam Schein

JOHN HARBAUGH

HEAD COACH

COLLEGE: MIAMI (OH)
BORN: 9/23/62, PERRYSBURG, OH
EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 28/18

Super Bowl-winning head coach JOHN HARBAUGH is in his 18th season at the Ravens' helm. The 2019 NFL Coach of the Year has led Baltimore to a playoff berth in 12 (2008-12, 2014, 2018-20 & 2022-24) of his 17 previous seasons, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second World Championship.

Though he never wants it to be about him, it's impossible to ignore Harbaugh's significant success. Here's a look at the NFL's second-longest-tenured head coach (Mike Tomlin – 19 seasons), entering the 2025 campaign:

- Harbaugh ties (Mike McCarthy) for the 12th-most total victories (185, including playoffs) by a head coach in NFL history. Additionally, his 13 playoff wins tie (Mike Holmgren) for the seventh most all time, while his .623 regular season winning percentage stands eighth best.
- Since Harbaugh's 2008 Baltimore arrival, the Ravens tie (GB) for the NFL's third-most total victories (185). He has also led the Ravens to 172 regular season wins since 2008, ranking as the league's fourth most.
- Under Harbaugh, Baltimore (12) is one of four teams (GB – 13, KC – 12 & NE – 12) to earn a playoff berth in at least 12 of the past 17 seasons. Baltimore (six) is also one of four teams (KC – seven, Buf. – six & Phi. – six) to make the playoffs in at least six of the past seven seasons (2018-24).
- The Ravens' 13 playoff wins since 2008 tie (SF) for the NFL's third most, trailing only Kansas City (18) and New England (16). Of those Baltimore victories, an NFL-best eight have come on the road.
- Harbaugh's 13 playoff victories tie (Mike Holmgren) for the fourth most by a head coach in the first 17 seasons of an NFL coaching career (Joe Gibbs & Bill Belichick – 17; Chuck Noll – 15).
- Harbaugh owns the most road playoff wins (eight) by a head coach in NFL history. Tom Landry (Dal.) and Tom Coughlin (Jax./NYG) are second with seven each.
- Harbaugh is one of five coaches to earn at least 12 playoff berths in his first 17 seasons (Pete Carroll, Bud Grant, Mike Holmgren & Mike McCarthy all with 12).
- The 2012 Ravens won Super Bowl XLVII, 34-31, over the San Francisco 49ers in one of the most dramatic games in NFL history. Baltimore jumped to a 28-6 lead, but needed a critical goal-line stand late in the fourth quarter to help seal the victory. The Ravens overcame a furious second-half comeback and a 34-minute power outage at the Mercedes-Benz Superdome in New Orleans to clinch the franchise's second World Championship.
- Under Harbaugh's guidance, the Ravens have appeared in four AFC Championship games (2008, 2011, 2012 & 2023) and have won at least one playoff game in nine of their 12 postseasons with him as head coach.
- Harbaugh is the only head coach in NFL history (since 1970 merger) to win a playoff game in each of his first five seasons. Notably, no other NFL coach has won a playoff game in each of their first four seasons at the helm. He is also the only head coach in NFL history to win a playoff game in six of the first seven seasons of a coaching career.
- John and his brother, Jim (2011, 2012 & 2013), the former 49ers head coach and current Chargers head coach, are the only NFL head coaches to reach three conference championships in the first five seasons of a coaching career.
- With Harbaugh, the Ravens have posted a 99-39 mark at M&T Bank Stadium over the past 17 seasons, ranking as the NFL's second-best home winning percentage (.717) during that span (2008-24).
- In 2019, the Ravens recorded a franchise-best 14-2 record. Baltimore won a team-record 12 straight games to close out the regular season, also earning the franchise's first-ever No. 1 playoff seed.
- Coach Harbaugh has led the Ravens to six AFC North Division titles (2011-12, 2018-19 & 2023-24).

From his job interview with the Ravens, to his first press conference, to his consistent action and talk about Baltimore, it is all about "the team" for Harbaugh. Signs can be seen around the Ravens' complex:

"The Team, The Team, The Team."

JOHN HARBAUGH

Despite his continued success, "Harbs" diffuses accolades: "It's about us. It's about the team. It's about the players, the coaches, Steve [Bisciotti], Ozzie [Newsome], Eric [DeCosta] and the scouts. It's about Dick [Cass], Sashi [Brown] and the support staff. It's about all of us pulling together to win – to be the best."

Unlike other NFL head coaches, "Harbs" took the road less traveled. Most NFL field bosses graduate from pro jobs that include the word "coordinator" after "offensive" or "defensive," or they emerge from leading big-time college programs. Before becoming the Ravens' head coach in 2008, John was the Eagles' secondary coach (2007), and prior to that, Philadelphia's special teams coordinator (1998-2006) and a 14-year collegiate coach. (Harbaugh grew up learning about the game from his father, Jack, a longtime college coach.)

In 1998, then-Eagles head coach Ray Rhodes hired Harbaugh, who quickly established a reputation as one of the NFL's top special teams coaches. Subsequently, he was one of four assistants retained by Andy Reid in 1999.

Prior to hiring Harbaugh, the Ravens talked with over 40 people about the energetic coach. "Did we take a chance by hiring John? My belief is that you have to be willing to do things the masses don't, or you'll never separate yourself from the masses," team owner Steve Bisciotti stated. "We obviously picked the right person."

Simply put, Harbaugh strives to be the best. "We don't want to just win a championship. We want to be a championship team," he stated. "We seek the highest levels."

ADDITIONAL RAVENS NOTES DURING HARBAUGH ERA: Maintaining a strong defensive tradition during his time in Baltimore (2008-24), Harbaugh's defense has allowed the NFL's fewest scrimmage touchdowns (525), the fewest points per game (19.1) and the second-fewest net yards per game (318.6). Under Harbaugh, the Ravens have posted a Top 5 scoring defense in 10 of his 17 seasons at the helm, including the No. 1 unit (16.5 ppg allowed) in 2023. Additionally, Baltimore has boasted 13 Top 10 defenses (yards allowed per game), including the No. 6 unit (301.4) in 2023 and the No. 10 unit (324.2) in 2024.

The Ravens' offense has also experienced record-setting success during the Harbaugh Era. In 2019, Baltimore finished No. 1 in the NFL in points (33.2) and rushing yards (206.0) per game, while it was No. 2 in total yards (407.6). In 2019, the Ravens also became the first team ever to average 200 passing and 200 rushing yards per game in a season. Baltimore also set a new NFL single-season (Super Bowl Era) rushing record (3,296 yards), besting the 1978 Patriots' 3,165. Additionally, in 2019, the Ravens set season team records for touchdowns (64, since broken in 2024), points (531), net yards (6,521, eclipsed in 2024), rushing yards (3,296) and first downs (386, eclipsed in 2021). This attack was led by unanimous NFL MVP QB Lamar Jackson, who accounted for a league-high 43 total TDs, including a league-best (and then-franchise-record) 36 passing scores. Jackson also rushed for 1,206 yards, setting a new NFL single-season record by a QB. A year later, the 2020 Ravens produced the NFL's No. 1 ground attack (191.9 ypg) again, with their 3,071 rushing yards standing as the third most in a 16-game NFL season. (The Ravens own two of the Top 3 16-game-season marks.) Producing a multifaceted attack over the past several seasons (2018-24), Baltimore has rushed for an NFL-high 171.2 yards per contest and has scored the league's second-most points per game (26.9) since Jackson's rookie campaign.

On special teams, an impressive seven Ravens have earned 17 combined Pro Bowl honors while playing for Harbaugh: ST Brendon Ayanbadejo (2008), K Billy Cundiff (2010), RS Jacoby Jones (2012), K Justin Tucker (2013, 2016 & 2019-23), LS Morgan Cox (2015-16 & 2019-20), P Sam Koch (2015) and RS Devin Duvernay (2021-22). A byproduct of the Ravens consistently producing one of the NFL's top special teams units during Harbaugh's tenure, senior NFL writer Rick Gosselin ranked the Ravens in the Top 6 of his annual comprehensive ratings system in seven consecutive seasons (2012-18). (This includes a No. 1 ranking in 2015.) In 2021, Baltimore's special teams unit finished No. 1 in both Gosselin's rankings and Football Outsiders' DVOA ratings.

NFL ASSISTANT COACH: 1998-2007 (with Philadelphia) Harbaugh's special teams in Philadelphia were consistently ranked among the NFL's best. From 2000-05, the Eagles' units finished in the Top 10 in five of those seasons in The Dallas Morning News' special teams rankings. In 2001 and 2003, Philly ranked No. 1, according to senior NFL writer Rick Gosselin's composite ratings (includes 22 kicking-game categories).

"What separates John from a lot of different coaches is that he watches every player. He has a tremendous work ethic, he has a passion for it, and he works well [with the scouts]. He has tremendous credibility with the scouts because they know he's done the work. That's what I love; that's a joy. He has a strong opinion, but it's always backed up by the tape and by what he wants on this team, and the scouts and coaches always respect that."

– EVP & GM Eric DeCosta on John's involvement with the draft process

Following the 2001 campaign, Harbaugh was voted the NFL's Special Teams Coach of the Year by his peers. He was also named The Dallas Morning News Special Teams Coach of the Year that season. In just four seasons (1998-2001), Harbaugh elevated the Eagles' special teams from 29th to first in the NFL.

In 1999, the Eagles signed K David Akers, who had been working as a part-time waiter after brief kicking stints with Carolina, Atlanta and Washington. With Harbaugh's help, Akers earned three Pro Bowl honors. Harbaugh also worked with P Dirk Johnson, another "street" free agent, helping him record the then-Top 2 punting averages (38.4 in 2005 and 37.4 in 2004) in Eagles history. Under "Harbs," 15 Eagles earned Special Teams Player of the Week awards, while snapper Mike Bartrum was named to the Pro Bowl, and return specialist Reno Mahe led the NFL with a 12.8-yard punt return average in 2005.

COLLEGE COACHING CAREER: Among John's 40 years of coaching is a two-year stint (1995-96) as the assistant head coach at the University of Cincinnati, finishing 6-5 both seasons with the Bearcats. He coached 10 years on offense and four on defense at the collegiate level, launching his coaching career in 1984 at the age of 21 as a graduate assistant for his father at Western Michigan. In his second position at the University of Pittsburgh (1987), he was mentored by the legendary Sid Gillman, a Pro Football Hall of Famer. John also coached the tight ends at Pitt under head coach Mike Gottfried. While at Cincinnati (1989-96), Harbaugh coached special teams, tight ends, outside linebackers and running backs, and he served as the recruiting coordinator.

Over eight years, Harbaugh recruited 27 starters for the Bearcats and tutored both the NCAA's top return man (former Raven Robert Tate, 34.3 KOR average in 1995) and the second-ranked returner (current Ravens assistant head coach/pass game coordinator Chris Hewitt, 31.5 KOR average in 1993). John was part of a staff that helped Cincinnati produce three out of four winning seasons (1993, 1995-96) for the first time in 20 years.

"Harbs" also coached one season at Indiana in 1997 as the defensive backs coach/special teams coordinator, under former Ravens offensive coordinator Cam Cameron, and one year at Morehead State in 1988 as the defensive backs coach/special teams and strength and conditioning coordinator.

COACHING HONORS: Leading the 2019 Ravens to a franchise-record 14-2 season and No. 1 seed in the playoffs, Harbaugh was named the Associated Press and PFWA NFL Coach of the Year. He was also named AFC Coach of the Year by the NFL 101 Awards and "Greasy" Neale Pro Coach of the Year (Maxwell Football Club) in 2019. In April 2014, Harbaugh was inducted into Miami (Ohio) University's "Cradle of Coaches Association" and was immortalized with an on-campus statue. Harbaugh's statue joins existing Cradle of Coaches statues for Earl "Red" Blaik, Paul Brown, Carm Cozza, Paul Dietzel, Weeb Ewbank, Sean McVay, Ara Parseghian, John Pont and Bo Schembechler. The Cradle of Coaches honors Miami graduates who have earned recognition as national collegiate or professional Coaches of the Year, who have been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame or the Pro Football Hall of Fame, or whose teams won national collegiate or professional/Super Bowl championships.

HARBAUGH COACHING FAMILY: Harbaugh is from a football family. His father, Jack, is a 41-year coaching veteran who won the 2002 NCAA Division I-AA football championship as the head coach at Western Kentucky. His younger brother, Jim, who was the Ravens' starting QB in 1998, played 14 seasons in the NFL, was the San Francisco 49ers' head coach from 2011-14 and led the University of Michigan to a National Championship in 2023. (The Los Angeles Chargers hired Jim as their head coach in 2024.) In a showdown that featured the first-ever NFL game between head coaches who are brothers, John's Ravens bested Jim's 49ers, 16-6, in a 2011 Thanksgiving Night primetime special. The Ravens, of course, then topped the 49ers, 34-31, in Super Bowl XLVII. The brothers' sister, Joani, is married to longtime collegiate basketball coach Tom Crean.

COLLEGE: Harbaugh earned a degree in political science at Miami (OH), where he won the Football Scholar Athlete Award as a defensive back for the Redhawks. He earned his master's in physical education at Western Michigan.

HARBAUGH IMMORTALIZED WITH STATUE AT ALMA MATER

In April 2014, Harbaugh was inducted into Miami (OH) University's "Cradle of Coaches Association" and was immortalized with an on-campus statue.

"I don't think you can even express what something like this means. I've been trying to figure it out," Harbaugh said. "There's nothing like Miami. There's nothing like being back here. Words can't describe my gratitude for being part of this."

The cross-country visit from Jim (then head coach of the 49ers) was a surprise: "There have been a lot of proud moments, but I've never been more proud of [John] than I am today," Jim said. "I always prided myself on being the tallest Harbaugh, but that all changed today when they unveiled that statue."

COMMUNITY IMPACT: Devoted to his family and Christian faith, John is most active in helping the Baltimore area be better for families. He earned the 2011 "Power of Excellence Award" from the (Ben) Carson Scholars for "demonstrating excellence in life and being a role model." He served on the board of the Port Discovery Children's Museum and is a contributor to numerous Baltimore-area events and charities. Also a willing volunteer, his wife, Ingrid, contributes to the Helping Up Mission and Sarah's House, and she is on the Board of Trustees at The Maryland Zoo in Baltimore. In 2020, the couple made significant donations to help fund the distribution of meals to healthcare workers serving on the frontlines of the COVID-19 pandemic. John and Ingrid also support Compassion International, which is an organization that aims to positively impact the long-term development of children living in poverty globally. Additionally, the couple is heavily involved in FCA Baltimore and has sponsored several Baltimore City girls' lacrosse teams, helping make the sport more available to youth who don't traditionally have much access.

Harbaugh is a strong advocate of the U.S. Military. The NFL awarded him its 2013 Salute to Service Award, acknowledging exceptional efforts by those in the league who honor and support military members. (He was also a finalist for the award in 2011.) In 2012, the late Army Chief of Staff General Raymond Odierno presented him with the Outstanding Civilian Service Award. Harbaugh has also visited numerous military installations, including bases in the Persian Gulf as part of the inaugural NFL USO Coaches Tour (2009), the Naval Special Warfare Center in Coronado, Calif., (2011), Andrews Air Force Base – just two days after the capture of Osama Bin Laden (2011) – and undisclosed locations in Turkey and Afghanistan.

In 2008, Harbaugh helped institute Military Appreciation Day – an annual event that takes place during Ravens training camp. Since its establishment, nearly 12,000 service members have enjoyed preferred seating and opportunities to meet Ravens players and coaches. Once the season begins, Harbaugh then invites wounded warriors to be his guests at every Ravens home game. In 2017, he donated New Era hats to soldiers in Afghanistan. The hats represented all four of the major professional sports leagues and several from the NCAA. Additionally, he has purchased school supplies for children whose parents are serving in the military and has sent care packages to troops overseas.

The late General Raymond Odierno, then-Chief of Staff of the Army, presented John Harbaugh with an Outstanding Civilian Service Award at Joint Base Myer-Henderson Hall, VA, on May 23, 2012.

HARBAUGH COACHING ACADEMY

The Harbaugh coaching family (Jack, John, Jim and Tom Crean) debuted their Harbaugh Coaching Academy (HCA) in 2024. The four men and their team of proven leaders joined together to help make a difference in the lives of athletes by way of the coaches who lead them. The academy starts by supporting coaches, teachers, instructors and even parents with the resources to bring out the best in their players both on and off the field. From tactical instruction and leadership skills to inspirational stories and the importance of mental health, HCA provides expert-backed content – filled with unique insights and techniques – to help improve team performance and change young lives for the better. For more information, please visit: https://harbaughcoachingacademy.org/.

PERSONAL: A history buff, Harbaugh has taken the Ravens to Gettysburg, Pa., during offseason team activities to learn about the Civil War. Near the end of the 2017 training camp, he surprised the entire team by cancelling practice on two occasions, loading everyone on buses to visit The Pentagon and Arlington National Cemetery and another day visit to the National Museum of African American History and Culture in Washington, D.C. The trips were opportunities for players, coaches and staff to receive behind-the-scenes tours of the historic locations and show appreciation for what each represents.

John attended Pioneer (Ann Arbor, MI) HS, where he and his brother, Jim, were inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in 2016. John and Ingrid have one daughter, Alison, a 2024 University of Notre Dame alum who played lacrosse for the Irish and at South Florida (graduate year) and is currently attending law school at Loyola University Chicago.

What's next in line of things you want to accomplish?

"I'm happy where I am and I love what I do. I don't feel the need to push for something else. Nothing that's above me interests me enough to have to give up something I love. Yes, it's a lot of work, and there are days when I'm frazzled, but I don't feel the need or pressure to go to a higher position. I'm happy where I am and still find a lot of value in my job."

I like that you are so sure about your role and the value it brings to the organization. So, lastly, what are you most proud of?

"I still get phone calls and texts from people I've worked with -- players, coaches, staff -- either checking in or asking me for help, because they know I'll be able to help them figure out whatever they're missing. It's my reputation that I'm most proud of, because people still want to reach out, talk to or come see me."

ASSISTANT TO THE HEAD COACH/DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

COLLEGE: AMERICAN UNIVERSITY BORN: 1/9/93, CINCINNATI, OH EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 4/4

A local phenom, Rosburg prepped at River Hill (Clarksville, MD) HS, where she was named 2010-11's Gatorade Maryland Volleyball Player of the Year, recognizing her outstanding athletic excellence, high standards of academic achievement and exemplary character demonstrated on and off the court. Her brother, Jerad, is a professional hockey player in the NHL, while her sister, Margaret, is a nurse and former volleyball player at St. Louis University. Megan's father is former Ravens special teams coordinator/associate head coach Jerry Rosburg.

NEW YORK TIMES PIECE ON MEGAN ROSBURG

In 2024, Ravens Assistant to the Head Coach/Defensive Assistant Megan Rosburg was the subject of a New York Times profile written by Tashan Reed. Below are excerpts from Reed's piece on Rosburg, which can be found in its entirety at: https://www.nytimes.com/athletic/5598386/2024/08/05/megan-rosburg-ravens-assistant-coach/

Rosburg, now 31, is one of 12 full-time female coaches in the NFL. Seeing the players galvanize around her message affirmed to Rosburg that they respected her just like any other coach on staff.

"At the end of the day, it's all about the players. Whether you're a female coach or a male coach, your resume is what they do on tape," Rosburg said. "If you can give the players information or give them an advantage to help them win on Sunday, they will trust you, and they will respect you. If you're genuine, and you do things that will help them win and help them prolong their career, it doesn't matter what you look like. … If you're real with them and you can help them, they'll trust you as their coach."

OZZIE NEWSOME

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

COLLEGE: ALABAMA
BORN: 3/16/56, MUSCLE SHOALS, AL
EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 48/30 (13 PLAYING, 35 FRONT OFFICE)

OZZIE NEWSOME's legacy is unlike any the game of football has produced. Simply put, "The Wizard" will forever remain in a class of his own.

Flourishing at every point of his football career, Newsome has not just followed a successful path, he has blazed the trail. Known throughout all of sports as a premier leader, Newsome is a Hall of Fame player, the architect of Baltimore's Super Bowl XXXV and Super Bowl XLVII championship teams and an elite personnel evaluator who became the NFL's first African American general manager in 2002.

(In 2019, Newsome's longtime top lieutenant, Eric DeCosta, took over as the Ravens' EVP & GM. However, Newsome maintains a significant role within the organization as its executive vice president.)

"If Ozzie wasn't already in the Hall of Fame as a tight end, they would be putting him in as a general manager," Hall of Fame GM Bill Polian stated.

"Ozzie is special as a person," head coach John Harbaugh states. "Obviously, he's great at what he does – that's proven. He's been great at everything that he's done. If you look at his history, he's a Hall of Famer; he's in every Hall of Fame there is and still counting. For me, it goes beyond that; it goes to who he is as a person – the type of husband he is, the type of father he is, the type of friend he is, confidant, advisor, just all-around good person with a great heart and a strong faith."

Newsome's remarkable football journey began in Leighton, AL, where he first stepped onto the gridiron with the hope of playing college football. That dream turned into a reality when he became a standout at Alabama under Bear Bryant from 1974-77. "Coach Bryant helped me grow up," states Newsome, who has a sideline portrait of the legendary coach and mentor on his office wall. "He pushed me further than I thought I could go, both on and off the field."

In 1978, Cleveland selected Newsome in the first round (23rd overall) of the NFL Draft. Playing 13 years for the Browns, he authored the most productive career for a tight end in the game's history. A three-time Pro Bowler, his 662 receptions for 7,980 yards and 47 TDs stood as NFL records by a TE until Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe surpassed those marks in 2001 (HOFer Tony Gonzalez now owns the catches and receiving yards marks, while Antonio Gates holds the TDs record).

Following his storied playing days, Ozzie joined Cleveland's front office. His initial non-player position came as an assignment scout in 1991. Two years later, he was promoted to a comprehensive role – assistant to the head coach/offense/pro personnel. "I had to find out which direction my career would go," Newsome explains. "Art [Modell] gave me the opportunity to work with the coaches, and I enjoyed that. At the same time, I increased my experience with the personnel department and decided that's where I wanted my career to head."

In 1994, Newsome was named the Browns' director of pro personnel. Although he continued to help on the field, Ozzie provided detailed studies on other NFL players and recommended which players the Browns should try to acquire. When the franchise moved to Baltimore in 1996, Mr. Modell invited Newsome and promoted him to vice president of player personnel. From that point, Ozzie's reputation as a supreme talent assessor grew quickly.

In the Ravens' first-ever draft, Newsome tabbed T Jonathan Ogden and LB Ray Lewis (fourth and 26th selections, respectively). Combining to produce an amazing 24 Pro Bowl honors, Ogden became the first Ravens' draft choice elected into the Pro Football Hall of Fame (2013), while Lewis was enshrined in 2018. Fittingly, the duo joined Newsome, who was inducted into the Hall as a Brown in 1999.

Another top Newsome draft pick, S Ed Reed (2002), received a gold jacket in 2019, giving the Ravens three first-ballot Hall of Famers – all selected by "The Wizard."

Starting with Ogden and Lewis, Newsome consistently

OZZIE NEWSOME

"He and I have always been very different in a lot of ways, but so aligned. It's a special relationship in my life. I've learned a lot of football, but honestly, just a lot more about being a good person. So, I am extremely happy that Ozzie is going to play such a significant role moving forward for this organization."

– Ravens EVP & GM Eric DeCosta on Ozzie Newsome

compiled impressive draft classes for the Ravens. In the team's first 23 drafts (1996-2018) – all led by Newsome – Baltimore tabbed 24 first-rounders who have earned a total of 68 Pro Bowl honors. When the Ravens had a high pick, they didn't miss. Of the eight players chosen in the Top 10 by Baltimore, five (Ogden, OLB Peter Boulware, CB Chris McAlister, RB Jamal Lewis, the 2003 NFL Offensive POTY, and OLB Terrell Suggs, the 2011 NFL Defensive POTY) earned Pro Bowl accolades. Additionally, Baltimore picked in the bottom half of the first round with uncanny success: Lewis was twice named the NFL Defensive Player of the Year; TE Todd Heap (31st) went to two Pro Bowls; Reed (24th) was chosen an All-Star nine times and earned NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 2004; QB Joe Flacco (18th) was named Super Bowl XLVII MVP, leading the Ravens to their second championship in 2012; LB C.J. Mosley (17th) became the first Ravens rookie to garner Pro Bowl honors after an exceptional 2014 season (and again in 2016-18); and four-time Pro Bowler QB Lamar Jackson (32nd) has twice been named NFL MVP (2019 & 2023), plus earned three first-team All-Pro nods.

Amazingly, in the Ravens' brief history with Newsome at the helm, he drafted 25 players who earned Pro Bowl honors in Baltimore. When including 2006 Pro Bowl LB Bart Scott, Pro Bowl K Justin Tucker (2013, 2016 & 2019-23), Pro Bowl LS Morgan Cox (2015-16 & 2019-20) and Pro Bowl FB Patrick Ricard (2019-22, 2024), who signed as rookie free agents in 2002, 2012, 2010 and 2017, respectively, Baltimore produced 29 homegrown Pro Bowlers under Newsome's leadership.

In addition to his knack for evaluating talent on the field, Ozzie has also mastered the ability to develop and share insight with scouts who work under him. Over time, Newsome developed the Ravens' methodical and disciplined draft process, one that's foundation is laid years in advance. Now led by DeCosta, the "process" includes 28 members of the scouting department, but also has feedback from Ravens coaches. Much of Baltimore's staff has been with the team since the franchise started in 1996 or has graduated from the "20/20 Club," a group that consists of members who began with the Ravens as young assistants and grew into evaluators with more input. (The term "20/20" refers to hiring "20-year-olds for $20,000." "Actually, the guys started when they were a little older than 20 and for more than $20,000, but that's what we call them," Newsome adds.)

DeCosta and Newsome, who is on the NFL's Competition Committee and the NFL Player Care Foundation Board, encourage all scouts and coaches to have strong opinions, noting specifically that they want to hear what everyone in the room has to say. Because of this philosophy, one of the biggest strengths of the Ravens' personnel team is that "we respect and listen to each other."

"We've been fortunate to have guys who cut their teeth right here in Baltimore, and our methods and philosophies have become engrained," Newsome affirms. "We have had great guys with Phil Savage, 'Shack' [James Harris], George Kokinis, Eric DeCosta and other people who were helping these young scouts along the way. I think that's the secret. It's the way we do things, and the way these guys gravitate to the process of the Baltimore Ravens."

With leadership from Newsome, Baltimore also fosters an environment that breeds standout coaches. By bringing in individuals who embrace the "Raven Way," Baltimore creates a synergy that manufactures success among scouts, coaches and players. As a result, the Ravens have had many assistants move on to become or return as head coaches, both on the collegiate and NFL level: Jim Caldwell (Lions), David Culley (Texans), Jack Del Rio (Jaguars/Raiders), Vic Fangio (Broncos), Kirk Ferentz (Iowa), Thomas Hammock (Northern Illinois), Pat Hill (Fresno State), Hue Jackson (Raiders/Browns), Gary Kubiak (Broncos), Marvin Lewis (Bengals), Mike Macdonald (Seahawks), Eric Mangini (Browns/Jets), Rick Neuheisel (UCLA), Mike Nolan (49ers), Chuck Pagano (Colts), Mike Pettine (Browns), Rex Ryan (Jets/Bills), Jim Schwartz (Lions), David Shaw (Stanford), Mike Singletary (49ers), Mike Smith (Falcons) and Ken Whisenhunt (Cardinals/Titans).

"[Ravens] guys love to play the game, and those are the guys you surround yourself with," states Ryan, who worked with Newsome from 1999-2008. "That's why you have a chance to be successful [in Baltimore]."

The organization's gameday experience has consistently ranked among the NFL's best, with 2023 yielding a No. 3 overall satisfaction score, including the No. 1 spot for game entertainment (according to the NFL's annual Voice of the Fan Survey). DICK CASS

PRESIDENT EMERITUS

COLLEGE: PRINCETON / YALE LAW SCHOOL
BORN: 1/13/46, WASHINGTON, D.C.
SERVED 18 YEARS AS RAVENS TEAM PRESIDENT (2004-22)

Following 18 years as the Ravens' team president, DICK CASS retired on April 1, 2022. Throughout his impressive career, Cass made an indelible impression while overseeing all business areas for the Ravens, including finances, budgeting, non-football personnel, corporate sales, operations, communications and business ventures.

When Steve Bisciotti became the team's majority owner in 2004, his first hire was Cass as president. For the nearly two decades after, Cass provided a wealth of business knowledge, legal and negotiating expertise, philanthropic principles, and a calm and consistent leadership style.

Under his direction, Cass helped create the organizational culture for which the Ravens are known today. Toward the end of his tenure as president, he led the organization through challenges created by the COVID-19 pandemic and worked at the forefront of the team's social justice reform efforts, engaging local and federal legislators to enact policy change. With roots deeply entrenched throughout the Baltimore community, Cass oversaw countless initiatives with the goal of creating better opportunities and circumstances for those most in need. An impactful presence on the board of the Ravens Foundation, Inc., Cass also served on boards for the Greater Baltimore Committee, Kennedy Krieger Institute and Baltimore Community Foundation.

Understanding the value of creating a world-class gameday experience for Ravens fans, Cass spearheaded multiple M&T Bank Stadium improvement/enhancement projects, reaching investment levels over $200 million. Through these efforts, the Ravens have consistently ranked among the NFL's best in gameday experience, as recognized by the annual Voice of the Fan survey. Cass also led the construction and subsequent expansion, at a total cost of more than $90 million, of the Ravens' Under Armour Performance Center, which continues as one of the NFL's best training facilities.

From 2004-21, Cass helped guide Ravens teams that won five AFC North titles, clinched 10 postseason berths, appeared in three AFC Championship games and won one Super Bowl (XLVII in 2012). During his tenure, Baltimore produced the NFL's fifth-best overall winning percentage (.586), including the league's third-best mark at home (.713).

In 2023, Cass was inducted into The Baltimore Sun's Business and Civic Hall of Fame, honoring the achievements of leaders who have spent their careers working to transform and improve Maryland.

Prior to joining the Ravens, Cass spent 31 years (1972-2003) as a partner at D.C.-based law firm Wilmer, Cutler and Pickering. He served as chairman of the firm's Business Transactions Section and was a member of its Management Committee. Some of his significant contributions to WC&P included: counsel to the Independent Commission of the US Olympics Committee (2003); counsel to the owner of the NBA's Charlotte Hornets during the team's relocation to New Orleans (2002); counsel to Steve Bisciotti in the purchase of the Ravens from the Modell family (2000 and 2004); counsel to the estate of Jack Kent Cooke in the sale of the Washington Commanders to Daniel Snyder (1999); counsel to Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones in the acquisition of the team and Texas Stadium (1980s); and advisor to the NFL in connection with the Collective Bargaining Agreement that brought free agency and a salary cap to the NFL (1992-93).

Born in Washington D.C., Cass graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Princeton in 1968 before graduating from Yale Law School in 1971. He and his wife, Heather, have two children: a daughter, Courtney (Ryland Sumner), and son, Willy (Madelaine), and three grandchildren.

UNDER ARMOUR PERFORMANCE CENTER

UNDER ARMOUR PERFORMANCE CENTER

The Ravens opened their Owings Mills training facility in mid-October of 2004. The building, which was named the Under Armour Performance Center in June of 2012, features a brick and stone exterior, with the space totaling 232,864 sq. feet. The fieldhouse is 83,962 sq. feet and includes a strength-training area and a full-size indoor practice field. The facility's outdoor practice fields and fieldhouse sit on 32 acres. Almost all of the project's physical construction was provided by Baltimore-area companies and workers.

When the 2016 season concluded, the Ravens launched a $45 million project to upgrade and expand the Under Armour Performance Center. The massive construction undertaking was fully completed in the summer of 2018.

Over an 18-month project, the Ravens demolished the facility's original one-story north wing, which housed much of the organization's business operations. A new two-story wing was constructed, increasing the area from 9,095 square feet to 23,000 square feet. That expansion created more space for the business side while also providing additional room to enhance the football team's facilities, including the players' locker room, team auditorium, position meeting rooms, scouting/coaching offices and cafeteria.

The Ravens have held training camp at their facility since 2011, and part of the 2017-18 renovation project included purchasing more land that surrounds the UAPC. The added space is used for parking and allows the organization to safely host nearly 1,000 fans per day during training camp. In all, there are 775 parking spaces at the facility (525 paved and 250 grass spots).

In the spring of 2025, the Ravens fully renovated their player training room and therapy area to build a new premium performance & wellness space. The accommodations create a world-class medical, recovery, hydrotherapy and nutrition facility for players. (Photos and details of the unveiling will be available in Aug. 2025.)

The UAPC's new north wing (middle pic. right) achieved prestigious LEED Gold level certification, recognizing the Ravens' commitment/dedication to sustainability and environmental stewardship.

The UAPC facility houses three Bermuda grass practice fields.

The Ravens' player locker room at the Under Armour Performance Center.

UNDER ARMOUR PERFORMANCE CENTER

The facility includes an updated full-service kitchen/cafeteria, player support functions, basketball and racquetball courts, TV/radio studios, plus state-of-the-art requirements for NFL training. Also included at the facility are executive offices, meeting rooms, three outdoor fields and media/production areas.

"Everything a team needs to help prepare it to win is available to us. Steve [Bisciotti] delivered a first-class, state-of-the-art training facility and office complex."
– Ravens Executive Vice President Ozzie Newsome

The Ravens have a world-class weight room, conditioning and recovery center, providing players everything they need to train at peak performance.

Since 2011, the Ravens have held training camp at Under Armour Performance Center, where they host approximately 1,000 fans per day.

The Under Armour Performance Center houses a state-of-the-art production studio the team utilizes for in-house digital and TV broadcasting purposes.

The Ravens' indoor facility has a full, 100-yard field made of Shaw Sports Turf that the team uses for offseason training purposes or when the weather becomes inclement.

The Ravens Foundation, Inc. is committed to improving, encouraging and enabling the healthy development of youth in Maryland. The foundation focuses on programs that help youth and their families with various needs, including housing, hunger, education, athletics and mentoring.

Mr. Trash Wheel – The Baltimore Ravens, The Stephen and Renee Bisciotti Foundation and Waterfront Partnership of Baltimore announced a $3.75 million partnership to support Baltimore's Healthy Harbor Initiative. The funding aids improvements for the Mr. Trash Wheel Family, trash wheel operations and maintenance along with oyster planting efforts in Baltimore's Inner Harbor.

Ravens Youth Sports – Alongside Under Armour, the Ravens Foundation provides grants for new equipment and apparel for youth teams in Maryland. Packages include jerseys, cleats, field equipment, sports bras, Guardian Caps or heat and heart bundles containing an AED machine.

Ravens Scholars – For 16 consecutive years, the Ravens have recognized at least five outstanding high school seniors by awarding a $5,000 renewable scholarship ($20,000 over four years) to support each scholar's respective college education. Since 2010, the team has committed over $1.6 million in scholarship funding.

PARTNER SUPPORT

In 2024, the Baltimore Ravens worked alongside 28 different sponsors to plan 92 unique activations impacting and supporting the extended Baltimore community. The Ravens work closely with partners to increase corporate and community awareness of the Ravens Foundation, player foundations and local charitable organizations. Through a wide variety of activities and events, the Ravens and various partners make a positive impact in the Maryland area while strengthening ties between the team, their partners and the community.

Last June, ILB Roquan Smith announced Andrew Goldbeck from Kenwood High School as the 2025 recipient of the Touchdown for Teachers award, presented by the Ravens and M&T Bank. The award recognizes and honors local teachers for their leadership, dedication and commitment to education, and for outstanding service to their schools, students and community.

The Baltimore Ravens hosted their annual organization-wide volunteer day to support Green Street Academy. The Ravens Foundation, Inc. funded the renovation project, which provided upgrades to the charter school, located several miles from M&T Bank Stadium. The school was designed to transform how scholars prepare for college and careers in the 21st century, through the lens of environmental, human and personal economic sustainability.

There were over 200 Ravens organization volunteers, including 64 players and the entire 2025 rookie class, who joined representatives from Heart of America and Baltimore City Public Schools for outdoor beautification efforts, classroom transformations, mural painting, furniture assembly, library support and bicycle building.

The undertaking also reinforces the Ravens' long-term commitment to this West Baltimore community, as Green Street Academy sits adjacent to the Baltimore Ravens Boys & Girls Club at Hilton Recreation Center, which is in the final stages of construction and is scheduled to open this fall. In addition to offering regular after-school programing to Green Street Academy students, the new Boys & Girls Club facility and fields will serve as the home venue for the school's sports teams.

In October, the Baltimore Ravens hosted their sixth annual Caw to Action community day of service in partnership with the United Way of Central Maryland (UWCM). More than 130 charitable sites throughout the area, including the Maryland SPCA, Progress Unlimited, Share Baby and more than 50 schools, all hosted a service event. Each participating nonprofit was supported by the UWCM, with Ravens staff, cheerleaders and players participating in this community-wide initiative. FEMALE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The Ravens annually host their L.I.F.T. (Leading and Inspiring Females to Thrive) Conference, a leadership seminar for female student-athletes from local high schools. Freshmen, sophomores and juniors are invited to participate in a day of leadership workshops, guest speakers and a team-building workout at the Ravens Under Armour Performance Center. Student-athletes who serve as both an "untitled leader" and "unsung hero" for their programs can apply for the event. The day is designed to empower the next generation of female student-athletes and develop their leadership skills, both on and off the field. In 2024, students heard from head coach John Harbaugh and were led through a workout by Ravens players and coaches Kaelyn Buskey and Megan Rosburg.

YOUTH FOOTBALL

Ravens RISE is the team's football outreach program that provides all youth and high school athletes opportunities to "Play Like A Raven." The program offers football clinics and 7-on-7 tournaments throughout the state, Ravens home game ticket donations, monetary donations to area football programs, opportunities to play at M&T Bank Stadium and recognitions including High School Coach of the Week and Year as well as Team Mom of the Year. The Ravens also have made financial and time investments in Girls Flag Football, including hosting annual football clinics and supporting counties across Maryland with grant funding to promote Girls Flag as an official high school sport.

PLAY 60

Each year, the Ravens continue their commitment to prioritizing and promoting healthy nutrition and active lifestyles among today's youth through the NFL PLAY 60 Campaign. The team delivered in-person programming through instructional fitness activities and insight. Through special partnerships with Carroll County Public Schools' Project ACES (Active Children Excel in School) program, and Baltimore and Howard County Public School Systems, the team delivered the PLAY 60 message to more than 199,000+ local youth across the Baltimore-metro area. In April, the Ravens recognized 60 local students at the UAPC for going above and beyond through the PLAY 60 rewards program.

BALTIMORE RAVENS LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

The Baltimore Ravens and T. Rowe Price partnered once again to facilitate the High School Leadership Institute. In its sixth year, the program continued its mission to develop and empower high school students to become collaborative leaders. The program has worked with ADDO, a leadership organization, to encourage students to learn valuable leadership lessons, introduce them to local industry leaders, expose them to leadership insights and equip them with tools needed to make an impactful difference in their communities. The 2025 programing included over 100 students from Baltimore County, Baltimore City and other select Baltimore-area high schools as they participated in a customized and unique leadership experience.

MILITARY APPRECIATION

In association with the NFL's Salute to Service Campaign, the Ravens honor veterans and active duty members of the military year-round in many ways, including welcoming military members at training camp practices, hosting families from Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors (TAPS) at the Under Armour Performance Center (UAPC) through the team's annual Flags with the Flock event, and showing support through care packages, letters and daily communication. At each home game, the Ravens honor groups that include military representatives, first responders, veterans and/or wounded warriors through the CSX Seats for Service program. In 2024, the Ravens also hosted their annual Youth Football and Military Combine at the Naval Academy, as well as the inaugural Fishing with the Vets fishing trips.

SOCIAL JUSTICE EFFORTS

Since 2016, the Ravens have donated over $16 million to local organizations promoting social justice while encouraging players to be at the forefront of change. In 2024, the Baltimore Ravens entered a five-year partnership, which includes a $300,000 investment, with Roca Baltimore to support the organization's Baltimore City location in its ongoing efforts to address trauma, find hope and drive change. Established in 2018, Roca Baltimore's mission is to be a relentless force in disrupting incarceration, poverty and racism by engaging young adults, police and systems at the center of urban violence. This donation was part of the Ravens' $1 million commitment to combat gun violence over a five-year span.

Ravens players joined ROCA program members to address the challenges young men face while growing up in Baltimore.

HOLIDAY HAPPENINGS

Thanks to Ravens players, thousands of families annually receive support, including food and gifts, during the holidays. The 2024 food distributions and meal services featured the support of 45 players, including S Kyle Hamilton, QB Lamar Jackson, FB Pat Ricard, T Ronnie Stanley and P Jordan Stout. In December, the Baltimore Ravens and ILB Roquan Smith hosted the team's 19th Annual Holiday Helpers event. Students were joined by 34 players including DT Travis Jones, RB Keaton Mitchell, ILB Trenton Simpson, OLB Tavius Robinson and WR Tylan Wallace, who all served as personal shoppers. WR ZAY FLOWERS posted 74 receptions for a career-best 1,059 yards and 4 TDs, en route to becoming the first Ravens wideout to garner Pro Bowl honors. Flowers topped the 100-yard plateau five times in 2024, tying TE Mark Andrews for the most-such outings in franchise single-season history.

S KYLE HAMILTON totaled a career-high 107 tackles (77 solo), 4 TFL, 2 sacks, 1 INT, 9 PD, 2 FF and 1 FR. His 7.76 yards per completion allowed in 2024 (min. 40 attempts) led all safeties. Hamilton also became the sixth DB since 1982 to record multiple sacks in each of his first three seasons.

RB DERRICK HENRY generated 1,921 yards on the ground and set single-season franchise records in both total (18) and rushing TDs (16). In 2024, Henry topped 150 rushing yards in four contests, surpassing RB Jamal Lewis for the most-such outings by a Raven in a single season.

CB MARLON HUMPHREY led all AFC defenders with a personal-best 6 INTs (including 1 INT-TD) in 2024. Humphrey also added a career-high 5 TFL and 15 PD, becoming the first player since Tyrann Mathieu (2015) to record at least 5 INTs, 5 TFL, 15 PD and 1 TD in a single season.

QB LAMAR JACKSON threw for a career-high 4,172 yards and added 915 more on the ground, becoming the first player in NFL history to post at least 4,000 passing and 800 rushing yards in the same season. Jackson also threw for a club-record 41 TDs in 2024, tying for the league's second most.

C TYLER LINDERBAUM registered a 97% pass-block win rate according to ESPN Analytics, which was the fourth-best mark among all interior offensive linemen in 2024. Linderbaum anchored a Ravens line that helped the team rush for an NFL single-season record 5.76 yards per carry.

LB ROQUAN SMITH accumulated 154 tackles (81 solo), 4 TFL, 1.5 sacks, 1 INT, 4 PD, 1 FF and 1 FR, en route to his third-straight AP first-team All-Pro selection. Smith posted his fourth-consecutive 150+ tackle season in 2024, becoming the NFL's only defender to accomplish that feat since 2000.

OLB KYLE VAN NOY tallied a career-high 12.5 sacks, which were the fourth most in 2024. From Weeks 2-4, Van Noy recorded multiple sacks in each of those contests, joining OLB Justin Houston (2022) as the only players in franchise history to register at least two sacks in three-straight games.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS

- Since John Harbaugh's 2008 arrival, Baltimore has produced NFL-best records in overall primetime (40-18, .690) and home primetime (21-3, .875) contests.
- RB Derrick Henry rumbled for a game-high 199 rushing yards and 1 TD on 24 attempts (8.3 avg.) as part of Baltimore's 271 overall ground yards. He added 3 catches for 10 yards, including a 5-yard TD. Henry's 87-yard TD on the Ravens' first offensive play marked the longest rush in franchise history. It was also his third-career rushing TD of 85+ yards, making him one of three players in NFL history with at least three such scores (also Chris Johnson – 4 & Lamar Miller – 3).
- With 2 sacks, one of which forced a fumble recovered by S Kyle Hamilton, OLB Kyle Van Noy has now posted multiple sacks in three straight games. His three consecutive contests with multiple sacks tie (Justin Houston – Weeks 7-9 in 2022) for the longest streak in franchise history.
- QB Lamar Jackson finished 13-of-18 for 156 yards and 2 TDs (135.4 rating), while adding 54 rushing yards and 1 TD on 6 carries (9.0 avg.). He now owns 12 career games with a 135+ passer rating, the most by a player in his first seven seasons in NFL history (min. 15 att. per game).

GAME HIGHLIGHTS

- With the win, Baltimore captured the 2024 AFC North championship. Since the NFL's 2002 divisional realignment, Baltimore's eight AFC North titles (also 2003, 2006, 2011, 2012, 2018, 2019 and 2023) – six of which have occurred during the John Harbaugh Era – tie Pittsburgh for the division's most.
- With 4,035 net passing yards and 3,189 rushing yards this season, Baltimore became the first team in NFL history to register at least 4,000 yards through the air and 3,000 yards on the ground in a single season.
- Baltimore's franchise-record 7,224 total yards of total offense are the third most in NFL single-season history, trailing only the 2011 Saints (7,474) and 2013 Broncos (7,317).
- The Ravens tallied 2 sacks (OLBs Kyle Van Noy & Odafe Oweh) and have now recorded at least 1 sack in 55 consecutive games, marking the 10th-longest streak in NFL history. Baltimore has also now posted 2+ sacks in 20 straight games, which ties (the 1986-87 Chargers) for the third-longest streak in NFL history.
- Baltimore is now 37-15 all time against the Browns, including a 26-8 mark under Coach Harbaugh. The 37 wins against the Browns are the most Baltimore has tallied against a single opponent in franchise history. Since Coach Harbaugh's 2008 Baltimore arrival, the Ravens' 26 wins against Cleveland are also their most vs. one team.

HISTORY

An emotionally-charged and thrilling six weeks kicked off the Baltimore Ravens' 2012 campaign. Despite playing their first four games in an 18-day span, the Ravens produced a 5-1 record, marking the best start ever under John Harbaugh. Highlighted by a season-opening victory on Monday Night Football against division foe Cincinnati and an exhilarating, last-second triumph over AFC rival New England, the Ravens immediately demonstrated the type of heart and resolve that would allow them to conquer anything in an NFL season.

Climbing to 9-2, Baltimore tied (2006) the then-best record to begin a season in franchise history. Following their Bye Week, the battle-tested Ravens won four-straight games – three of which occurred in hostile road clashes. Though a rash of injuries to key contributors left them shorthanded, the Ravens remained relentless and emerged victorious in hard-fought contests at Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Baltimore's grit was never more on display than in Week 12 at San Diego, when Ray Rice converted a fourth-and-29 catch – later voted "NFL Play of the Year" – to send the game into overtime and help capture the comeback win.

While able to secure the AFC North Title with a decisive victory over the New York Giants in Week 16, the Ravens closed out the regular season by dropping four of their last five games. This stretch included three-consecutive defeats – two by three points – to begin December, all against emerging playoff contenders. Many outsiders perceived the run of losses to be Baltimore's late-season demise, but the Ravens felt otherwise. As each wintry week passed, the team's resilient chemistry never faded, nor did its genuine belief that the best was yet to come.

On Wild Card weekend, before a sellout M&T Bank Stadium crowd that celebrated and saluted Ray Lewis in his final home game, Baltimore pummeled the Colts, 24-9, kick-starting an incredible playoff run. Holding Indy without a touchdown, the Ravens' defense was led by Lewis, who returned to action for the first time since tearing his triceps in Week 6.

"I think we're all appreciative, grateful for the opportunity to be here and to witness this historic moment in sports," head coach John Harbaugh said after the win. "And, it wasn't just about one guy [Lewis]. Nobody understands it more than the one guy we're talking about. It was about a team. It was about a city, a fan base, a great sport, about a great career."

Fresh off an emotional victory over Indianapolis, Baltimore traveled to No. 1 seed Denver for a Divisional Playoff bout. Riding an 11-game win streak, the heavily-favored Broncos had beaten the Ravens, 34-17, in Charm City four weeks prior.

But despite its underdog status, Baltimore approached the game with the brazen attitude of a champion. It was a boldness reinforced by strength gained while facing adversity throughout the season. It was also a resiliency the team had developed and a brotherhood that leaders such as Harbaugh, Lewis, Terrell Suggs, Joe Flacco, Anquan Boldin and Rice had cultivated from Day One.

In what became the fourth-longest game (4:11) in NFL history, the Ravens outlasted the Broncos, 38-35, in double OT, producing an electrifying victory-turned instant classic.

LB Ray Lewis emerges from the M&T Bank Stadium tunnel for the final home intro of his career prior to the Wild Card win over Indianapolis (1/6/13).

WR Jacoby Jones secures QB Joe Flacco's deep pass, connecting for a 70-yard TD to send the Divisional Playoff at Denver (1/12/13) into overtime.

As part of 21 unanswered points by Baltimore, WR Anquan Boldin scores a fourth-quarter TD in the 28-13 AFC Championship victory at New England (1/20/13).

Facing third-and-3 with 31 seconds remaining in regulation, Flacco found Jacoby Jones, who had blazed past defenders down the right sideline, to manufacture an improbable 70-yard touchdown bomb. The crowd-silencing connection cut the deficit to 1, with Justin Tucker then quickly tying the game at 35 to force overtime. Near the end of the extra period, Corey Graham intercepted Peyton Manning, ultimately setting up a 47-yard game-winning field goal by Tucker in double OT and sealing the Ravens' 38-35 win.

"Thanks for bearing witness to one of the greatest football games you're ever going to see," stated Harbaugh after the victory, which sent Baltimore to the AFC Championship for a second-straight season and third time in five years. "That football game did the game of football proud."

Next up was an AFC Title bout with the No. 2 seed Patriots, who just 12 months prior had knocked out Baltimore in the exact same setting. Though the Ravens' hearts were battered following the 2011 playoff loss, the defeat served as an influential lesson and a unifying force. It was an outcome that simultaneously marked the bitter end of a poignant journey, but also some inspiration for a determined 2012 Ravens team.

All season long, as they grinded away for a chance to finish what they had started the year before, the Ravens got what they wanted. And this time, they didn't disappoint.

The Patriots, who owned the NFL's No. 1-ranked and highest-scoring offense, were shut out in the second half by a dominant Ravens "D" that found ways to constantly frazzle Tom Brady and pummel his normally-potent attack. In defeating New England, 28-13, Baltimore clinched a berth in Super Bowl XLVII, seizing the franchise's second conference title.

"Congratulations to our players, to our coaches," Harbaugh said. "[Tonight] was about a football team playing really good football in one of the biggest moments that football has to offer, and that's what I am so proud of as a football coach."

On Feb. 3, 2013, the AFC Champion Ravens battled the NFC Champion 49ers in Super Bowl XLVII. It was the first time in NFL history that two brothers, John and Jim Harbaugh, faced each other as head coaches in a championship game.

"We've seen it all this year," Harbaugh stated before the game. "We've had injuries; we've had adversity; we've had exhilaration; we've had great moments. That's what a season is made of. The team that navigates all these things the best, in the end, will be the one true champion."

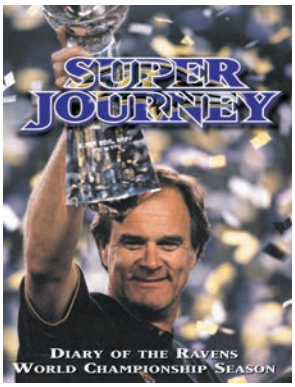
And in the end, no team navigated its voyage better than the 2012 Ravens. In what would become a timeless NFL masterpiece – one bursting with drama at every turn – Baltimore defeated San Francisco, 34-31, becoming the NFL's one true champion.

After taking an early 28-6 lead, the Ravens produced a valiant goal-line stand to clinch their second Super Bowl title. Overcoming a feverish 49ers' second-half comeback and a bizarre 34-minute power outage in the third quarter, Baltimore started fast and finished strong, all while entertaining millions of spectators around the globe.

Spurred by Flacco, who was named the game's MVP after completing 22-of-33 passes for 287 yards and three touchdowns, the Ravens capped a remarkable journey – one that will forever live in football lore.

"We've got a lot of resolve. That's why we won the game," stated Harbaugh, who with the victory set an NFL record for most playoff wins (nine) in a head coach's first five seasons. "It wasn't perfect, it wasn't pretty, but it was us."

John Harbaugh hoists the Lombardi Trophy following the Ravens' thrilling 34-31 victory over San Francisco in Super Bowl XLVII (2/3/13).



The young and brash Baltimore Ravens began the 2000 NFL season talking playoffs and ended the year as World Champions, thanks to one of the most dominant defenses in pro football history.

The Ravens' "Super Journey" began with an ominous regular season schedule that included five road games in seven weeks. In the middle of it all was a five-game streak without a touchdown. Thankfully, the drought never divided the team.

The race toward the Lombardi Trophy was not without its hurdles: Ray Lewis rebounded from a trying offseason; Trent Dilfer, now a Raven, returned to Tampa Bay for the Super Bowl; an emotional Jermaine Lewis dedicated a superb performance to the memory of his stillborn son. Still, the team rallied through the season, and it made the hard-fought victory that much sweeter.

The journey was about the coming of age for talented young players like Jamal Lewis, Chris McAlister and Duane Starks. It also belonged to tough veterans like Rod Woodson, Ray Lewis, Rob Burnett, Shannon Sharpe, Matt Stover, Michael McCrary and Jonathan Ogden.

And the journey also belonged to the fans of Baltimore. The fans numbered in the thousands at the downtown sendoff at Harbor Place. Banners and promises hung in the air, and none would be broken.

While the hometown fans would celebrate with seven-straight days of purple pride, the team took off for Tampa for a week of preparation before the ultimate contest. On Sunday, Jan. 28, 2001, the Ravens kept their promise and defeated the New York Giants, 34-7.

Ray Lewis earned Super Bowl XXXV MVP honors, as well as Defensive Player of the Year. The Ravens tied a then-Super Bowl record with four INTs, and their +5 overall turnover margin ranks as the second-best mark in a Super Bowl. The most exciting new record? Perhaps three successive scores on three seesaw plays. The back-to-back kickoff returns for TDs were yet another new record.

Following the game, owner Art Modell lifted the Lombardi Trophy in the air and said: "To the people of Baltimore City, Baltimore County and the State of Maryland, this belongs to you. From the bottom of my heart, thank you."

When the Ravens flew home on that beautiful, blue-sky Monday after the Super Bowl, they heard about the parade scheduled in their honor for the next day. The icy downpour that Tuesday phased no one. Hundreds of thousands of fans ignored the rain and cold and waited for their heroes to ride by on Baltimore's crowded city streets.

Later, the entire organization was invited to the White House in June to meet President George W. Bush.

Francine Lubera and Kevin Byrne of the Ravens' public relations office chronicled the run to the Super Bowl in the book "Super Journey: Diary of the Ravens World Championship Season" (above left), published in July of 2001.

1/1 - Baltimore finished 2005 with a disappointing 6-10 record, going 6-2 at home and netting zero wins on the road. The 67 games lost to injured starters were third most in the NFL, with 10 games to Ray Lewis (thigh), six to Ed Reed (ankle) and seven to Kyle Boller (toe). Season highlights included two nationally-televised games, a 48-3 win over Green Bay (12/19) and a 30-23 win against Minnesota (12/25) on Christmas night that knocked the Vikings out of the playoffs. He joined Hall of Famers Fran Tarkenton and Steve Young in that group.

11/5 - Former LB Peter Boulware, who retired in 2006, was inducted into the Ravens Ring of Honor at M&T Bank Stadium in an emotional halftime ceremony. In addition to family and former teammates, he was joined by Steve Bisciotti and Art Modell. LB Ray Lewis and QB Steve McNair were named as backups, but were replaced [because of injuries] with LB Bart Scott and the Titans' QB Vince Young, respectively.

12/24 - For the first time in Ravens history, Baltimore swept AFC North rival Pittsburgh at Heinz Field, 31-7, after posting an earlier 27-0 shutout on Nov. 26 at M&T Bank Stadium. The Ravens' "D" dominated Pittsburgh in both games, sacking QB Ben Roethlisberger 14 times and intercepting him four.

12/31 - The Ravens finished 13-3, earning the AFC North Division title and a Bye Week prior to the AFC Divisional Playoffs. The Ravens' No. 1-ranked defense was elite: first in points allowed (201, including just 64 [9.1 per game] in the final seven games – 26 teams allowed 300 or more points for the season); first in total defense (264.1 ypg); first in red zone (33.3% TDs allowed); fewest third downs converted (28.8%) and fewest first downs permitted (236); first in turnover margin (+17) and second in takeaways (40 to Chicago's 44); first in INTs (28, including five for TDs); and second in sacks

In 2006, Baltimore swept the Steelers, 27-0 (M&T Bank Stadium) and 31-7 at Heinz Field, for a 58-7 point differential. LB Bart Scott posted 1.5 sacks of QB Ben Roethlisberger.

(60 to San Diego's 61). The offense led the NFL in time of possession (32:49) and sack ratio (+43); the 17 sacks allowed set a franchise record and were No. 2 in the NFL to Indy's 15.

1/13 - In a Divisional Playoff game that provided great angst for Baltimore's loyal fans, the Ravens were on the wrong side of a 15-6 decision vs. Indianapolis. Not a single TD was scored in this kicking contest between Baltimore's Matt Stover and the Colts' Adam Vinatieri.

12/31 - Prompted by a dismal 5-11 season in 2007, Ravens owner Steve Bisciotti, president Dick Cass and GM Ozzie Newsome held a press conference announcing the decision to relieve head coach Brian Billick and his staff of their coaching duties. Despite an injury report that would have paralyzed most teams, the Ravens never quit. In 2007, the number of games missed by starters was 77, up from just 24 in 2006. By the final game, the Ravens had started three different QBs, including rookie Troy Smith. Baltimore had 12 rookies and one first-year player on the roster, which (13) was the third-most in the NFL to close the year. Baltimore started six different rookies, tying four teams for second most in the NFL. Smith posted only one win versus the AFC North, a 27-21 nailbiter vs. Pittsburgh on 12/30.

1/19 - Steve Bisciotti hired his first head coach – and just the third in Ravens history – John Harbaugh, former special teams/defensive backs coach for the Philadelphia Eagles under Andy Reid. Harbaugh's special teams ranked in the Top 10 of special teams rankings every year from 2000-06, including two first-place finishes. From 2000-06, no team had a higher overall ranking (attribution: The Dallas Morning News). Harbaugh was originally hired in Philadelphia by Ray Rhodes in 1998 and was then retained by Reid.

John Harbaugh became the third head coach in franchise history in 2008.

9/14 - The Ravens' Bye Week was unexpectedly moved to Week 2 after Hurricane Ike ravaged Texas' Gulf Coast area and forced the postponement of Baltimore's game at Houston until Week 10. Due to this schedule change, Baltimore would play 18-consecutive games, including three in the playoffs, before the season concluded.

10/26 - Longtime Ravens T Jonathan Ogden was inducted into the Ravens Ring of Honor during a win over Oakland just four months after his retirement from football.

12/20 - In the last NFL game to ever be played at the Cowboys' historic Texas Stadium, the Ravens defeated Dallas, 33-24, with FB Le'Ron McClain recording the longest run in Texas Stadium history with a career-long 82-yard TD scamper.

12/28 - With a Wild Card playoff spot on the line, Baltimore closed out the regular season with a 9-2 record to earn a No. 6 seed in the postseason. The Ravens beat Jacksonville in the season finale, 27-7, to earn their fifth-ever postseason appearance. After starting the year 2-3, the Ravens rallied to end the regular season with an 11-5 record to earn second place in the AFC North and a Wild Card Playoff berth. The 11 regular season wins set an NFL record for the most by a rookie QB (Joe Flacco) and a first-year head coach (John Harbaugh) tandem. Including the playoffs, Harbaugh and Flacco ended 2008 with 13 wins, a new NFL rookie benchmark.

1/4 - In the 27-9 Wild Card win at Miami, the Ravens' 4 INTs off Dolphins QB Chad Pennington (who threw only 7 during the regular season) tied for the most in team playoff history. S Ed Reed stole two from Pennington, returning the first pick 64 yards for a TD.

1/10 - The Ravens defeated the top-seeded Tennessee Titans at LP Field, 13-10, getting Joe Flacco his second playoff win – the most for a rookie QB in NFL history. A last-minute, 43-yard field goal by K Matt Stover gave Baltimore the win.

1/18 - In the AFC Championship, Baltimore suffered a narrow 23-14 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers at Heinz Field in a hard-hitting defensive battle, ending the Ravens' playoff run. John Harbaugh solidified himself as one of 12 first-year head coaches in the Super Bowl era to lead his team to the conference championship game.

The Ravens finished the season No. 2 in the NFL with 19 players on IR, the most in team history (at the time). According to Rick Gosselin of The Dallas Morning News, Baltimore lost 64 games by starters.

Baltimore's defense concluded the 2008 season ranked No. 2 in the NFL. In addition to not allowing a 100-yard rusher for the second-straight season (an NFL-best 35 games dating back to 2006), it set three team records: opponent QB rating (60.6), rushing TDs allowed (4) and rushing first downs allowed (58). A league-high 9 INTs by S Ed Reed contributed to the team's NFL top-ranked status for INTs with 26.

1/21 - Rex Ryan, Baltimore's defensive coordinator from 2005-08 and a member of the coaching staff since 1999, was hired by the New York Jets as their head coach.

2/8 - The Baltimore coaching staff led the AFC squad in the Pro Bowl. Five Ravens were voted into the All-Star game for the 2008 season, including ST Brendon Ayanbadejo (third), LB Ray Lewis (10th), FB Le'Ron McClain (first), S Ed Reed (fifth) and LB Terrell Suggs (third).

2010

1/3 - To cap the 2009 regular season, the Ravens produced their sixth playoff team of the decade (2000-09), which ranked third best (tied with Pittsburgh) in the AFC behind Indianapolis (9) and New England (7).

With a 21-13 win at Oakland (1/3), John Harbaugh and Joe Flacco, who set the NFL record for most wins ever (13, including playoffs) by a rookie head coach starting a rookie QB in 2008, achieved the league mark for clinching the playoffs in their first two seasons by such a tandem.

Harbaugh also became the 10th coach since 1990 to reach the playoffs in his first two seasons as a head coach, while Flacco became the fourth starting QB since the 1970 merger to reach the playoffs in his first two NFL seasons.

The Ravens' "D" finished third in the NFL in total yards (300.5) and third in points allowed (16.3). It was the seventh-straight season Baltimore's defense finished in the NFL's top six.

For the first time in team history, Baltimore had a 3,000-yard passer (Joe Flacco - 3,613), a 1,000-yard rusher (Ray Rice - 1,339) and a 1,000-yard receiver (Derrick Mason - 1,028) in the same season.

1/10 - In the Wild Card game at New England, Baltimore beat the Patriots, 33-14, serving the team its first home playoff defeat since 1978. Baltimore snapped New England's 11-game home playoff winning streak and halted QB Tom Brady's 23-game overall winning streak at home.

The Ravens forced QB Tom Brady into four turnovers (3 INTs and a fumble), finishing the game with a +2 ratio. Baltimore scored 20 points off its 4 turnovers on the day.

Baltimore scored 33 points against the Patriots, the then-second most in Ravens playoff history (34 vs. NYG in Super Bowl XXXV). Twenty-four of the Ravens' points came in the first quarter, tying for the second-most points in the opening quarter of any playoff game in NFL history.

Ray Rice ran for a playoff franchise-record 159 yards and 2 TDs on 22 carries (7.2 avg.), spurring the Ravens' 234-yard rushing output (the then-most in team playoff history).

1/16 - Baltimore fell at Indianapolis in the Divisional game, 20-3. The Ravens held the Colts to 275 net yards (including just 42 rushing), but Baltimore's four turnovers proved too costly.

1/31 - The NFL held its annual Pro Bowl in South Florida, an honor five Ravens earned: LB Ray Lewis (11th), FB Le'Ron McClain (second), DT Haloti Ngata (first), S Ed Reed (sixth) and RB Ray Rice (first).

1/2 - To finish the 2010 season, Baltimore tied Pittsburgh for the best record in the division at 12-4, but lost the AFC North on the division-record tiebreaker (5-1 to 4-2). Baltimore, Indy (a then-NFL record nine in a row) and Philadelphia became the only teams to make the playoffs from 2008-10.

The 2010 campaign also marked the first time the Ravens ever clinched the postseason three years in a row.

This was the third year in a row – the best run in team history – that the Ravens finished third in the NFL in fewest points allowed (16.9 ppg). S Ed Reed missed the first six games of the season rehabbing a hip injury, and despite that, still led the NFL with 8 INTs and 183 INT return yards.

Joe Flacco became the third starting QB since the 1970 merger to make the playoffs in his first three seasons, joining Dan Marino and Bernie Kosar. Flacco posted a Ravens' then-season best 93.6 QB rating and established then-career highs with 3,622 yards and 25 TDs. WALTER PAYTON MAN OF THE YEAR

The Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award recognizes an NFL player for his excellence on and off the field. The award was established in 1970 and then renamed in 1999 after the late Hall of Fame Chicago Bears running back, Walter Payton. Each team nominates one player who has had a significant positive impact on his community. In 2011, Ravens C Matt Birk (left) won the prestigious NFL honor.

Note: The all-time alphabetical roster lists the last-known in-season jersey number worn by a player. The roster includes every year a player was on the team, whether active, IR or PUP list. Additionally, if a player was on the Ravens' 53-man roster at any time, he appears. (However, the roster does not include players who solely spent time on the practice squad or in training camp.)

The all-time numerical roster on the following pages lists all of the jersey numbers worn by a Raven in a game. An example would be NT Kelly Gregg, who wore both 73 and 97 jerseys.

Shutout Fast Fact:

- The Ravens have posted the NFL's second-most shutouts (14) since their 1996 inception, trailing only the Patriots (15). This mark includes four opponent "blankings" in 2000 and three in 2017. Baltimore's four shutouts in 2000 are the most since the 1976 Steelers produced an NFL-record five such performances. No team since the 2017 Ravens has produced more than two shutouts in a single season.

2025 PRIMETIME NOTES

- The Ravens are initially scheduled to play four primetime games (Sunday at Buffalo, Monday vs. Detroit, Thursday at Miami and Thursday vs. Cincinnati) in 2025, which marks their fifth consecutive season with at least four primetime games and their second straight season opening their slate in front of a national primetime audience.
- Under John Harbaugh (since 2008), the Ravens are a league-best 43-18 (.705) in primetime games (entering 2025). Their 22-3 (.880) mark at home in primetime leads the NFL since 2008, while Baltimore's 21-15 (.583) record on the road in primetime ranks second.
- Entering 2025, QB Lamar Jackson has led the Ravens to a 20-5 record when starting behind center in primetime. His .800 winning percentage as a starter in primetime contests ranks first among active quarterbacks.
- In facing Detroit (Week 3), Baltimore will play its 23rd Monday Night Football game during the John Harbaugh Era (since 2008). Of these 23 MNF contests, this season's game marks just the fifth at home (and first since 2021). The Ravens hold a 15-7 (.682) record on Monday Night Football since 2008, which is the fifth-best winning percentage and tied for the fifth-best record in the NFL.

M&T BANK STADIUM

M&T Bank Stadium is where NFL excitement begins any given gameday. And that's because Baltimore Ravens home games and M&T Bank Stadium have become synonymous with winning.

Since earning their first Super Bowl title in 2000, the Ravens have posted an impressive home record of 145-57, marking the NFL's third-best winning percentage (.718).

Located at the south point of Camden Yards, M&T Bank Stadium stands as a premier NFL sports facility and world-class entertainment venue. Fans – proud of their Baltimore heritage – enjoy the latest technology, including stunning 4K ultra-high definition displays on the RavensVision video boards, a high-density Wi-Fi network, state-of-the-art concourse designs and LED (light emitting diode) Sports Lights. Combined with these exclusive amenities, the game's excitement gives fans, friends and families an opportunity to enjoy the day together. With a capacity of 70,257, this impressive structure draws its distinctive design from the best of Baltimore's architecture.

Originally built in 1998 at a cost of $220 million, the stadium has 142 suites and 8,332 club seats. HOK architects designed both Oriole Park at Camden Yards and the Ravens' home. The latter was completed in less than two years and funded through a combination of proceeds generated from debt service paid by lottery proceeds, the sale of tax-exempt revenue bonds and the Ravens.

M&T BANK STADIUM ENHANCEMENTS

In December 2023, the Baltimore Ravens announced "The Next Evolution," a three-year (2024-26) transformative renovation project at M&T Bank Stadium. These upgrades enhance the gameday experience and provide year-round offerings for all fans, ensuring "The Bank" as one of the top sports and entertainment venues in the world.

In 2019, the Ravens completed self-funded enhancements to the fan experience at M&T Bank Stadium. Demonstrating a continued commitment to create an exceptional gameday atmosphere, the improvements included new 4K ultra-high definition video displays, escalators and elevators to the upper deck, a new sound system, upgraded kitchen facilities, a redesigned club level, updated suites and LED Sports Lights.

In 2015, the Ravens completed a two-year series of projects to upgrade Wi-Fi capabilities, replay technology, LED video displays, concession stands, concourses and security measures.

2024-26 PROJECTS: "THE NEXT EVOLUTION"

In addition to substantial developments on the exterior plazas, every level of the venue has or will undergo renovations – thus completely transforming the stadium experience for all and ensuring that M&T Bank Stadium remains a world-class NFL and entertainment venue well into the future.

Learn more about each of the projects below:

The following projects were completed in 2024:

Miller Lite Gatehouse: A gateway to M&T Bank Stadium, the Gatehouse offers two levels of social space for fans to experience before, during and after every home game.

Blackwing Presented by Sagamore: Guests of M&T Bank Stadium can enjoy the best game-action view in the building from the most luxurious accommodations available.

Field Seats: Field Seat PSLs at M&T Bank Stadium offer a novel experience and point of view that only a select few season ticket holders can have on gameday.

The following projects will be completed in 2025/26:

West Retail (Section 140): Situated on the west side of M&T Bank Stadium, the original ticket office is being converted into a 4,900 square foot modern retail store open on gameday.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025)

New Food & Beverage Location (Section 153): A former retail store at Gate A will be converted to a new walkthrough drink market concept.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025)

North Plaza: Serving as the Grand Entrance to M&T Bank Stadium, the revitalized North Plaza will feature two large structures flanking the gates, including a two-story Northeast building, consisting of a new retail location – open 365 days a year – on the first level and hospitality space on the second.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025/26)

The Raven: Situated near the 50-yard line and underneath the lower level, The Raven is located on the north side of M&T Bank Stadium and provides an elevated club experience.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025)

Champions Club Presented by T. Rowe Price: Located behind the west end zone, the Champions Club is home to two featured bars celebrating each of the Ravens' Super Bowl victories.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025)

The Trust Presented by M&T Bank: The Trust, located on the south side of M&T Bank Stadium, is an ultra-premium, lower concourse club that offers unique team access, including views of the Ravens' player tunnel at the 50-yard line and the post-game press conference room.

(Scheduled Completion: 2025)

M&T BANK STADIUM

2017-19 PROJECTS: PHASE ONE

Phase One of the the M&T Bank Stadium enhancements project was completed prior to the 2017 season. These improvements included the following:

RavensVision: Two dramatic, 4K ultra-high definition video displays doubled the width of the stadium's previous standard HD boards. The new boards, measuring approximately 200 feet wide and 36 feet high, feature one of the highest resolution and clearest picture of any stadium video display in the United States.

Ribbon Displays: The addition of four LED ribbon boards on the Club Level and Suite Level fascia measured a combined 2,373 feet with almost three times the pixel resolution over the previous ribbon boards.

Production Technology: The Ravens expanded the audio/video control room and installed 4K cameras, lenses and control equipment. An investment was also made in 11 manned cameras and additional robotic cameras. The Ravens also became the first team to have a permanently installed SkyCam.

2017-19 PROJECTS: PHASES TWO & THREE

Phases Two and Three of the M&T Bank Stadium enhancements project were completed prior to the 2019 season. These improvements included the following:

Escalators & Elevators: Escalators and elevators to the 500 level were installed to improve crowd flow and ensure convenience for fans accessing seats in the upper level.

Suites & Video Boards: New suites were built into each open notch of the stadium's upper bowl. Large 4K ultra-high definition video boards, measuring approximately 33 feet wide and 44 feet high, were installed atop each of the four suites, providing fans with additional in-game content, NFL highlights/scores, statistics and fantasy information.

Club Level: All concessions stands and bar/lounge areas on the stadium's club level received upgrades. These developments enhanced the area's general design/comfort, audio/visual capabilities, quality of service and food options.

Kitchen Facilities: The stadium underwent kitchen renovations to include new equipment, improving the quality of food and providing more options at concessions stands throughout the entire venue.

Sound System: A new sound system in the seating bowl was installed prior to the start of the 2018 NFL season.

LED Sports Lights: The top of the stadium was furnished with LED Sports Lights, providing more energy efficiency and the capability to instantly switch between on and off.

2013-15 PROJECTS

As part of a two-year investment in 2013, the Ravens began a series of projects to upgrade Wi-Fi capabilities, replay technology, LED video displays, concession stands, concourses and security measures.

Wi-Fi: In 2015, the Ravens installed Wi-Fi access for fans at M&T Bank Stadium. Almost 800 access points and antennas, both inside and outside the venue, were added.

The Wi-Fi at M&T Bank Stadium is presented by Verizon.

Replay Systems: In 2015, the Ravens installed the capability to show 360-degree replays with a newly-implemented and upgraded Intel freeD system. By using 38 cameras placed around the stadium, fans can view angles of action previously impossible to see. The Ravens were the first NFL franchise capable of providing 360-degree shots. The technology won a Sports Emmy Award for best in Technical Achievement from Super Bowl 50.

Video Boards: Two LED high-definition video boards, measuring more than 8 feet high and 30 feet wide, were installed at the concourse entrances of gates A and D. (Approximately 60 percent of fans enter gate A for all stadium events.) The high-definition boards have split-screen capabilities and display a variety of content, ranging from in-game action, highlights, NFL scores, stats, welcome messaging and video.

Four new LED boards, measuring 18 feet high and 18 feet wide, were installed on the sides of the two HD video boards in the stadium's inner bowl. Another four large LED screens, each measuring 6 feet tall and 22 feet wide, were added to the upper level concourse.

Additionally, four new LED ribbon boards were installed to connect fully around the entire middle seating bowl. The east/west board measures 2.5 feet high and 96 feet wide, while the north and south boards are each 3.5 feet high and over 650 feet long

Concessions: Concession stands were upgraded with all new equipment to provide quicker service, higher-quality foods and expanded selections displayed on digital menu boards.

Additionally, 34 points of sale were added to speed up the checkout process, allowing fans to return to their seats in a more timely manner.

Concourses: In 2013 and 2014, all concourses were redesigned with a "Ravenized" theme, influenced by the brick and steel look of M&T Bank Stadium's exterior and buildings on the Camden Yards complex. These features include support columns wrapped in brick, purple accent lighting and enhanced directional signage throughout each of the venue's concourses.

RAVENSVISION BOARDS

• In 2017, the Ravens made an investment to create a more immersive gameday experience for their fans. Designed and created by Prismview, a Samsung Electronics Company, the RavensVision ultra-HD 4K video screens each measure 36 feet high and 201 feet wide. Each display is the equivalent of a 2,448-inch flat panel television. It would take over 1,000 40-inch flat screen TVs to equal one of these giant LED displays. Each display has extreme contrast face plastics combined with over 6 million individual LED pixels providing brilliant images in bright sunlight and during night events.

• The high definition resolution allows for some of the best graphics and game action video in the league, live game highlights from around the NFL, instant replays, scores, statistics, plus player updates and features.

• The two giant screens are made up of modular LED panels – 13 inches wide by 6.5 inches tall. Each of these premium LED modules contain 512 pixels, spaced only 10mm - 0.39" apart. Due to the massive size of these displays, these panels were assembled from 50 sections. Each display weighs in at an amazing 76,500 pounds.

SEATING

• At 1.6 million square feet and with a seating capacity of 70,257, the stadium is substantially larger than Oriole Park at Camden Yards to the north.

• ADA seating is located on every level.

• The 8,332 club seats at M&T Bank Stadium offer extra-wide comfort, plus VIP parking, access to the club lounges serving specialty foods, fully-staffed bars, concierge services and scenic views of downtown Baltimore.

• Each of the stadium's 142 suites feature upscale lounge furniture, a private kitchen, high-definition TVs, Wi-Fi, a private restroom, VIP parking and personal catering. Many other exclusive amenities and events are also available to suite owners.

TRANSPORTATION, PARKING & TAILGATING

• Located at 1101 Russell Street, M&T Bank Stadium is surrounded on all sides by the following elevated roadways: I-95 and the Hamburg St. bridge to the north; I-95 and I-395 (plus Light Rail line) to the east; the Ostend St. bridge to the south; and the Russell St. viaduct to the west.

• Fans can easily access the stadium using mass transit. The Light Rail has a drop-off point located directly outside Gate B and the transit system has stops within walking distance.

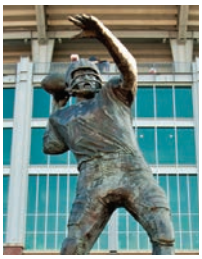
• Parking in stadium lots is limited to permit holders, but downtown garages are available for gameday parking, just a short walk away. Parking in offsite lots can be reserved in advance with SpotHero at www.baltimoreravens.com/stadium/directions-parking.

• Suggested areas for exiting guests to possibly pick up a rideshare provider include north of the stadium (past Oriole Park), south of the stadium (Horsheshoe Casino) and east of the stadium (Federal Hill). For more information, visit: www.baltimoreravens.com/stadium/rideshare.

• Tailgating is welcomed in select lots at M&T Bank Stadium. For complete Tailgate Lot information, call the Ravens' Ticket Office at (410) 261-7283.

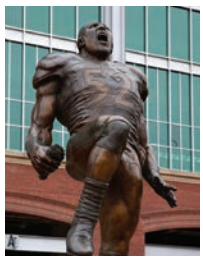
STATUES

• In October 2002, after the passing of iconic QB Johnny Unitas, the Ravens erected a statue (left) of the Colts' legend.



The piece was sculpted by local artist Frederick Kail, who was commissioned by a grassroots group that included donations from the Steve Bisciotti family, the Art Modell family, the Baltimore Orioles and numerous others. One of the signature elements of the bronze work is the famous black high tops – John's favorite football shoe. Many Ravens fans touch the left shoe of the statue for good luck prior to every game.

• In 2014, the Ravens unveiled a second statue (right) of former LB Ray Lewis, another Baltimore icon and perhaps the greatest defender in NFL history. Original PSL season ticket holders also have the opportunity to locate their names etched in one of two PSL Walls of Honor. These names are a tribute to the great Ravens football fans who have supported the team that has brought Baltimore and Maryland two Super Bowl Championships (2000 and 2012). Both statues have been temporarily reloacted to outside of Gate D for the 2025 season due to construction in the North Plaza.*



M&T BANK STADIUM

RENEWED LEASE

The Ravens renewed their lease at M&T Bank Stadium on Jan. 4, 2023, keeping them in Baltimore playing home games at "The Bank" through at least the end of the 2037 NFL season. The agreement between the Ravens and Maryland Stadium Authority, providing opportunities to expand the economic impact of games and other year-round activities at the stadium, was presented to the Maryland Board of Public Works and received unanimous approval. The deal also includes two five-year options to extend the lease beyond 2037. Through funds from state-issued bonds, the lease agreement paved the way for significant M&T Bank Stadium enhancement projects from 2024-26.

M&T BANK STADIUM NAMING RIGHTS

M&T Bank On April 20, 2023, M&T Bank and the Ravens announced an extension to their strategic partnership for another 10 years beyond the current contract that was set to expire after the 2027 season. The latest agreement, which comes almost 20 years to the day after the organizations originally entered a partnership, extends their collaborate efforts through 2037.

Just like the initial agreement in 2003 and extension in 2014, the latest deal ensures a partnership that reaches far beyond putting the bank's name on the stadium. It includes an array of joint community-focused programs and additional investments to provide financial literacy education to Greater Baltimore students.

"When I first met [former M&T regional president] Bob Sadler in 2003, it quickly became apparent that M&T Bank is a special organization and that we could be tremendous partners," said Ravens owner Steve Bisciotti. "From that moment, I knew we were aligned in the objective to serve our community, and it was clear that this wouldn't be a short-term partnership. Their commitment is so much deeper than the name on a stadium. They have impacted countless individuals and organizations with exceptional compassion, and I couldn't be happier with our relationship. We take great pride in our collaboration with M&T Bank, because our efforts are built on mutual respect and a meaningful connection to the community."

Along with several joint initiatives, such as Honor Rows and Touchdown for Teachers (see next page), employees of M&T Bank and the Ravens have rolled up their sleeves together to volunteer in communities throughout Baltimore during the past two decades. Those projects have included neighborhood landscaping and beautification, stream clean-ups, food drives, school supply distribution, playground construction and more. In 2019, M&T and the Ravens partnered with the Boys & Girls Clubs of Baltimore to renovate the Webster Kendrick Club at Callaway Elementary School in Baltimore. In 2022, more than 100 volunteers from M&T and the Ravens picked thousands of pounds of potatoes at First Fruits Farm in Baltimore County for distribution to food banks and pantries throughout Central Maryland and parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia. More than 100 employees from both organizations also have participated in Earth Day clean-up activities over the past several years, including the most recent project at Hamilton Elementary/Middle School on April 22, 2025 (see next page).

"The partnership between M&T and the Ravens has worked so well for so long because the organizations share similar values of integrity, determination and teamwork and a common mission to make Baltimore better," said Augie Chiasera, M&T Bank's regional president for Greater Baltimore. "We take a lot of pride in seeing the M&T Bank name on our football team's stadium. It's a symbol of our commitment to serve the Baltimore community."

M&T BANK PARTNERSHIP

HONOR ROWS

Since 2003, M&T Bank and the Baltimore Ravens have honored over 20,000 young people from a range of organizations, recognizing their outstanding volunteer work. For each Ravens home game, 100 young people receive tickets, Honor Rows T-shirts, a pre-game on-field visit and official in-game recognition on the RavensVision HD video screens.

TOUCHDOWNS FOR TEACHERS

The Touchdown for Teachers program recognizes local teachers for outstanding service to their schools and communities. Three finalists are chosen annually based on their involvement in the school or community, degree of positive impact and demonstrated commitment to education. In 2025, the grand prize was awarded to Andrew Goldbeck (below), a Community School Facilitator from Kenwood High School.

Andrew Goldbeck, while new to his current role, has been instrumental in developing partnerships with local businesses, nonprofit organizations and community leaders, opening doors to new opportunities and resources for students and families. Whether it's organizing community food distributions, coordinating opportunities to recognize student success or launching community support programs, his initiatives have strengthened the bridge between Kenwood High School and the Essex community.

"Andrew is the first person to jump in and help everyone at Kenwood with whatever they may need. He is quick to find a solution to any problem and has worked tirelessly to create resources and offer support for all Kenwood community members," Kenwood High School principal Kate Smith stated.

Goldbeck received $5,000 in grant funds, payable to his school, a school visit by Baltimore Ravens ILB Roquan Smith, Ravens Cheerleaders and Poe, and a customized Ravens jersey. The other finalists each received a personalized Ravens jersey and $1,000 in grant funds, payable to their schools. All grant funds were jointly provided by M&T Bank and the Ravens.

2025 EARTH DAY CLEAN-UP

In celebration of Earth Day, the Baltimore Ravens teamed up with M&T Bank, Constellation Energy and the Parks & People Foundation for a community cleanup event at Hamilton Elementary/Middle School. The day featured a range of hands-on activities aimed at beautifying the school grounds and promoting environmental stewardship. Approximately 70 representatives from the Ravens, Constellation and M&T Bank engaged in planting flowers, mulching garden beds, refurbishing picnic tables, picking up litter and enhancing the school's green spaces through various gardening projects.

FINANCIAL FITNESS ACADEMY

M&T Bank and the Baltimore Ravens have teamed up to launch the "Financial Fitness Academy," powered by EVERFI from Blackbaud, which is an online, interactive financial education resource designed for students in grades 4-6 to promote financial literacy and teach financial education skills. The course introduces critical financial concepts and skills to students in fun, engaging and age-appropriate ways to empower them to make smart financial decisions.

M&T BANK STADIUM: THE GOLD STANDARD

LEED GOLD RECOGNITION

In 2013, the Ravens, in partnership with the Maryland Stadium Authority (MSA), earned a LEED-certified Gold designation for M&T Bank Stadium from the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC). The venue then received LEED Gold re-certification in 2019.

LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) strives to deliver energy- and water-efficient, healthy, environmentally-friendly, cost-savings buildings, homes and communities.

M&T Bank Stadium became the first existing outdoor professional sports facility in the United States – including all NFL and Major League Baseball stadiums – to receive USGBC's Gold rating. A LEED certification is recognized across the globe as the premier mark of achievement in green building.

SAFETY & SECURITY RECOGNITIONS

In June of 2022, M&T Bank Stadium received the National Center for Spectator Sports Safety and Security (NCS4) Facility of Merit Award. The Facility of Merit Award recognizes a facility that has performed above and beyond normal operations to demonstrate an innovative approach to enhancing safety and security.

M&T Bank Stadium was recognized for its leadership in addressing safety and security issues as part of the 2022 National Sports Safety and Security Conference & Exhibition from June 28-30 in Orlando, FL.

In April 2020, the Ravens announced that M&T Bank Stadium had been recognized by the United States Department of Homeland Security (DHS) with a SAFETY Act Designation, acknowledging excellence in gameday security practices.

The Ravens received the SAFETY Act Designation for the M&T Bank Stadium Security Program, a comprehensive program that includes the screening of visitors and packages, emergency plans, threat assessments, physical and electronic security equipment, and trained personnel. The security program applies to the entire stadium property, including the seating bowl and suites, gates, loading dock, inner and secondary perimeters, field, locker rooms, utility and mechanical systems, and command center.

M&T BANK STADIUM PLAYING SURFACE

In May of 2016, the Ravens switched from artificial turf to natural grass at M&T Bank Stadium. As former team president Dick Cass stated, "The players really wanted to play on grass, and that was a key consideration." Baltimore had natural grass in the stadium when it first opened in 1998, but the Ravens changed to an artificial turf from Sportexe Momentum Turf for the 2003 season, and then replaced that with a newer Shaw Momentum 51 turf prior to the start of 2010. The Ravens now play on this new strain of grass, developed on a sod farm in North Carolina, that is a mixture of Bermuda and some rye. Officials believe it is more robust than what was previously played on in the stadium. The Ravens also use special artificial lights/lamps to keep grass growing where the field is shaded, particularly during the winter months.
